

EDITORIAL PAGE

How About It?

Everyone is talking about improving the University these days. With the spring elections just around the corner, campus improvement works its way into nearly every conversation.

Time For Action that insists that students dislike instructors merely because they are instructors. The teacher should not presuppose that there will be an anti attitude towards him.

But, just as it has faith in the students, The Nebraskan has faith in the faculty. It is the firm belief of the Nebraskan that the majority of instructors, if they found that their classes did not approve of their instructional methods, would do everything in their power to improve the situation.

The Nebraskan's faith in the faculty goes farther too. We believe that the real reason that more teacher rating blanks have not been used is due to a misunderstanding of the value of rating.

Hollywood Hazing Now that the impressions from Hollywood's "Take Care of My Little Girl" are getting dimmer, Hollywood has come forth with another attack.

They are kept in the office of Henry M. Cox, Temporary A, Room 1. They are available for the asking.

How can teacher rating help improve the campus? The system as instituted at the University, is designed to rate the instructor on his faults and virtues only as they are connected with teaching.

Before the system was inaugurated on this campus, there were complaints from many circles that students could not be trusted with the job of "grading" their instructors.

There are only a few real reasons why instructors refuse to use the teacher rating blanks. Perhaps it could be because of lack of faith in the student.

This editor is anxious to see whether national fraternity headquarters sends out letters "requesting" members not to attend. Many sororities received similar instructions last year.

Crazy College Youth

The Daily Nebraskan office receives countless telephone calls during the course of each business day. Queries over the phone range from "Will there be a paper tomorrow?" to "What's going on in parlors X, Y and Z tonight?"

With all the fine weather we have been having the last few days, it would be adding insult to injury to get hot under the collar today.

One recent question concerned the platforms of the candidates for senior and junior class officers. The conversation went something like this: "What are the platforms of the candidates?"

Could it be that our University is so devoid of situations needing improvements—so void of constructive platforms to be carried out—that no one—even the illustrious running for student government offices—need suggest progress?

Margin Notes

"Students should see their advisers . . ." and so it goes ad infinitum down through the years before registration. Latest procedure is to make out desired schedule, rush into adviser's office, say, "sign, please," and whom—you're ready for another semester of higher education.

Practice Or Pranks A notice in Monday's Daily Nebraskan carried the traditional news that members of Innocents Society were to meet at a specified hour for tackling practice.

With the opening of applications for summer activities coordinator, it appears that a full-time, year-around activities coordinator might have a place on our campus.

Attempts have been made by various people to find out just where this "usual place" is and to see the 13 most outstanding young men on campus going through their tackling poses.

According to the Lincoln General hospital, its appeal for O-Rh negative blood type in Tuesday's Daily Nebraskan was successfully met.

Who can resist a smart new car . . . the fun of going in style to party or dance, or the many other student activities . . . or a spin on moonlit nights!

Things don't turn up in this world until somebody turns them up.—Garfield.

Ivy Day Racing Form

(Editor's Note: Following is the traditional Ivy Day "racing form." It is found each year in The Nebraskan as a prediction about which Junior students will be named or tackled for Mortar Board or Innocents on Ivy Day.

Table with columns: Horse, Stable, Trainer, Odds, Comment. Includes entries for Black Masque Handicap and Thirteenth Annual Handicap.

Table with columns: Horse, Stable, Trainer, Odds, Comment. Includes entries for Barbed Wire and Stolen Goods.

Barbed Wire

Barb Wylie

Stolen Goods

Marilyn Mangold

Signatures Help To Control Bridgeport Elections

At last report he has been dating a waitress in Raleigh. Election News A new election system with the aim of adding efficiency and control to all university elections was recently inaugurated at the University of Bridgeport.

Money Problems An economic problem submitted by a Northwestern State college student went like this: If you owe $50, you're a piker; if you owe $50,000, you're a business man; if you owe $50 million, you're a tycoon, and if you owe $50 billion, you're the government.

Mangold

With all the fine weather we have been having the last few days, it would be adding insult to injury to get hot under the collar today. The sun shows it and the cotton dresses prove that warm, picnic weather might stay with us for a few more days.

Wylie There is dire need for an apology—I misinformed the reading public. A friend has written that Adlai Stevenson's middle name does not start with an "S".

Idle Chatter By their own admission, University of North Carolina coeds spend most of their leisure time talking about boys, marriage, boys, diamond rings and boys.

Thanks to the Senior Action committee for their list of the faction candidates. They could have more appropriately labeled it "These are the men NOT to vote for."

HERTZ advertisement: RENT A NEW CAR FROM HERTZ and Drive it yourself. Includes phone number 2-5400 and address 1017-1023 Q Street.

MAGEE'S advertisement: Inspiration from out of this world! The shirring on the bra completely encircles the figure like the ring around Saturn. Includes image of a woman in a swimsuit and price $17.95.

HERTZ advertisement: Who can resist a smart new car . . . the fun of going in style to party or dance, or the many other student activities . . . or a spin on moonlit nights!