'Who Decides Your Vote?' All-State Is Now In Final Political Discussion Today Activities Loaded Week

Film Shown; Earl Dyer To Discuss News Coverage

"Who Decides How You Vote?" will be the topic of the second in the informal discussion series, "Battle of the Ballots," which is currently being sponsored by the Union.

A highlight of the discussion will be a film, "Does it Matter What You Think?" Earl Dyer, assistant city editor of The Lincoln Star, will then lead the ensuing discussion. He will explain newspaper policies toward political issues and how they might influence public opinion.

Marilyn Mooney, Union Activities director, has stressed that the series is non-partisan in scope. "We are trying to present an unbiased picture of the political scene," she said, "so that the individual can better follow the events of the summer and fall, the conventions and the elections."

The film will begin at 4 p.m. Ample time will be given for questions from the floor.

The next discussion will be held July 16, and the topic will be "Nailing Down the Man and the Platform," featuring a telecast of the Republican Convention. July 17 will find experts who will discuss "Before and After," or the effect of the Republican Convention on the Democratic Convention.

Mark VanVoorhis is moderator of the series.

French Movie To Be Presented By University YMCA

"Crime and Punishment," the French movie based on the well known novel of that name by Dostoyevsky, has been described by the National Board of Review as one which "deserves a place among motion picture classics comparable to the place the novel fills in literature."

The movie, which will be shown by the University YMCA next Tuesday, is described as the story of "a soul in pain."

The plot is concerned with a poor student who is desperately in need of money to such a point that he commits murder. He kills the usurer from whom he has requested a loan, then the usurer's sister, when she happens on the scene unexpectedly. The movie then focuses on the progressive degeneration of the student.

In its review of the film, the N.E.R. described it as leading the audience into a "psychological build-up so complete, so thorough, so convincing, that it must be acclaimed a really great triumph for the motion picture art."

The New York Times, in review, said it "recaptures the spirit and letter of the original with such careful literalness and such complete understanding that we are in danger of taking it for granted instead of recognizing it for a work of art in its own medium."

The film will be shown in Love Library auditorium, Tuesday, at a 3 p.m. matinee and again at 8 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the door for 60 cents.

This transcription will be broadcast over KFAB, KFMT, KVRN, and KMMJ at 1 p.m. Saturday. The broadcast, which will include interviews with several All-States, will also be carried by stations WJAG, KFNF, KOWH, KODY, KCOW, KOLT, KIBL, and KCN. ### New Episcopal Chaplain Is 'Just Becoming' U.S. Citizen

Native Canadian Sees 'Subtle Difference' In Life In This Country

Father W. A. Cross, new chaplain of the University Episcopal chapel, is "just becoming" an American citizen.

A native of Manitoba, Canada, Father Cross has been in this country for five years now. In an interview with the Summer Nebraskan, Father Cross pointed out what he called a "subtle difference" in life in Canada and the U. S., and added that he has had to make a "tremendous adjustment" since coming here.

He has been greatly impressed by the speed of living and the deep competitive interests of the American people. They "work hard and play hard," he said, and do not ask their competitor for favors, but "go after" what they want and get it for themselves.

Another difference which he pointed out is the attention American people give to world affairs. They are just beginning to feel, he said, that what happens in Iran, Korea or any other foreign country directly affects them. He emphasized that America is a young country, and said that he believes this new interest in world affairs has been inclined to make people "over-sensitive" in their reactions toward happenings in foreign countries. In Canada, he said, "perhaps because of British influence," the people have come to "almost expect" a conflict in some Asiatic or African country.

He added, however, that "I like it here," and "I am just becoming an American citizen."

Father Cross, who received his university education at the University of Manitoba and his theological training at St. John's College in Winnipeg, has one major objective in mind for his parish at the present time. "I only hope," he said, "that the chapel can become a part of the University life as a whole." He emphasized that he does not want the chapel to become a competing factor with other University activities, but only a "supplementary" activity.

As a youth, Father Cross said, his main athletic interest was the same as nearly all Canadian youth—ice hockey. He received a letter award in hockey from the University of Manitoba.

He also served a term as senior counselor on the Student Council in his undergraduate days, and took an active interest in debating. For a time he represented the University of Manitoba on the International Debating Team, which he said toured the United States, including Iowa, in 1940.

After receiving his L.Th. degree from St. John's College, Father Cross served in the Royal Canadian Air Force, then for five years he served in various churches and parishes in Manitoba.

In 1947 he was invited to take a parish in Dickinson, North Dakota. He accepted, and has been adjusting himself to American life since. He served the Dickinson parish until this year, when he came to Lincoln.

A member of the Masonic lodge, Father Cross has not been able to develop many outside activities in the short time he has been in Lincoln, but said that he hopes to do so in the future.

Canterbury Club To Meet, Honor Chaplain

"For Us Men" will be the topic of the discussion at the weekly meeting of the Canterbury Club this Sunday in the undercroft of the University Episcopal Chapel.

The theme is taken from a quotation from the Nicene Creed, from "The Faith of the Church," a book of the official teaching series of the Episcopal Church.

The meeting will follow a supper, prepared by Carol Lundberg, at 6 p.m. Evening prayer will be read at 7 p.m. and the discussion will begin at 7:30 p.m., led by Charles Hueston.

Althea Elum will be in charge of social activities following the meeting.

A welcoming reception for the chaplain, Rev. William A. Cross, will be held from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the undercroft.

Holy Communion is celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Wednesday by the chaplain. Rev. Cross is in his office from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

The reception and Sunday night meeting are open to the public.
