Give Up Homecoming Fund; Reason: Alumnus Hit By Polio

Alpha Omicron Pi sorority has donated $50 to polio relief—the maximum amount sororities are allowed to spend for Homecoming Displays.

The AOPi's, in donating their Homecoming fund to polio, followed the example of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, who earlier donated $50. The TKE's letter accompanying their check urged cause, is that Lois Heniger, AOPi alumnus who graduated last year, is in the Omaha Methodist Hospital with polio. Miss Heniger was listed as "critical" for the first week but is expected to be released in about a week.

The AOPi's check will be forwarded to the proper authorities, as will any other contributions received by The Daily

To Our Readers

In several editorial opinions recently, The Daily Nebraskan has discussed the subject of student contributions to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Closely linked with this subject has been the national collegiate movement—began in the Big-Seven by the University of Kansas—to give money earmarked for Homecoming decorations to polio funds.

The Daily Nebraskan told its readers that Homecoming was a tradition worthy of being kept on the campus and yet spoke of the need for polio funds and other aid. To add to the already confused matter came the All University Fund organization—which is preparing to launch its annual, concentrated charity drive.

When members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity made the first move on our campus and donated their Homecoming funds to polio work, The Nebraskan offered its congratulations and informed its readers that any donations to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis would be accepted and forwarded by our office.

At this point, it seems vitally necessary to remind our readers that The Daily Nebraskan believes in the work of AUF, is firmly convinced that the tradition of Homecoming should be retained and that any efforts—financial or otherwise—to help those stricken with polio are unquestionably worthy.

Donations to the polio fund—in whatever way deemed advisable—are an individual matter. Perhaps The Nebraskan will be criticized for taking a middle of the road course on this issue. But, as we feel, this is not a subject for a crusade. We shall stand firm on our news and editorial judgment. The question of contributions to polio fund shall be regarded in the same light.—R.R.

that other campus organizations "feel fit to contribute to this worthwhile fund."

The check was presented to The Daily Nebraskan Tuesday afternoon following the decision to contribute at chapter meeting Monday night.

The AOPi's stated that the reason for the contribution, aside from the fact that it is worthwhile

Nebraskan. None of the money collected by the All University Fund goes to polio relief, because the National Foundation For Infantile Paralysis did not want to take part in separate fund drives. The annual March of Dimes is the only fund source of the Foundation besides private endowments.

Publication Board Deadline Extended

Student Council To Interview Applicants

The filing deadline for sophomores wishing positions on the Board of Student Publications has been extended to 5 p.m. Monday.

Dean Linscott, chairman of the Student Council Elections Committee, urged all interested sophomores to apply and outlined the filing procedure to be followed.

A letter of application must be turned in to Dean Linscott, Student Council box, in the Union basement. The applicant must be carrying at least 12 credit hours and have earned 24 credit hours with a 4.5 over-all average. The student cannot be a member of the Alpha Chi Omega or Cornhusker staff.

The students' cumulative grade average initiated by the office of the Registrar, journalism experience, his ideas regarding the board and reasons for applying must be included in the application.

Left Overs

By LILA WANKE

In our history quiz section the other day we were having an oral quiz. The quiz master asked one girl the difference between Noah's Ark and Joan of Arc.

"Well," she said, "Noah's Ark was made of wood and Joan of Arc was made of Orleans. But I've never been able to figure out the difference between Joan of Arc and Queen Elizabeth."

"Oh," he returned, "Joan of Arc was a wonder, and Queen Elizabeth was a Tudor."

00-00-00-00-00!

Father—My boy, I never kissed a girl until I met your mother. Will you be able to say the same thing to your son?

Son—Yes, but not with such a straight face.

Ho-hum! here we are with the weather again! Sunny, warm. Who knows, maybe someday it'll be cool and we'll all be surprised.

John: I can give a girl anything she wants, Monday through Saturday.

Jack: What about Sunday?

John: The banks are closed.

Tee Hee!

First ROTC private: I feel like telling the sergeant where to get off again.

Second Same: (very awed) What do you mean, "again"?

First: I felt like it yesterday, too.

Heard another definition of a politician the other day—He's one who shakes your hand before election and your acquaintance afterward.

That's all

Directory Price Increased

Student Data Book To Sell At 65 Cents

The price of the Student Directory has gone up.

It has been announced that the 1952 edition will sell for 65 cents. The price has formerly been 50 cents. The reason for the price increase is a 12 per cent raise in the production cost without an increase in advertising rates. This causes a loss that can only be made up by increasing the price of the Directory.

Nov. 1 is the date that has tentatively been set as the time the Student Directory will come out. Sale of the Directory will start Oct. 15.

The Student Directory publication is a branch of the University Builders. The Directory contains

Workers Wanted

Student Directory needs workers on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Anyone desiring to help should come to Room 305 between 1-6 Tuesday and Wednesday, according to Nita Helmstader. Builders credit is given for this work.

a list of the faculty and students of the University. It gives the address, telephone number, year in school and affiliation of all the students.

The editor of the Directory, Nita Helmstader, and the staff are at present working every afternoon to compile the information for publishing.

The business staff worked on the Directory the past summer. Members of the group include Terry Barnes, Business Manager; Jack Gillespie, Sales Manager; and Cynthia Johnson, Advertising Manager. Helping the ads manager were Bridget Watson, Shirley Langhus, Connie Gordon and Dorothy Orchard.

A new feature of the Directory will be colored pages to expediate locating sorority phone numbers. Only the fraternities have been marked by a thumb tab in the past.

There will be meetings Oct. 8 and 14 for Directory salesmen. The meetings will be at 7 p.m. in the Builders Office. The salesmen will be representatives from the different campus houses.

Calendars Ready

Persons who have not received their Builders' Calendars may pick up their orders in the Builders' office on Wednesday from 4 to 5 p.m.

CC To Feature 'College Daze' At Know-How

The second of three skits sponsored by Coed Counselors, will be held at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Love Library auditorium. The title is "College Daze."

Susan Reinhardt, Co-Chairman of the series, said that the purpose of the skit is to acquaint new students with the traditions, social behavior, and other aspects of college life. It is, she added, a supplement of new-student orientations, and will explain the facilities available at the University.

Taking part in the skit are Barb Medlin, Katy Kelly, Joyce Bennington, Jan Harrison, Madeline Goulay, Ann Launer, Nancy Hoile, Doris Meyer, Lois Srb, Joy Wachal, and Mimi DuTeau.

The last of these "Campus Know How" skits, dealing with University activities, will be presented Oct. 8.

Symphonette Ticket Sales Postponed

Ticket sales for the Longines Symphonette have been halted pending a report of student sales from the Tassels and Corn Cobs.

The Union activities office reported that if the ballroom is not sold out, tickets will again be placed on sale as soon as possible.

The Symphonette, scheduled for Thursday, was moved from the Coliseum to the Union early this week because of a limited purchase of tickets.

Dean OK's Late Hours For Circler

Special Ticket Price Offered Students

Circler Community Theatre is now considered a University function. As a result, late hours for women attending Circler plays, except first semester freshmen, have been OKed by Dean Marjorie Johnston.

Season tickets are being offered for the first time to University students at a special price of $3.50 for the year's five plays. These special tickets are valid for only the first two days of the play's run. Memberships are sold to the public for $6 for five performances.

Students may purchase tickets in the Union foyer from noon to 1 p.m. every day this week or may receive them by contacting Fran George at 4-4162.

Set up in the Municipal Pool bath house, the theater holds 150 people. At the end of each season the theater is dismantled and turned back into a bath house.

Karl Sittler directs the cast which is composed of local actors. All technical work is volunteered. During intermission coffee is served to the audience free of charge. Hosts and hostesses at the coffee are chosen from the theater's 1800 local members. The plays begin at 8:15 p.m. Each play runs 12 nights, beginning Tuesday and continuing through the next Sunday with the exception of Monday.

This year's schedule of five plays includes "The Biggest Thief In Town," by Trumbo, will begin October 7. "Another Part of the Forest," which won the Critic's Circle Award, by Hellman, begins November 25. "The Curious Savage," by Patrick, begins January 13. "A Guest in the House," by Wilde and Eunson, starts March 2 and "The Happy Time," by Fontaine, begins April 21.

TALENT SHOW

Final Tryouts Scheduled For Wednesday

Students that can sing, dance, or roll people in the aisles with a belly laugh, are welcome to join those participating in the Union Talent Show tryouts that will be concluded tonight, said Norman Gauger, chairman of the general entertainment committee.

Fourteen who have registered for tryouts are: Lois A. Miner, Roger D. Sack, Marymaude Bedford, Jo Hanlon, Kathleen O'Donnell, Marilyn Lehr, Clare Heinman, Mary A. Nehls, Janis McCraw, Betty Barber, Barb Britton, Faunell Gutzman, and Tom Schovland.

Ten other persons have registered for tryouts, making a total of 24. The winners will be given a place in the show.

Council To Name Class Councilmen

Selection of three student members of the Board of Student Publications will highlight the agenda of the Student Council Wednesday afternoon.

The Council, however, will also approve or reject the members of the Junior and Senior Class Councils, selected Monday by the Council's committee on campus improvements.

Names of the council members will be released Wednesday following the Council meeting.

Five Houses Submit Penny Carnival Plans

From 1611 . . . To 1952

FORMER VERSION . . . This copy of the King James Version of the Holy Bible was translated into English in the 16th century and has been used as the authorized version in Protestant churches up to the present time.

PRESENT VERSION . . . This copy of the Holy Bible is the new Revised Standard Version being sponsored by the National Council of Churches and is the first Protestant authorized revision since the King James Version in 1611.

Today Marks Deadline For Participants

Five out of 25 boils down to 1/5 in mathematics, but in the eyes of the Coed Counselors it adds up to a mighty slow reaction.

The counselors, traditional sponsors of Penny Carnival, announced that Wednesday would be the last day sketches and plans for proposed Carnival booths would be accepted for the elimination judging.

According to the Carnival Chairman, Sandra Daley, Tuesday afternoon showed that only five out of a possible 25 plans had been turned in.

Letters of information were sent to 25 organized women's groups announcing the date of Penny Carnival as October 18 from 1 to 5 p.m. All of these groups were invited and encouraged to use their ingenuity in thinking up carnival themes that could be used in booths in the University Ballroom. A brief sketch or outline of their ideas was requested for approval.

From these plans, 16 will be chosen to appear in the Ballroom on Saturday, Oct. 18 to compete for the traveling trophy, which was won by the Alpha Chi Omega's last year.

Judging of the booths will be on the basis of suitability to the carnival theme; originality; attractiveness; and audience appeal. Three elected judges will carry 60 per cent of the vote, with the students constituting the remaining 40 per cent.

A student, to be eligible to vote, must visit at least six of the booths and have his ticket punched at each. Voting will take place from 2 until 4 p.m. and the winners will be announced at 4:30 p.m. A first, second, third place and an honorable mention will be selected.

Penny Carnival is one of the first activities of the year in which it is traditional for new women students on campus to display their talents before the student body.

It is customary that all work done in connection with Penny Carnival be the product of their own imaginations and elbow grease, from the original idea, to the construction of the booth.

Union Membership Drive Extended

The Union has extended its membership drive until Friday, 4 p.m.

All upperclassmen and male freshmen are urged to sign up for positions on one of the Union's 11 committees, according to Nancy Hemphill, chairman of the Union Personnel committee.

Interested students may sign up for committee positions in the Union activities office, Room 211, Union.

Lincoln Symphony Seeks Members; Tryouts Set

Tryouts for membership in the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra will be held Sunday, Oct. 4, at 2:30 p.m. at the Music Building.

Membership is open either to students or professional musicians. Any person wishing additional information may call 5-7767.

Bible Revision Completed By Council Of Churches

First Publication Released Tuesday

Monday and Tuesday marked the publication date of two new editions of the Holy Bible.

The First Revised Standard Version of the Protestant Bible is the first authorized version since the time of King James in 1611.

The revision, released Tuesday, was sponsored by the National Council of Churches and after 15 years of research the new edition has been completed.

The second publication of the Scriptures is the translation of eight books of the Old Testament by Roman Catholic scholars. The New Testament, known as the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine Edition, was published in 1941 under the sponsorship of the American Catholic Bishops.

The evolution of the Bible began with the Hebrew Scroll containing the book of Esther and written in the Hebrew language. Later the Fourth Century Massorete Text was considered the best of the critical editions of the Hebrew Holy Scriptures. Then in England originated the first English Bible authorized into the Protestant church by King James in 1611. Now, the new Bible just published will take its place in the evolution of the Scriptures.

Advertising Fraternity Will Meet

GAX To Elect 3 New Officers

Gamma Alpha Chi, women's professional advertising fraternity, will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday, at 4 p.m. in 309 Burnett.

Ray Hitchcock, Journal advertising manager, will discuss advertising lineage reports for Nebraska daily newspapers with the group.

Gamma Alpha Chi pledges will be told details for the initiation, which will be Sunday. Offices to be filled by election are treasurer, projects chairman and publicity chairman. Group projects for the year will be discussed. Lineage reports and poll taking will be the main points of discussion.

Plans will be started to send a delegation of Epsilon members to the Gamma Alpha Chi convention, which will be held Oct. 31, Nov. 1 and 2, in Norman, Okla.

The new president of Gamma Alpha Chi is Shirley Murphy. She replaces Pat Ball, who resigned.

Beanie Deadline

Freshmen who want to purchase beanies must do so Wednesday at Ben Simons, fourth floor. This is the last day freshman beanies will be on sale.

Victorious Huskers Overlook 'Well-wishers' Rally Fans Slighted By Returning Team

"The boys got out of the plane on the far side of the field, they huddled, they turned, they walked silently to the waiting buses without the least recognition of the waiting crowd of classmates and well-wishers. Not a single hand was raised in a salute acknowledging our presence."

This complaint was received in a letter Tuesday at the office of The Daily Nebraskan.

The writer continued, "Granted they were tired; so were we. How much effort would it have taken to raise their arms in token of their appreciation of our welcome and loyalty? Is this all? One person asked, 'Guess that's that,' said another, 'What a let-down,' said yet another.

"A great deal of emphasis has been placed on college spirit this fall," he said, "Even our Chancellor has said that there was a lack of enthusiasm on the campus

P. M. Headlines

By Staff Writer

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE NOW SERVING IN NORTH KOREA, according to a highly placed U. S. Eighth Army officer. This officer said in an interview that there are several thousand Russian troops in rear areas serving as technicians and advisers and probably manning modern radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns manufactured in the Soviet Union.

The officer cannot be identified but he holds a responsible post that qualified him to speak authoritatively.

He conceded that some of these soldiers of caucasian origin could be East Europeans from Soviet satellite countries. The officer described the anti-aircraft battiers at Red airfields south of the Antung bases in Manchuria as modern stuff. It is assumed that some of the Russians are used to man these technical weapons.

Some information was gotten from a captured North Korean officer. This Communist Lieutenant, who was security officer at the armistice site, said last Saturday that he had seen about 20 Russians at the Sinjujui airfield in June, 1951. The airfield is in North Korea at the Manchurian border.

The North Korean also said that Russian advisers were attached to the North Korean Army officers staff school and that he had heard of Russian pilots flying Communist jets.

High ranking American officers have stated that Russian speaking pilots have been heard by Allied airmen who overheard radio messages. These statements concerning Red anti-aircraft batteries were perhaps the first authoritative statement that Russians probably were directing and firing guns against United Nations fighters.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN has accused Gen. Dwight Eisenhower of having endangered the country as commanding general of Europe by grave "blunders" which left America unaware of Russia's threat to world peace.

He said Eisenhower's advice that he saw no reason why Russia and the United States would not remain "the closest possible friends" carried "great weight" and "did a great deal of harm."

The President said that "We wouldn't have had so much trouble in waking up the country to the danger of Communist imperialism in 1946 and 1947 and 1948 if Eisenhower had given better advice."

He also complimented Rep. Mike Mansfield, Democratic candidate for the Senate against Sen. Ecton (R-Mont) and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson for having known "that Communism was dangerous and that we had to take measures to stop it."
