

Post Summer Session Home Nursing Courses Are Offered

Previous Training Is Not Necessary

Two post summer session courses in home nursing will be conducted by the University Public Health Department in cooperation with the American Red Cross. The courses, under the direction of Patricia Wall, will begin July 28 and run through August 2; and August 4 through August 9. To enroll in the post session courses one need not have any previous training in home nursing. However, those desiring to register for the training should have appropriate background for college level instruction. One hour of University credit will be given those who desire it, but the course is limited to nurses teachers, group leaders, and undergraduates with special permission, who should be recommended by the school, organization, or Red Cross Chapter under whose program the enrollee will be teaching home nursing classes. Enrollment for each training course must be indicated on the application blank. Applicants should submit an application and agreement to teach, signed by the local Red Cross Chapter Representative to American Red Cross, Midwestern Area Office, 1709 Washington Avenue, St. Louis, Missouri. These forms are available through the local Red Cross Chapter. A University of Nebraska registration should be sent to Mrs. Wall. Fees will be handled at the beginning of the training course.

Expenses may be defrayed by the students or a sponsoring agency or organization. Those attending the training course may stay at 331 North 13th Street, in Lincoln. Registration fee for the training course will be five dollars. There is no extra charge for University credit. Text books can be purchased for sixty cents at the first session of the training course. Weekly rates for meals and lodging, from Sunday night through the following Saturday, will be $18.00. Classes will be in session from 8:30 to 11:30 in the morning and from 1:30 to 4 in the afternoon during the week of the training course, and from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. on Saturday. Students are asked to bring a cover-all apron, low heeled shoes, and a three ringed note book. The Instructor Training Course is designed to help the student learn over 32 nursing skills, and an effective method of teaching these skills to others. The student will be prepared to give valuable service to the students and members of the home community, and will be equipped to help in the task of preparation of Civilian Defense. Registration and payment of fees will be done at the opening session of class on July 28 or August 4. The meetings for this course will be held at Burnett Hall, Room 225, on the University campus.

Midshipmen Study In Virginia

LITTLE CREEK, NORFOLK, Va.—A group of University of Nebraska students were among the 800 Naval Reserve Officers' Training Corps midshipmen who began classroom and practical work in amphibious warfare at the Norfolk Naval Amphibious Base. The NROTC juniors from 27 Southern and Western colleges and universities are being given instruction which will provide them with a basic understanding in the complexities of amphibious operations.

Classroom and practical work is included in the ashore phase of two weeks duration. The collegians then will be embarked in ships of the Atlantic Amphibious Force for the final week of instruction in such subjects as navigation, communications, ordnance and deck duties. A mock assault landing over the sandy beaches of the Atlantic Ocean at nearby Camp Pendleton will climax the afloat phase on August 7.

Slaving away Tuesday night, attempting to make the Wednesday morning copy deadline, the Summer Nebraskan staff failed to notice the passing of time. When they finally were ready to leave the Student Union, they found themselves, quite revoltingly, to be locked in the building. After searching the building and being unable to find the night watchman, the staff contacted University Police, and one of the fine public servants released them from their prison.

A wealthy family was entertaining Lord Witherspoon. At his request, the five year old daughter of the hostess was permitted to dine at the table with them. During the meal the little girl heard their guest referred to as "My Lord." She noticed he had finished his dessert, and nudging her of the hostess was permitted "Mother, maybe God would like some more ice cream."

The professor walked into the mimeograph office with a final exam. "Why, Professor," said the mimeo girl, "you gave the same exam last semester!" "Yes, I know," he replied, "but I've changed the answers."

Smart Bird

The passengers on an ocean-going ship were being entertained by a magician. The captain's parrot was present at the show and kept the magician in a state of extreme agitation by explaining every trick the man did. When the magician would try to fool the parrot, the bird would call out loud and clear . . . "He did it with a string in his sleeve" or "He's using mirrors and he has a trap door under the table." The magician was about to murder the parrot on the spot when the ship was shaken by a tremendous explosion. A torpedo had found its mark. Some time later, the parrot and the magician found themselves afloat in a sea of darkness, both holding on to the same piece of driftwood. After a long silence, the parrot spoke up dejectedly and said, "All right, I give up. What did you do with the ship?"

Fowler: Lincoln Labor Strike Not Expected To Affect Work On New University Theater

Work Expected To Begin Soon By Contractors

The current labor strike in Lincoln is not expected to affect the construction of a new University theater in the south wing of the old Temple Building, Charles F. Fowler, director of the division of building and grounds, announced. Fowler said he expects contractors to begin work on the "gutting" of the building within a week or ten days.

Staff members of the speech and dramatic art department, who are housed in the Temple, began moving equipment out of the south half of the building this week. Contractors have asked permission to build a dust partition between the section of the Temple which is to be gutted and the section which will be left untouched. Contracts and arrangements have been cleared by University officials so that contractors can begin work immediately.

Since the first general estimate of the cost of construction of the new theater was made in 1949, it has changed three times. The cost of the project as reported in the Summer Nebraskan two weeks ago is $380,000.

It is expected that the work on Temple will be completed by the fall of 1953.

A father, angry at his daughter for being too modern in manners and appearance, stormed, "You girls of today don't mind if your hair looks like a mop." To which the daughter replied, "What is a mop?"
