The weatherman—our friend again—has suddenly realized that the six weeks since the ground hog saw his shadow are over. He has predicted that Monday's temperatures will be higher than Lincoln has seen for nearly two weeks.

Warm

Spring is scheduled (!) to appear this week, so even a little hint of warm weather will be indicative of better prospects.

Saturday was the dividing line between winter and spring—let's hope. By late morning the clouds—a steady companion for sometime—began breaking up.

By mid-afternoon the sun was blazing almost in full glory.

The world is rosy again!

Names In The News

ADMIRAL WILLIAM SMITH, former chairman of the U.S. maritime commission, told congressional investigators that his office evidently did not know all the facts when it approved the sale of certain war surplus ships. Former Congressman Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts realized a $450,000 return on a $1,000 investment. Admiral Smith said that any indication that the group associated with Casey meant to use the ships for speculative purposes would have disqualified the bid. The maritime commission, according to the testimony, got no such information.

GEN. DWIGHT EISENHOWER, commander of NATO forces in Europe, made a hasty visit to Greece and Turkey, the two new members of the Atlantic treaty group. In Ankara, after making a short glad-to-see you statement in Turkish, the general conferred with Turkish army brass. He appeared pleased at the prospects of the 16 divisions of the Turkish army. In Athens the communists had leaflets out calling the general "butcher" but the government seemed to have the situation in hand.

ANTOINE PINAY formed a new French cabinet following the fall of Edgar Faure's government. The new premier is a conservative and succeeded in gaining the confidence of the French assembly through a split in General de Gaulle's rightist party.

All the complications of French politics came into play when the small-town businessman, who never considered himself a likely choice as premier, began making the rounds of the many French parties to find ministers for his coalition cabinet. This cabinet includes neither socialists nor communists, nor members of deGaulle's RFP. The 27 RFP members who defied de Gaulle by supporting Piney's ministry illustrated a trend of desperation in France, which some reporters feel heralds a major crisis in French political thought.

INFORMATION, a Danish newspaper, commented on the French political hodge-podge in a headline reading, "The general feeling prevailing in Tunis is that France is not yet ripe for self-government."

FULGENCIO BATISTA, former Cuban army sergeant and strong-man behind the Cuban governments from 1933-44, took over again in an almost bloodless revolt. In 1944 Batista made the "mistake" of permitting such fair and free elections that the opposition candidate won. Bastista said at that time he would "bow to the will of the people." Returning from exile to run in the forthcoming presidential election, Batista evidently became overanxious.

Anderson, Crosby To Explain Platforms Monday

Republican gubernatorial candidates, Victor Anderson and Robert Crosby, will discuss their four-point platforms at 2 p.m. Monday in the Union ballroom.

Anderson will argue that:

1. There should be no increase in taxes.

2. Job opportunities should be created within the state so that Nebraska will not continue to suffer a loss in population.

3. Nebraska schools should be kept at the highest possible level and the standards of the schools in the surrounding states should be maintained.

4. The highway commission should contain representatives from all sections of the state. The governor would be the chairman, and there would be one representative from each congressional district.

Crosby will explain his platform of:

1. A bill such as the Fair Employment Practices Act as a step toward breaking down racial prejudice.

2. Administrative reorganization, as a means of economizing. There has been no reorganization since 1919.

3. Two-year plan for road reconstruction. Submit the plan to the people of the state for their approval and suggestions.

4. Emphasis on the cabinet system with weekly meetings of the governor and departmental heads.

Doris Carlson, YWCA president will moderate the meeting sponsored by the Battle for Ballots commission of the YWCA.

Each candidate will give a 10-minute speech and tthe remainder of the time will be spent in a question and answer period.

Students interested in the club may also contact Larry Nordin, 2-7926.
