Home Ec Honorary Initiates 8 Pledges

Omicron Nu initiated eight new members last week at its annual banquet in the Foods and Nutrition building.

New members are: Marcella Wheeler, graduate student; Clarice Fiala, Mary Ann Grundman and Bessie Hob, seniors; Marjorie Good, Ramona Lann, Shirley Lumbard and Donna Tinkham, juniors.

The banquet was climaxed by an impromptu skit by the initiates.

Fight ensues between the two contenders for the hand of Miss Gray.
Another complication is added when Danny tries to persuade Molly that New York is the only place to live. She insists, however, that Custerville, Ariz., is where she wants to live.
Rehearsals for production began in early March. The cast practiced nightly from 7 p.m. to 10 or 10:30.

'Y's' To Give All-Campus Lenten Vesper Service

Students of different religious backgrounds and traditions will unite for worship at the all-campus Lenten Vesper service Wednesday night.

The candlelight service, sponsored by the YMCA and YWCA, will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Emmanuel campus chapel, 15th and U streets.

This is the one opportunity during the whole year that students can unite and worship together,

Rex Knowles, Presbyterian-Congregational student pastor, said, "The fact that it is in Holy week makes it doubly important that all attend," he said.

According to Ruth Shinn, YWCA executive director, the vesper service is being held at this time "because Lent is a time when we should all realize our shortcomings. We know that we do have shortcomings. Otherwise, our churches would not be divided."

Lent is a time when we should seek to understand and appreciate the differences in our denominations, she said.
The order for the vesper service will be:
Call to worship—C. B. Howells, Baptist student pastor.

Hymn—"Christ the Lord is Risen Today."
Prayer—Richard Nutt, Methodist student pastor.
Reading—"The Rock That Moved," read by Pat Loder.

Hym—"Break Thou the Bread of Life."
Meditation—John Methusaleh, graduate student and Baptist minister from India.

Communion—Introduced and administered by Rev. Knowles and Sam Gibson, YM executive director. (Those who do not wish to take communion may use this period as a time of private meditation.)

Benediction—Rev. Knowles.
The reading, to be given by Miss Loder in place of a sermon, is taken from one of the sermons of Peter Marshall, chaplain of the United States Senate in 1947-48. This particular theme "The Rock That Moved," is based on Peter's three denials of Jesus.
Vesper committee members are Yolanda Davis, Sherry Clover, Evelyn Larson, Joan Reifschneider, Phyllis Knerl, Carol Elze, YWCA members; Mrs. Rex Knowles; Miss Shinn; Rev. Knowles; Gibson; and Maxine Trauernicht, instructor in speech and dramatic art. Clarice Millen and Sharon Cook are committee co-chairmen.

All University students are invited to participate in the study. Married, pinned, engaged or steady couples and single students may come.

The first session, entitled "Who Are You Anyway?" will be taken up with a short lecture, personality tests and a social hour at 8:30 p.m. for couples.

The following Friday the topic, "So You Have a Problem" will be covered with a lecture after which the listeners will divide into discussion groups led by University marriage counselors. A movie, "It Takes All Kinds" will also be shown.

U.S. May Seize Steel Industry

WASHINGTON—The government may seize the steel industry if 650,000 steel workers make good their threat to strike at midnight Tuesday.

The president asked Commerce Secretary Sawyer to return immediately from a mid-west tour. The commerce department would apparently be the agency which would operate the mills if the seizure order were to go out.

Attorneys for the justice department and other government offices said privately that they doubted the president could seize the steel industry legally. Certain conditions must be fulfilled before the law, which gives the president seizure powers, could be used. The legal question is whether these conditions exist in the steel controversy.

Other ways of dealing with the strike might be a resort to the injunction procedure of the Taft-Hartley law. Under these provisions an 80-day restraining order might be issued in a federal court.

Part of the steel industry was already shut down as negotiators pored over the conference tables in an eleventh hour effort to halt the strike.

Did The Reds Take The Bait?

SEOUL, Korea—An American minesweeper calmly steamed around inside Chongjin harbor while communist shore batteries churned the sea around her with artillery fire.

The minesweeper Endicott was "straddled many times" by the more than 75 rounds which the Reds fired from their 120-millimeter guns. The navy did not report whether the ship was hit.

Planes from the carrier Philippine Sea and shells from covering U. S. warships silenced the shore batteries. While the brief dispatch does not say so, it might be inferred that the little minesweeper was sent in as a decoy. If so, the Reds must have taken the bait.

MOOT COURT COMPETITION

Christensen, Strom Win Case

Asa A. Christensen and Russell R. Strom Monday night won the 1952 moot court competition in the chambers of the state supreme court at the capitol.

The triumph climaxed three years of moot court competition. Losers of the round were John M. Gradwohl and Edward F. Carter, Jr.

The winners of the Allen Memorial Moot Court competition took the side of appellants in the appeal involving a complicated mortgage and judgment case.

The case was decided on presentation of arguments rather than facts. In announcing the decision, "Chief Justice" Paul E. Boslaugh said the case was extremely close but that the appellants had a better argument.

Judges of the "Supreme Court of the State of Allen" were Nebraska State Supreme Court Justices Adolph E. Wenke, Boslaugh and John M. Yeager.

The competition, the seventh annual, involved a squabble between two parties for a settlement on the sale of a debt-ridden farm. One of the parties held a judgment and an unwritten mortgage, the other held a recorded mortgage and also a federal judgment.

Strom and Christensen, the appellants, argued that the mortgage given as security for a negotiable promissory note is governed by the law of negotiable instruments, while Appellees Carter and Gradwohl presented the claim of the recorded mortgage and the first judgment.

The two teams were the winners in elimination competition beginning the freshman year in law college. The moot court competition is continuous for three years for each class, narrowing the field of finalists to two of the spring of the third year.

The winning team will receive gold medals, and their names will be recorded on a bronze tablet in the College of Law.

Silver medals go to the losing team.

The facts of the case were drawn up and composed by members of the law faculty. The case this year was planned by Henry Grether, Jr., and David Dow, professors of law, and Edward Morgan, research assistant of law.

The competition was established as a memorial to Thomas S. Allen, member of the first graduating class at the law college.

Last year's moot court winners were Lewis E. Pierce and Leonard Hammes.
