

EDITORIAL PAGE

New Meat To Chew

It took a foreign student's speech to make some University students think quite seriously at the convocation Tuesday morning.

The students applauded this speaker, and the applause served notice that at least the majority of University students understand that riots, raids and such impulsive spurts of spring fever must not be a recurring characteristic no matter how great be the urge to "cut loose."

It was a wise speech which Chancellor R. G. Gustavson presented to the students. He didn't scold them as many had expected.

In one sense the convocation was a high schoolish way of attempting to make students of University age recognize a mistake.

The success of the general meeting following the talks is doubtful. Too many students went away feeling that something had been "put over on them."

Regardless of individual feelings on the results of the meeting, we should give credit somewhere for at least having the chance to speak our minds.

We have gone on record now as opposing riots. Maybe that will stifle some of the adverse public opinion and end the letters and phone calls.

As the Chancellor said—in all sincerity—he looks at the student body seeing capable and conscientious students. We had a riot. Yes, and we recognize a mistake.

Successful Runners

A sort of race is run each school year that many students do not know about. No tickets are sold for this race and no stop watches are used.

This sort of race is run for the students. If the race isn't won the students complain loudly. This race isn't exactly one with a burst of speed near the finish.

This race is run with copy pencils, paper, cameras and pictures, layouts and drawings. It's planned for with typewriters and schedules.

The race was won this year and the results were announced Monday starting at 1 p.m.

One o'clock Monday was the result of a staff's year-long work to please the student body.

Opposition To The Favorites

The Nov. 4 national election—even long after the primaries are over—is picking up quite a bit of interest and competition, at least in regard to the Nebraska candidates.

Butler and Griswold are Republican-endorsed candidates for Nebraska's two Senate seats.

Rex Knowles, University student pastor, and Dwight Dell, Beatrice farmer, are the "favorite sons" of this three-month old committee.

The only way that the names of either man can appear on the ballot—now that the primaries are over and both major parties have endorsed their man—is for a petition carrying 1,000 signatures and the candidate's name to be filed with Nebraska's Secretary of State 40 days prior to the Nov. 4 election.

Such petitions are now being circulated throughout the state. However, both Dell and Knowles have stipulated that they will not become active candidates for the Senate posts unless 5,000 signatures are gathered on their respective petitions.

The committee backing these men is called the Committee To Elect Dell and Knowles to the Senate, according to Don Moore, assistant professor in the University's department of physics.

The platform is listed under eight points and includes part of Senator Butler's voting record and a few facts about Griswold.

This new "party" composed of Republicans, Democrats and non-party voters, is in absolute opposition to Universal Military Training (or conscription of any kind), favors civil rights legislation and statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

The Committee behind Knowles and Dell proposes "to strengthen the peace-making function of the U.N." In order to do this, they propose to put an end to the U.S.—Russian arms race, would "avoid the exerting of pressure on other nations to accept the United States position," would "ad-

Margin Notes

The silkworms in England are getting extra rations of Mulberry leaves to increase silk production—for Queen Elizabeth's coronation gown.

With all the flurry of spring registration, it has become apparent, in some instances, that the college catalogs are not the last word on group requirements, hours needed for majors and minors and the like.

At the 19th national convention of the YWCA, college and university students have denounced what they call "gar rule" on college campuses.

Daily Thought

Time hath often cured the wound which reason failed to heal.—Seneca.

Barbed Wire

Barb Wylie

Yesterday a p p r o x i m a t e l y 2,500 University students heard their Chancellor speak to them on their merits and demerits as college students.

He did not speak in haste or without deep thought or concern. He did a more or less confidential conference with his students and tried to aid them in finding their own solution to their problem.

The convocation could have been a great success. The students were there, the faculty and administration were there, and the problem was presented. It is a little saddening that students who did not utilize the opportunity to voice their opinion took the situation so lightly until time ran out and it was almost too late to do anything.

We are going to look a lot sicker and less responsible if we break these resolutions. Rioting is a maladjusted and/or juvenile method of expressing boredom.

Tuesday, I sat in a room pecking away at my typewriter and listening to a friend dial the number of the girl's dorm five times.

Stolen Goods

'Free Catalogue' Draws Student, Texas Christian Poll Reveals

A poll by Texas Christian university to learn just why students select a particular school drew this reply from one freshman: "They sent me a free catalogue."

'Hello Walk'

Delaware U. laments an old tradition it just made up, the "Hello Walk," has been unsuccessful in creating a friendly campus attitude.

Mangold

Roaring Stones

Colorado U. is preparing a musical show based on some silly old campus fable about a pair of stone lions that roared when female students pass by.

Korn Kernels

Ag students will get one last fling Wednesday before digging in to study for finals with an all-Ag picnic.

This will be an Ag fun day, with races and a softball game. The games will start at 4 p.m., and the picnic lunch will be served at 6 p.m.

Ag students will get one last fling Wednesday before digging in to study for finals with an all-Ag picnic.

It was not according to the best American principles. But the way the University is punishing the rioters, or for that matter, any male students who might have had his name turned in, is certainly not what is expected of an American educational institution.

Letterip

Two Wrongs To the Editor: The action being taken by the University officials in response to the riot is, in my opinion, just as notorious as the riot itself.

NU BULLETIN BOARD

- Wednesday Kappa Alpha Mu, 7:30 p.m., Parlor B. Union. Builder's Meeting, 5 p.m., Parlor C. Union. Coed Counselors, 4 p.m., Parlor X. Union. Corn Cob Smoker, 7:30 p.m., Parlor YX. Union. Student Council, 4 p.m. Room 316, Union. Cosmo Club Meeting, 7:30 p.m., Room 316, Union. Ag Union activities committee picnic and fund day, 4 p.m., at Ag picnic grounds. Cosmo Club dance, 7:30 p.m., Room 316, Union. Thursday NUCWA Dinner, 6 p.m., Parlor C. Union. Kosmet Klub Smoker, 7:30 p.m., Parlor X. Union. Alpha Phi Omega, 7:30 p.m., Room 316, Union. Theta Sigma Phi meeting, 5 p.m., Ellen Smith. ROTC parade, 6 p.m., practice field west of the Coliseum.

... By Knowles And Dell

mit to UN membership all nations who express the willingness to accept the responsibility of membership," and would promote "... economic development, human rights, self-government for dependent people."

To "foster a program of mutual foreign aid through the United Nations" the committee suggests that a mutual aid program of 3 billion dollars through the UN would do more good than the proposed 7 billion dollar foreign aid bill and would save the taxpayers four billion dollars.

In order to solve the Missouri basin flood problem, the Knowles-Bell party suggests a "bipartisan approach." The committee considers "the problems centering around flood control, rural electrification, and soil conservation as important to our future as any international problem."

The committee is in favor of "steps to eliminate inefficiency, waste and corruption from the government," by "a check on indiscriminate spending, on personnel overlapping, on the disposition of military surplus ... along with the enactment of much of the Hoover report on reorganization."

For a "realistic tax reduction program," is proposed a platform based on "faith rather than fear, on real mutual aid, on UN negotiation" to save 20 billion dollars of money now spent for arming the world and "for excessive armaments here at home."

You may like Senator Butler, Griswold, Ritchie or Long. And you may disagree with the platforms advocated by the Knowles-Dell supporters. However, our state now has opposition to the announced Senatorial candidates—in the form of two men who want 5,000 signatures and who have spoken out for what they believe.

Nebraska voters—including those University students of voting age—should examine this new "party" and its platform. On Nov. 4, it very well might have been worth the time and effort.—R.R.

Alum Remembers

A note received in the editor's office last week mentioned a statistical error printed recently in The Daily Nebraskan. One University alum noted that the linden tree on campus near the administration building was planted by the class of 1905 instead of the class of 1902.

He writes that the tree was planted by Prof. Laurence Fossler, who was chairman of the German department and sponsor of the class of 1905. He adds a little more history to the tree by adding it was dedicated to the German poet Schiller since 1905 was the 100th anniversary of the poet's death.

What a memory this alum has and what loyalty to his alma mater to take time to write the school newspaper. Conscientious alums such as he are appreciated.—J.K.

The Daily Nebraskan

FIFTY-FIRST YEAR Member Associated Collegiate Press Intercollegiate Press

The Daily Nebraskan is published by the students of the University of Nebraska as an expression of student's news and opinions only. According to Article 21 of the by-laws governing student publications and administered by the Board of Publications, "it is the declared policy of the Board that publications, under its jurisdiction shall be free from editorial responsibility on the part of the Board, or on the part of any member of the faculty of the University, but the members of the staff of The Daily Nebraskan are personally responsible for what they say or do or cause to be printed."

Subscription rates are $3.00 a semester, $5.00 mailed or $3.00 for the college year, $1.00 mailed. Single copy 5c. Publications during the school year except Saturdays and Sundays, vacations and examination periods. One issue published during the month of August by the University of Nebraska under the supervision of the committee on Student Publications. Entered as Second Class Matter at the Post Office in Lincoln, Nebraska, under Act of Congress, March 3, 1919, and at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1102, Act of Congress of October 3, 1917, authorized September 16, 1922.

- EDITORIAL STAFF Editor: Joan Krueger. Associate Editor: Ruth Raymond. Managing Editors: Sally Adams, Ken Rystrom, Jan Steffen. News Editors: Hal Himmelsbach, Sally Stahl. Sports Editor: Marvin Hall. Assistant Sports Editor: Glenn Nelson. Ag Editor: Dick Halston. Society Editor: Connie Gordon. Photographers: Bob Sherman. Reporters: Leonard Kellner, Lewis S. Stephenson, Bob Pinkerton, Pat Ball, Shirley Murphy, Greta Uraig, Darlene Podlask, Terry Barnes, Bob Decker, Natalie Kail, Sam Gibson, Gerry Felman, Gene Che. Editor of the staff of The Daily Nebraskan are personally responsible for what they say or do or cause to be printed. BUSINESS STAFF Business Manager: Jack Urban. Assistant Business Managers: Stan Stipp, Arnold Harn. Circulation Manager: Pete Bergstrom. Advertising Manager: George Wilson. Single News Editor: Hal Himmelsbach.

Advertisement for Manhattan Summerweight Sport Shirts. Text: 'You never had it so cool as in our Summerweight Sport Shirts by Manhattan'. Includes image of a shirt and a person in a hat. Price: 3.50 to 5.95. MEN'S SHOP ... First Floor MILLER & PAINE

New Best Seller?

One K-State Collegian staff member said she's heard about a new book depicting romantic life among the Indians. It will be out soon and is interesting, educationally, and strangely enough entitled, "Last of the Mohicans."

Not Medicine

A dietitian at Michigan State College has placed this sign at the end of the chow line in one of the halls—"Silverware and glasses are not medicine; therefore do not take them after meals." Wit, that's what these authorities have, wit.

Balloons And Bust

The science building at Houston University last week was, according to the Cougar, shaken by a "terrific explosion" in the chemistry lab.

Nobody was hurt or damaged, it said, but all were (and I quote) "helpless with laughter." As the chief of the chemistry intelligence department soared in the graduate students pointed to a red-faced fellow standing in the corner. Humphrey, the college freshman, was blowing up a balloon out of a rubber tube. It burst. That's all.

Music, Music, Music

Colleges next year will be offering plenty of business to name bands, according to Variety magazine. A survey of bank bookers showed that many colleges have increased their budgets and are in the market for such top outfits as Ray Anthony, Elliot Lawrence and the Six Fat Dutchmen. Variety believes that the new enthusiasm for name bands is due to the younger age of the average students, as compared to the average students' age four or five years ago. Former GI's weren't so interested in social life.

Votes For A Hoax

At Oregon State College a fellow named Dick Hastings, candidate for student body president, turned out to be a fictitious student who didn't like the idea that there was only one candidate running this spring.

Hastings polled 113 votes, and not until after the election did the conspirators confess that he was a hoax.

This Modern Age

They used to say college was a thirsting mind on one side of a desk, and an educated mind on the other. But these days, reports the K-State Collegian, it seems to consist of a student union on one side, a stadium on the other, and a large amount of social activity in between. Any transfers to K-State?

Aloha

And so, as our grades gradually sink in the west (the Ad building, that is) we take our leave of this beautiful land of deadlines and mad typists, to return soon with more news to keep you informed of the world in general.

All-Ag Picnic To Feature Races, Softball And Sing

This will be an Ag fun day, with races and a softball game. The games will start at 4 p.m., and the picnic lunch will be served at 6 p.m.

Next year we will be looking forward to more Ag Union events, including the get-acquainted "Pot Luck With the Profs" dinners, h o u s e dances, dancing lessons, and the many other activities the y sponsor such as h a n d - c r a f t workshops and a variety of games for the student's leisure time.

And not leaving out the refreshment part out of it, we will also be looking forward to the many coffee hours in the Dell.

In general, the past year has been a good one for Ag college. Practically all of the events held on Ag campus the past two semesters have been a "huge success. These included the Farmer's Formal, Coll-Agri-Fun, Easter Program, Ag Sno-Ball, Block and Bridle Show and Farmers Fair.

Farmers Fair is always a climax to the many Ag events. It is the one event at which Ag students work and spend the most time. However, it is not quite as rewarding as it should be for the amount of time and work spent.

Try It The Rocky Mountain Collegiate announces that English, the language, is a funny thing. Tell your girl friend, it says, that time stands still when you look into her eyes and she will adore you. But just try telling her that her face would stop a clock. Sounds like that old business of making friends or influencing people.

If Farmers Fair were a part of an overall University function such as College Days, and if the right efforts were made in the line of publicity and if activities were directed to the interests of high school students, it would be much more of a success.

Veishea at Iowa State with its over 100,000 high school students and visitors has proved what this sort of thing can do in the line of public relations.

With this kind of a setup, a midway, dance and rodeo would be great attractions, but open houses would be one of its stronger events.

However, open houses serve no real purpose at the present.

It will take a lot of work and planning to make a fair successful as used to be held years ago, but if it is directed in the right way, Ag college could make it work.

Large advertisement for KING'S BALLROOM. Text: 'ATTENTION! Q. DO YOU NEED A RIDE HOME FOR SUMMER VACATION? A. 1 OUT OF 5700 OTHER STUDENTS MUST BE DRIVING THROUGH YOUR HOME TOWN. Q. HOW DO YOU FIND THAT ONE STUDENT? A. ADVERTISE IN YOUR DAILY NEBRASKAN WANT ADS. For Want Ad Service Come To The Daily Nebraskan Business Office, Basement, Student Union ... Or Call 2-7631 Ext. 4226 Consult the want ad section of today's edition for thrifty want ad rates'.

Advertisement for RAY ANTHONY. Text: 'FRI., MAY 16th RAY ANTHONY Advance Sale Haun Music Store $1.50 Plus Tax, at the Door $2.00 Plus Tax. KING'S BALLROOM'.