

Cagers Lose, 60-66; Gridmen Win

Alumni Win Tilt Easily

Led by towering Bus Whitehead, the star-studded Cornhusker alumni team defeated a stubborn Nebraska varsity basketball team Saturday afternoon.

Fred Seger, sophomore guard, for the varsity outfit, led all scoring in the game with a 19-point total. Seger combined both variety and accuracy with his shots.

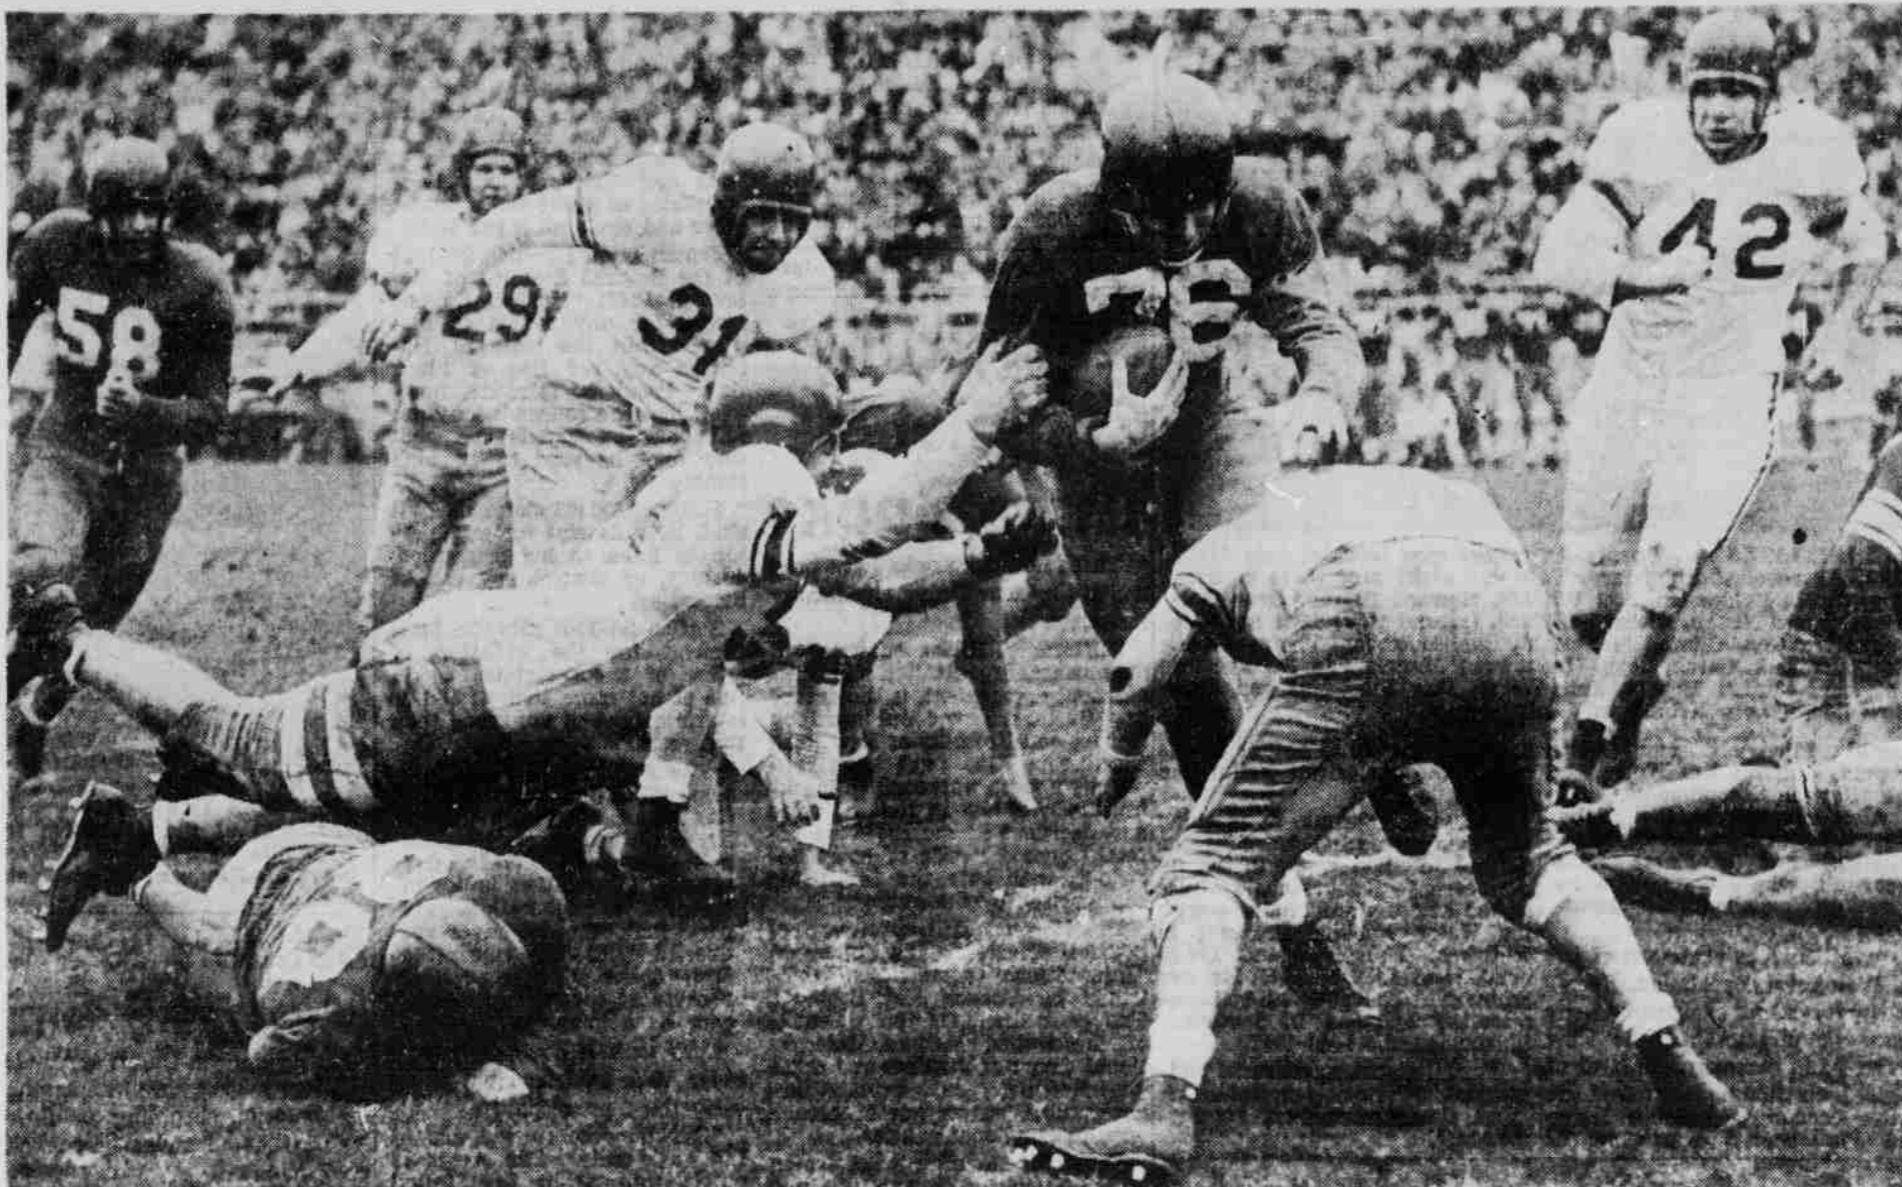

Jim Buchanan, all-time Husker scoring leader, was a dependable point-getter for the alumni team, hitting five field goals and one free throw for 11 points in his limited playing time.

The alumni gained possession of the lead midway in the initial canto and held it throughout the remainder of the contest.

Bob Pierce, who plays on the Phillips 66 Oilers along with Whitehead, was a dependable board man for the grad unit and poured in eight of his own points.

Steady, cool-playing Joe Good added seven fielders and three for four gift tosses to the varsity total for 17 points.

New rules governing free throws were used, allowing a missed free throw to be shot over in the first 37 minutes of play, and making every foul a two-shot foul after that time.

Passes Provide Scoring

The Nebraska varsity squad managed to hold on to a 7-6 lead to win from the University of Nebraska alumni Saturday.

The alumni scored in the opening minutes of the first quarter on a pass from Fran Nagle to end Frank Simon, who got past the varsity secondary. Ed Weir, NU track coach and former All-American griddler for Nebraska, missed the conversion, which meant lose or tie in the final scoring.

John Bordogna, who turned in some outstanding work at quarterback for the Husker squad—running, passing, kicking and tackling—threw the varsity touchdown pass to end Dennis Emanuel.

Coach Tom Novak's big line-men held the Husker ground-gainers down to a minimum. The alumni out-first-downed the varsity outfit 18-12, but fumbled seven times, losing the ball twice.

Line stalwarts in the grad line were Carl Samuelson, Vic Schleigh, Ted Doyle and Dick Goegelein. Novak played his usually tough role as linebacker, while Ron Clark, Bill Mueller and Jerry Ferguson kept up a steady ground attack.

Diamondmen Defeat Drake; Forced To Come From Behind

Nebraska's baseball team overcame a four-point scoring burst put on by Drake in the first half of the first inning of their game Saturday morning to swamp Drake, 13-4 in an All Sports Day attraction.

The Huskers cashed in on two big innings to compile the major portion of their 13 runs. They ran in six runs in the sixth frame, and another five in inning number seven—each off different Drake hurlers.

The Bulldogs started Don Bertell on the mound, and the crafty hurler held the Nebraskans scoreless for the first four innings. He weakened in the fifth, however, and was relieved after walking in two runs.

Drake's early scoring drive, in which the Bulldogs compiled all of their runs in the opening canto, came by virtue of three hits, including a two-run double, and three walks off sophomore Husker starter Pat Mallette.

Nebraska's scoring in the fifth inning came on singles by Bob Decker and Bob Diers and successive walks given up to Jerry Dunn.

Bill Giles and Ray Mladovich. They batted clear around the batting order in both the sixth and seventh innings.

The big seventh inning blow was a two-run single by Murray Backhaus, and singles by Milt Frei and Fred Seger were also instrumental in that drive.

The Bulldogs got only one hit after their first inning burst. Ray Novak allowed a single in the sixth for that lone bingle in the last eight frames.

The Huskers won the first game of their two-game series with the Drake Bulldogs, 10-0. This shut-out victory was dealt Friday afternoon.
