This is probably one of the most difficult years the University has faced, for important administrators of the University must be found to replace the four deans who will be leaving.

So answered Carl W. Borgmann, dean of faculties, when asked the effect the three retiring and one resigning dean would have on the University.

Persons retiring from their administrative responsibilities are: Dr. T. J. Thompson, dean of student affairs since 1927; Dr. C. H. Oldfather, dean of the college of Arts and Sciences since 1932; Dr. Arthur Westbrook, director of the school of Fine Arts since 1939.

The three faculty members will reach the retirement age of 65 during the present school year and will leave their present posts June 30 as soon as suitable appointments can be made.

The three retiring deans will probably stay on the campus another three years as teachers in their various fields, for this is encouraged under the present rules.

Another vacancy to fill will be that of Dr. Harold C. Lueth, dean of the college of Medicine since 1946. He has submitted a resignation to be effective June 30. Dr. Lueth has indicated that he will return to private practice and teach part time at the University of Illinois college of Medicine.

As yet, successors have not been named but faculty committees have been established for the faculties and as advisers tion of dean of Arts and Sciences. From this group, the committee has submitted to the Chancellor recommendations on six of the group for further consideration.

The committee appointed by the Chancellor from nominations by the senate committee or committees to examine the area concerning the office of student affairs is not looking for a successor. It is examining the area concerning all activities of students which relate to the University outside the class room. These activities include such areas as Student Health, Junior Division and registration. When this study is completed, the committee will report the recommended changes, if any, to the Chancellor.

Heading this committee is Earl S. Fullbrook, dean of the college of Business Administration. Working on the study with him are: Dr. S. I. Fuenning, Student Health director; George W. Rosenlof, dean of admissions and inter-institutional relationships; James S. Blackman, assistant professor of Engineering Mechanics.

Harold E. Wise, professor of social education; Anglin Anderson, assistant professor of home economics; David Dow, professor of law; Richard M. Dourne, associate professor of economics and labor; Donald M. Pace, professor of physiology; and G. W. Gray, associate professor of history.

The Chancellor appointed the committee from the faculty of the University college of medicine to study the vacancy to be left by Dr. Lueth.

Chairman of the group advising the Chancellor on the college of Medicine vacancy is Dr. John S. Latta, professor of anatomy. Assisting him are: Dr. A. L. Bennett, professor of physiology; Dr. H. H. Davis, professor of surgery; L. W. Lee, associate professor of urology; L. S. McGowan, professor of obstetrics and gynecology; and Dr. C. L. Wittson, professor of neurology and psychiatry.

Donald W. Dyringer, professor of psychology; Leroy T. Laase, professor of speech and dramatic art; Clarence E. McNeill, professor of economics; Doretta M. Schlaphoff, professor of home economics; and O. H. Werner, professor of history and principles of education.

This committee has already studied the records of more than 100 persons whose names were submitted for the position of dean of Arts and Sciences. From this group, the committee has submitted to the Chancellor recommendations on six of the group for further consideration.

Applications Due April 10 For '52 Advanced ROTC

Applications for the advanced course in army ROTC beginning in September, 1952, should be submitted by April 10, Col. James H. Workman, professor of military science and tactics, announced Saturday.

Application forms are available in Room 110, Military and Naval Science building.

According to Colonel Workman, applicants for the advanced course must not have reached the age of 27, must be regularly enrolled students in the University and must have at least two academic years remaining at this school prior to graduation, or if graduate students they must have a like period remaining to complete the advanced degree. They must also have completed the basic course of the ROTC or received credit in lieu thereof, he said.

Colonel Workman stressed veterans and those not presently enrolled in the basic ROTC may be eligible for the advanced course if they have 12 months prior service or prior ROTC training.

Upon acceptance and enrollment in the advanced course, deferment will be granted as long as the student remains in good standing.

Cadets enrolled in the advanced course are paid a subsistence allowance at the current rate of 90 cents per day. Veterans enrolled in the advanced course receive this allowance in addition to the benefits offered by the GI Bill of Rights, provided the ceiling prescribed by law on total income is not exceeded. An officer type uniform is furnished by the government and is retained by the students who successfully complete the course.

While attending summer camp, members of the advanced course are paid at the rate of $75 per month, and are furnished subsistence, housing, uniforms and medical attention at government expense. Transportation to and from camp is furnished or reimbursed at the rate of 5 cents per mile.

Students may apply for enrollment in any of the courses offered in the advanced course ROTC which includes the artillery, engineers, infantry, military police and ordnance. However, they must be enrolled in an appropriate academic field if admission to the engineers is desired.

Graduates of the advanced course ROTC are, upon successful completion of the course requirements and the necessary attendance at camp, recommended for commission as second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve corps, in their respective branches. Distinguished graduates may qualify for Regular Army commissions.

Further information may be obtained in Room 110, Military and Naval Science building.

J. Paul Sheedy* Switched to Wildroot Cream-Oil Because He Flunked The Finger-Nail Test

PAUL was having a sand-wich at the Dromedary-Bar when his roommate said: "Sheedy, every co-ed sphinx your hair's ugly! Your camel's hair coat won't pass the Finger-Nail Test! Therefore, if you fig-get to get any dates, I humbly beseech you to try Wildroot Cream-Oil! Contains soothing Lanolin. Non-alcoholic. Relieves annoying dryness. Removes loose, ugly dandruff. Grooms hair neatly and naturally all day long. It's your hair's best friend!" Sheedy got Wildroot Cream-Oil and now his hair-a looks terrific! Better desert water, pyramid your savings up to 29¢ and dry-ve to any drug or toilet goods counter for a bottle or tube of Wildroot Cream-Oil, America's biggest-selling hair tonic! Ask for it on your hair at the barber shop, too. You'll really be done yourself a favor!

Kefauver, Kerr Plan March Appearances At NU Convocations

Two presidential candidates for the Democratic nomination—Sen. Estes Kefauver and Sen. Robert Kerr—have scheduled appearances on the University campus this month.

Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, chairman of the Senate crime investigation committee, will speak Monday, March 31, at 8 p.m. in the Union ballroom on the eve of the Nebraska primary.

Senator Kerr of Oklahoma will speak Tuesday, March 25, at 8 p.m. in the ballroom.

Both are sponsored by the University convocations committee. Dr. Carl Schneider, chairman, has announced that the committee is willing to sponsor any presidential candidate if that candidate or his representatives request an engagement on the Nebraska campus. The Nebraska-for-Kefauver committee and the Kerr-for-President committee in Nebraska requested appearances for these two speakers.

Both men's names have been entered in the Nebraska primary, April 1, on the Democratic ticket.

Senator Kefauver, fresh from victory in the New Hampshire primary, has been gaining popularity through his personal campaign tours. The "Crime buster" rolled up 54 per cent to President Truman's 44 per cent in that state.

Senator Kerr, presently touring Nebraska, is voicing vigorous support of the Democratic farm, for-

Eighteen University Geology Students Plan Field Trip Through Wyoming, Utah

Eighteen advanced geology students will take a field trip covering approximately 3,000 miles through central Wyoming and central Utah, April 11 to 20.

The trip was announced by Dr. William N. Gilliland, chairman of the geology department, who will be in charge of the group.

Students will be introduced to the major types of Rocky Mountain geology, typical oil field structures and mountain structure.

Dr. Gilliland stressed the importance of seeing geology in the field to understand it. He said a thorough job cannot be done entirely in the classroom.

Dr. Gilliland said. In preparation for the trip, the students have spent the first part of the semester studying particular phases of geology in these parts of the country. When the trip is completed, they will write geological reports on their findings and observations.

UN Needs More Power To Enforce Decisions On Dissenting Countries, Schneider Says

The United Nations can bring peace to the world if they have the power of enforcing their decisions upon the disputing members.

Carl J. Schneider, assistant professor of political science, pointed out this power failing at the second pre-conference Nebraska University Council for World Affairs meeting Thursday night.

The NUCWA, composed entirely of University students, is a model organization of the United Nations. The students represent the different UN countries and they attempt to vote as the real country votes.

These decisions, Schneider said, are tied up directly with voting and veto power of member nations. At the present time only the nations in the security council have the vetoing power. This was designed, Schneider said, so that small nations without military power would not place the UN in a position that it would have to carry on without benefit of the major power's help.

Since the veto has made the Security Council increasingly unworkable, the trend has been to shift the power of the Council to the General Assembly, Schneider added.

The model conference of NUCWA will be a charter amendment conference. The represented delegates will try to formulate solutions for the voting and vetoing question. But at the same time the solution must be in harmony with the nations that they are representing.

The third pre-conference meeting will be held Thursday. The pre-conference meetings are held in order to familiarize the participating students with UN procedure and the positions of the various countries. Opening the conference officially April 3, the Law College will present a model session of the International Court of Justice. The court will deal with legal aspects of international investments.

The first full session will be held the following day, with Chancellor Gustavson keynoting the meeting.

Aggies' Estes Carnival Scheduled For March 21

"Wheels of Fortune, Political Pools, and Sports Roundups" will be included in the concession booths at the annual Estes Carnival at the College Activities building, March 21. The carnival will be held from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Presidents for the Ag Y's, Dick Monson and Marilyn Cook announced that seven organizations are entered in the event. Love Hall will present "Leap Year in Dogpatch" while Alpha Gamma Rho will feature "Wheels of Fortune" in their booth. "Ring Your Candidate" will be theme of the Farm House booth and the Loomis Hall concession theme will be the "Estogram Services." "Ensteins Kitchen" will be presented by the Home Economics club and a "Political Poll" will be the attraction at the Agmen's Club concession. Amikita's booth will be a "Sports Roundup."

Proceeds from the Estes Carnival will help to finance delegates for the Estes conference which is held in Estes Park, in Colorado each summer, said Monson. Tickets for the concessions, food stand and the move will be sold by the YWCA and YMCA for one cent each.

Clarice Failla and Rolan Anderson are co-chairmen of the show. The traveling trophy, now held by Love Hall, will be awarded to the winner of the concession booth, according to the co-chairmen. Any organization which wins three years in a row will be awarded the trophy as a permanent possession.

The YW chairman, Miss Failla, announced that they would operate a food stand at the carnival.

A free dance and a movie will be the YM contribution to the evening's program according to Anderson, YM chairman.

Union Cues Atomic Energy Exhibit Explains Peace, War Use

Notice the exhibit in the Union lounge?
Atomic energy is explained pictorially to viewers to explain the peacetime research, war-time use and future hopes and problems.

Editors of Life magazine and the United States Atomic Energy commission prepared the exhibit to help educate the public on the topic.

Bev Mann's house committee brought it to the University. The exhibit will close Friday.

Quotes from the secretary of state's report on the international control of atomic energy forms part of the text with the panels. Most of the photographs are the work of Life photographer, F. Gore.

Hiroshima, Murphry, Bikini and Oak Ridge are pictured in the panels. Uranium mining, radiation sickness and uses of radioactive isotopes in therapy, industry and commerce are pictured, too.

First Piano Quartet
First Piano Quartet of radio and international fame will play at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Coliseum. Student tickets are 75 cents. Students in Sinfonia, Sigma Alpha Iota, Delta Omicron and Mu Phi Epsilon are vying for places among the three top ticket salesmen. The top salesmen will receive a photograph album of the First Piano Quartet.

Joy Wachal is ticket sales chairman. Committee members are Bob LaShelle, Jack Greer, Bill Waldo and Barb Reincke.

Quartet members are Glauco Attili, Frank Mittler, Adam

Garner and Edward Edson. They will present an interpretation of the classics.
Margaret McCoy is chairman of the fine arts committee which is sponsoring the program with the activities committee.

'Come To The Stable'
"Come to the Stable" will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom Sunday.

Loretta Young and Celeste Holm star in the movie as two French nuns who battle worldly odds to establish a hospital.

The nuns are characterized by deep faith, good business sense and knowledge of people.
The film is part of the Search Week program, though sponsored by the Union.

Churchill's Book Nook
Winston Churchill's fifth volume of World War II history is now in the Union book nook.

The name of the volume is "Closing the Ring." The book covers the beginning of summer in 1943 to the evening of June 5, 1944.

French liberation had begun and the Hitler regime was doomed. The character of Churchill is revealed through this period more than in previous volumes.

"Winds of Morning" by H. L. Davis is another book nook member.

The novel describes life in the northwest during the 1920's. Amos Clarke, young sheriff's assistant, narrates the story which begins with an accidental killing.

Complications send Amos to help a horse herder, Hendrick, move his stock.
During the journey, Hendrick reveals the sentiments of early settlers like himself. The northern countryside, wildlife and horses spark the novel's setting.
