

Tribute To Westbrook The contributions made by Dr. Arthur Westbrook...

VOL. 51—No. 145

Photographers All photographers must see Gene Johnson before 5 p.m. if they wish to receive the money for their pictures...

Leising Heads Farmers Fair

Don Leising, Ag college junior, was elected manager of the 1952-53 Farmers Fair board Tuesday night.

The new officers were elected by new senior members to the fair board chosen by an all-Ag college election May 5.

Other officers to the board are Marilyn Bamesberger, secretary, and Art Becker, treasurer.

Leising is also a member of Voc-Ag association, Ag Union Board and Ag Men's club.

Becker is chancellor of Alpha Zeta, regional president of LSA, member of University band and Farm House fraternity.

Leising announced that six junior members, three men and three women, would be chosen by the board next fall.

A tentative date, April 30 and May 1, 1953, has been set for next year's Farmers Fair.

One of the numbers, "Sailing Away," was composed especially for the concert by Robert Van Voorhis, a senior in the music department...

The concert will open with "My Lady Walks in Loveliness," by Ernest Charles and "How Brief That Interval," by Carl Deis.

Part two features the woodwind quintet playing "Divertimento," a march by Daniel Gregory Mason.

Members of the brass ensemble are Denny Schneider, trumpet; Robert Olsen, trumpet; Paul Thompson, trumpet; Walt Cole, French horn; Jack Snider, French horn; Denny Carroll, French horn; Jack Wells, trombone; Stan Shumway, trombone; Ken Lage, trombone; Bob Chab, tuba; and Kent Phillips, tympani.

The string trio will perform during part four. They will play "Three Nocturnes," by Ernest Bloch.

The chorus will end the program with the following numbers: "Ohio River Farewell Song" by Harvey Gaul...

Members of Sinfonia are as follows: Jack Anderson, Joe Babcock, Allan Barnard, John Berrigan, Robert Brown, James Christensen, Walt Cole, Cliff Cowles, Jack Davis, Keith Eck, Richard Garrison, Harry Giesseelman, Vaughn Jaenike, Duane Johnson, Edward King.

Officers this year were: president Dennis Schneider; vice president John Moran; secretary, Allan Barnard; treasurer, John Schauberg; warden, Vaughn Jaenike; alumni secretary, Ken Lage; and historian, Stan Shumway.

Chapter adviser was Jack Snider.

Arnold Air Society Plans Contest For New Patch

All Air Force ROTC cadets must submit designs for the special University air force ROTC shoulder patch before noon, Friday to meet the contest deadline.

Prizes will be a suit case, given by a local store, as first prize, $15 for second prize and $10 for third prize.

The following rules govern the contest: 1. The patch will be no larger than three and three-fourths inches in length, width or diameter.

2. Design will be drawn and colored actual size, and it is recommended that a larger drawing accompany the actual size entry.

West Point Visitors

REPORT TO ROTC... Lt. Col. Byron Ladd (l.), acting professor of military science and tactics, learns of life at West Point from John Graf (center) and Raymond Shipp (r.), ROTC students who have recently visited the military academy.

Graf, Shipp Report On West Point Trip

ROTC lieutenants John Graf and Raymond Shipp gave reports of their recent trip to the United States military academy at West Point, N.Y., before ROTC classmates recently.

The two students, both juniors had been awarded the trip earlier in the year for "outstanding work and interest in their respective service branches," Graf is in the engineering corps and Shipp is with military police.

The men noticed many differences between the ROTC system of molding officers and the "Point" method. But there is "no justification for prejudice between West Pointers and reserve officer graduates," they told their classmates.

Better facilities are also available for use in the military classes, Shipp said.

Upon reaching the West Point campus each of them sent from 55 other schools throughout the U.S. were assigned a cadet sponsor with whom they lived during the three-day visit.

Lt. Col. Byron M. Ladd of the military department said the visits were good for the cadets as well as the ROTC students.

New Officers Told For Delta Phi Delta

Phyllis Moyer was installed as president of Delta Phi Delta art honorary at the annual candlelight initiation and installation ceremonies.

Ten University students were initiated as members of the honorary before the banquet. Dr. E. N. Anderson, professor of history, was guest speaker.

Other officers installed are Ward Lindley, vice president; Carol Haerer, second vice president; Lovana Laird, corresponding secretary; Floyd Morehead, treasurer; Janet Frierichs, activity chairman; Deloris Clouse, Pallette editor; Ella Miyamoto, historian.

Elaine Gruntorad, Janet Beran, Sue O'Dell, Miss Clouse, John Thomas, Miss Laird, Jeannette Mundhenke, Carol Haerer, William Persick and Miss Miyamoto.

Pershing Rifle Co. Places Third In Regimental Meet

The University company of Pershing Rifles took second place in all but two drill events in regimental competition last week.

Out of the five teams entered in the Minneapolis meet, the University placed third in overall standings. Minnesota university won the competition followed by Iowa State college.

Jack Sorenson, honorary advisor of the University company, was selected as an attendant to the Honorary Regimental Colonel.

The events were: pledge, freshman, sophomore and advanced competition in squad drill; crack team drill and platoon drill. University teams won second places in all but freshman and pledge competition.

The rifle team was third. Those participating were: Roland Ahrens, William Wagman, Warren Underwood, Don Wenz, Lloyd Peterson, Herman Neitzel, Darrell Prohaska, Maurice Norton.

Greg Doty, Richard Faes, Don Mead, Bob Davey, Bill Wilson, Jack Lamphere, Frank Wilder, Ray Shipp, Gene French, Melvin Smith, Bill Cecil.

Dave Chapman, George Medley, Mike Delisi, Howard Deidrecks, Val Anderson, Gary Koberstein, Darwin McAfee, John Prien, Paul Kidd and Jack Keene.

Cobel Installs New Council Officers

New Student Council members and officers were formally sworn into office Wednesday by the retiring president, George Cobel, president in charge of elections.

The officers are Wayne White, president; Don Noble, first vice president in charge of judiciary; and Dean Linscott, second vice president.

Student Council Elects New Treasurer, Two Secretaries

Newly elected Student Council members elected a treasurer, corresponding secretary and recording secretary at their first meeting Wednesday.

Taking over the position of Council treasurer is Eldon Park, representative from Builders Park replaces Wayne White.

The new corresponding secretary is Pat Ball, Council representative from Tassels. She succeeds Nanci DeBord.

Janet Steffen was elected Council recording secretary and is representative from AWS. She replaces Miriam Willey.

George Cobel, retiring Council president, formally swore in the new president, Wayne White; Don Noble, first vice president and chairman of the judiciary committee; Dean Linscott, second vice president and chairman of the elections committee, and the new officers.

Wayne White conducted the meeting Wednesday and new officers elected at this meeting will begin their formal duties at the first meeting of the Council in the fall.

Lee, Knowles Nominated For Nebraskan Award

Mabel Lee and Rev. Rex Knowles were nominated Wednesday as this semester's Outstanding Nebraskan.

The two nominations closed applications and brought the total to eight, six students and two faculty members. One award will be given a student and one to a faculty member for "meritorious service in promoting the welfare of the spirit of the University."

Dr. Lee was nominated for the honor for her "outstanding contributions to the University itself and to the nation" in her 28 years' service.

Miss Lee's firsts include having been president of American Physical Education association after 45 years of male presidents, and first woman president of American Academy of Physical Education.

She became the second woman in her field to receive an honorary doctor's degree, served under Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Bradley as member of the Chief of Staff's National Civilian Advisory committee and is listed in "Who's Who in America" and ten other biographical directories.

Rev. Knowles, pastor of the Presbyterian-Congregational student house, received the award nomination as a "person who understands the student and his problems."

The letter of nomination stated that "he is always ready to make himself available to students. Under the guidance and direction of Rev. Knowles," the letter continued, "Presby house has become synonymous with student fellowship, fun and worship. Rev. Knowles has made students of all faiths welcome to many of the activities of Presby house. In this way, he has done much to further understanding and brotherhood at the University."

An additional letter of nomination for Miriam Willey has been received.

In addition to the two nominations received Wednesday, George Cobel, former Student Council president; Jim Buchanan, basketball star; Don Noble, business manager of the Cornhusker and president of Innocents society; Joe Gifford, former senior class president and N club member; Charles Widmaier, Union activities committee co-ordinator; and Miriam Willey, former vice president of YWCA have been nominated for the Nebraskan award.

The Outstanding Nebraskan award originated in 1949 and recipients are picked by The Daily Nebraskan staff. Former honor winners have been Coach Bill Glassford, All-American Bob Reynolds, Mortar Board president Sharon Fritzer, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, Frank Hallgren, Cancellor R. G. Gustavson, football star Tom Novak, Dean of the Faculty Carl Borgmann, YWCA president Sue Allen, Innocents president Rob Raun and faculty member and student adviser Mary Mielenz.

ICC Discusses Raid Action; Holds Election Of Top Officers

Although election of officers was previously planned as the highlight of Wednesday night's Inter-Cooperative Council meeting, the election was almost overshadowed by a discussion on proposed action, by the ICC, concerning the recent raids on women's residences by groups of University men.

It was proposed that the council take definite action against any member of a University cooperative organization who actively participates in any comparable riots in the future.

The proposal was tabled, however, before the end of the meeting, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

Lee, Knowles Nominated For Nebraskan Award

Mabel Lee and Rev. Rex Knowles were nominated Wednesday as this semester's Outstanding Nebraskan.

The two nominations closed applications and brought the total to eight, six students and two faculty members. One award will be given a student and one to a faculty member for "meritorious service in promoting the welfare of the spirit of the University."

Dr. Lee was nominated for the honor for her "outstanding contributions to the University itself and to the nation" in her 28 years' service.

Miss Lee's firsts include having been president of American Physical Education association after 45 years of male presidents, and first woman president of American Academy of Physical Education.

She became the second woman in her field to receive an honorary doctor's degree, served under Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Bradley as member of the Chief of Staff's National Civilian Advisory committee and is listed in "Who's Who in America" and ten other biographical directories.

Rev. Knowles, pastor of the Presbyterian-Congregational student house, received the award nomination as a "person who understands the student and his problems."

The letter of nomination stated that "he is always ready to make himself available to students. Under the guidance and direction of Rev. Knowles," the letter continued, "Presby house has become synonymous with student fellowship, fun and worship. Rev. Knowles has made students of all faiths welcome to many of the activities of Presby house. In this way, he has done much to further understanding and brotherhood at the University."

An additional letter of nomination for Miriam Willey has been received.

In addition to the two nominations received Wednesday, George Cobel, former Student Council president; Jim Buchanan, basketball star; Don Noble, business manager of the Cornhusker and president of Innocents society; Joe Gifford, former senior class president and N club member; Charles Widmaier, Union activities committee co-ordinator; and Miriam Willey, former vice president of YWCA have been nominated for the Nebraskan award.

The Outstanding Nebraskan award originated in 1949 and recipients are picked by The Daily Nebraskan staff. Former honor winners have been Coach Bill Glassford, All-American Bob Reynolds, Mortar Board president Sharon Fritzer, Assistant Dean of Student Affairs, Frank Hallgren, Cancellor R. G. Gustavson, football star Tom Novak, Dean of the Faculty Carl Borgmann, YWCA president Sue Allen, Innocents president Rob Raun and faculty member and student adviser Mary Mielenz.

Pharmacy To Give Awards At Banquet

The College of Pharmacy will present awards for high scholastic honors and will announce the name of the "typical Pharmacy student" at the annual Pharmacy College banquet, Friday night at Colter Terrace.

Scholastic awards will be presented to the Pharmacy senior with the highest scholastic average, the male freshman with the highest average, the female freshman with the highest average, and the male and female sophomores with the highest averages.

In addition, an award will be presented to the student who has shown the "greatest excellency" in the Pharmacy dispensing laboratory.

Kappa Psi, professional Pharmacy men's organization, will present a skit, and the evening will be concluded with dancing.

Board Members Of NUCWA To Honor Sumner J. House At Banquet Tonight

Sumner J. House will be the honored guest at the Nebraska University Council for World Affairs' board banquet Thursday night.

House, instructor in political science, has served as NUCWA adviser during the past three years. He will leave the University faculty at the end of the present semester.

The banquet to be held at 6 p.m. at the Union is for both old and new board members. New members will be installed by Virginia Koehler, past president. Stanley Ross, assistant professor of history, who is the new NUCWA adviser, will also be a guest.

House has taken an active part in all NUCWA activities, Miss Koehler said. He helped plan spring conferences in an advisory capacity giving background material for those taking part. He also accompanied NUCWA officers at conferences held off the University campus.

"We feel that NUCWA is now an active, recognized campus organization," Miss Koehler said. "Much of the recognition which we have received has been through the efforts of House."

NUCWA needs a great deal of faculty support in its activities, she explained. House has helped gain faculty support and prestige, she said. "He has attended almost all meetings and executive meetings and has had an active interest in the organization," she said.

New officers to be installed by Miss Koehler are John Krueger, president; Allan Garfinkle, vice president; Jean Speidel, secretary; Pat Allen, treasurer; Jack Rogers, publicity; Nita Helmsstatter, spring conference chairman; Bernice Wish-now, assistant spring conference chairman; Jan Schmidt, United Nations week chairman; Charles Kiffin, mass meetings chairman; Paul Means, speakers bureau; Elaine Smithberger, special projects chairman; and Neala O'Dell, membership chairman.

HOUSE HELPS OUT... Among the many NUCWA activities in which Sumner J. House (r.) has given his aid is the annual spring conference. Pat Lindgren (l.) and Norma Gameri receive some tips about their delegation's part in the session.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations.

ing, with the decision that such action should be left at the jurisdiction of each individual organization.

The balloting saw J. Michael Whalen of Brown Palace elected as president for the coming year, to succeed Donald Pullen of Pioneer Co-op.

Other officers who were elected are: John Marks, Cornhusker Co-op, vice president; Lyle Wolfe, Pioneer Co-op, secretary; and William Barrett, Norris House, treasurer.

The main purpose of the ICC is to provide both political and financial support of the cooperative organizations