Kefauver Speech Draws 1500

The United States must rely on its moral strength rather than its military strength to bring peace to the world, declared Sen. Estes Kefauver, aspirant for democratic presidential nomination, before approximately 1500 students in the Union ballroom Monday night.

that he is definitely in favor of civil rights legislation. He pointed out that he has worked for repeal of the poll tax by federal legislation, home rule for the District of Columbia, and federal aid for education. He favored voluntary fair employment practices but added that involuntary measures would be necessary in case employers refused to cooperate.

of the loopholes in the task structure. He declared himself for the UMT bill which was defeated and said that such measures were needed as long as the nation was in peril.

Students Vote In Mock Primary

Estes Kefauver and Dwight Eisenhower ran completely ahead of the pack in the all-University mock YW-YMCA primary Monday. Senator Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat, unofficially had 318 votes for the presidential nomination. General Eisenhower headed the Republican ticket unofficially with 429.

The nearest competitors in each race were far behind. Sen. Robert S. Kerr followed Kefauver with 28 while Eisenhower was followed by Sen. Robert A. Taft with 151 and Harold E. Stassen with 108. All returns are unofficial; the official results will be printed in a later issue of The Daily Nebraskan.

Pointing to the spirit of the people as the factor that makes the U. S. great, he said that we must let the people of the world know that we stand for liberty and freedom of assembly, worship, and speech. If we are to win the peace we must convince the world that where Communism offers bread, we offer, not only bread, but freedom and opportunity.

Nebraska Primary Significant-Kefauver

P.M. Headlines

By CHARLES GOMON

NEBRASKA PRIMARY shares with Wisconsin the distinction of being one of only two preferential races held on April 1. It promises to be as wide open as any primary yet conducted.

Nebraska Primary Wide Open

On the Democratic slate Sens. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Robert Kerr of Oklahoma wound up vigorous campaigns as their race took on new significance. The decision by President Truman not to run for renomination left Sen. Kefauver the leading contender for the Democratic nomination, but a win for Sen. Kerr in Nebraska would give the Oklahoma considerable stature in his effort to block his colleague from the senate.

A Will Rogers Comment On Politics

WILL ROGERS, the great American humorist, had a comment for the madness that envelops the citizens of this country about convention time every four years. "If sanity tests were to be given at political conventions, 90 per cent of the people would have to be removed to an asylum."
