ANNIVERSARY Heckscher To Speak On da Vinci

Dr. W. S. Heckscher, from the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton university, will speak at an open seminar in Love library at 3 p.m. Friday.

This seminar will be part of the series connected with the 500th anniversary of the birth of Leonard da Vinci.

Dr. Heckscher also spoke Thursday evening on "Anatomical Representation Before and After Leonardo."

Professor Hal Wilmet of the University Art department gave the second lecture commemorating da Vinci Wednesday evening.

"The Man Behind the Myth" was the topic for the first speech of this series.

Yearbook Staff Interviews Set Today, 4 P.M.

Interviews for Cornhusker applicants will begin at 4 p.m. Friday in Union, Room 315.

Committee on student publications will talk to students who have applied for business staff positions first and move into the list of editorial applications about 4:45 p.m.

In the business department a manager and assistant manager will be appointed.

The new editorial staff has been enlarged over those of previous years.

Madrigal To Present Hindemith Chansons

The first performance of its type in this area will be given by the University Madrigal Singers when it presents a group of "Six Chansons" by Hindemith at its annual spring concert Friday.

The Hindemith songs are modern and require superior technical skill on the part of performers.

Other selections on the program range from the 15th century to some modern radio arrangements.

The modern radio arrangements they are: "My Bonnie Lass She Smiled," Morley; "O Softly Singing Lute," Pilkington; "Come Away, Death," Williams; "In These Delightful, Pleasant Groves," Purcell; "Charm Me Asleep," Leslie; "The Blue Bird," Stanford; "O What a Lovely Magic Hath Been Here," Bantock; "I Love My Love," Holst; and the "Six Chansons," by Hindemith.

Since they were organized four years ago by their director, David Foltz, the organization has twice been selected by the Columbia

Class Standing

Noble announced that the following basis would be used to determine the class standing of candidates and voting eligibility:

0 to 26 hours before Feb. 1, 1952—freshman.

27 to 25 hours before Feb. 1, 1952—sophomore.

53 to 88 hours before Feb. 1, 1952, junior.

89 or more hours before Feb. 1, 1952—seniors.

Colleges with five year curriculum may state that students are juniors when they have two years left before graduating.

Publicity The elections committee has announced the following rules for publicity:

1. Candidates may insert paid advertising in The Daily Nebraskan provided they are labeled "paid political announcement."

2. Postcards and placards to be placed in University buildings

Constitution Amendment All students will vote on the following proposal at campus elections May 5:

"To amend Article 4, Section 1a of the Student Council Constitution concerning college representation to read: 'Pharmacy—one representative.'"

According to the Council total enrollment of the University Constitution, 30 per cent of the city must vote on the amendment before the voting is valid.

Open Forum The open forum giving students an opportunity to ask candidates for Student Council and class offices questions pertinent to the election will be held Thursday instead of Wednesday as previously announced.

Student Defies 'Call Of Wild,' Raises 2 Quarter-Inch Fish

Some virile, adventurous men love the excitement of an African lion hunt.

Other males thrive on troding the turbulent waters of the North Atlantic in search of giant, ferocious whale. Wild women captivate untold numbers of the stronger sex.

But Joe Kahn, a junior in Ag college, has his own exceedingly singular exotic pastime. Joe keeps two tropical fish.

These fish, according to a recent extensive, exhaustive survey of University students, are the only ones of their type on campus.

The fish, named Joe and Carol, oddly enough, both turned out to be males. Joe told reporters recently he chages the fish's water once every two days.

Officials disclosed that the tropical fish each measure a quarter of an inch in length.

Joe (the student, that is) stated the fish are caged in a six-inch drinking glass.

College Days Applications Students applying for College Days governing board have until Thursday to turn in their applications.

Applications for the governing board must be left in the College Days box in the basement of the Union next to The Daily Nebraskan office.

There will be a College Days meeting in the Union Thursday at 3 p.m.
