Women Marines Seeking Coed Volunteers From NU

First Lt. Margaret L. O'Neill visited the University Tuesday to obtain and interest candidates for the Women Officers Training Class of the U. S. Marine Corps.

The class trains college women to become officers in the Women's Marine Corps. To be eligible for the Officers Candidate School, applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 27 and be either a graduate or student of an accredited college or university.

Candidates will receive their training at Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va. The training periods will be held as follows: junior course, June 16 to July 26, 1953; senior course, July 28 to Sept. 6, 1953. The courses may be completed in one or two summers.

Upon successful completion of the senior course, college graduates will be commissioned second lieutenants in the Marine Corps or Marine Corps Reserve.

depending on the candidate's preference. Undergraduates will receive their commission when they graduate.

Women may request separation from the course at any time and return home. This separation relieves the applicant of any obligation to the Marine Corps. Women in the Marine Corps may get married, but candidates in OCS are not allowed to marry while in training school.

While in the summer training camps, OCS candidates receive all the pay and privileges of regular Women Marines, including all types of medical fees and other requirements, such as clothing. Transportation is paid to and from summer bases. Ratings assigned are corporal in the junior course and sergeant in the senior course.

Women Marines do all jobs that men do except combat and aviation. Mainly they will relieve men for combat and other necessary duties.

There is a great need for women in the Marine Corps. This part of the nation has just been opened up for an extensive search for candidates. The entire overall personnel of the Marine Corps is short handed.

Lt. O'Neill is one of six women officers in the nation now serving as Officer Procurement Officers. She is stationed in St. Louis and will screen candidates from Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Colorado. Lt. O'Neill received her BS Degree from Bridgewater Teachers College, Bridgewater, Mass.

Women who are interested in becoming candidates in Officers Corps School should contact Lt. O'Neill at Room 937, New Federal Building, 1114 Market St., St. Louis, Mo.

A Shocking Picture

Uhlmann Awards Student Contest Open To All Interested Collegians

To stimulate a broad interest among college students in the marketing of grain and to develop a better understanding of the operations of the Chicago Board of Trade, the Uhlmann Awards Student Contest has been established.

Contestants in this contest are to prepare manuscripts dealing with some aspects of marketing of commodities traded on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Suggested topics are "An Analysis of Some Aspects of Grain Marketing Activity," "Effects of Speculating on Grain Prices," and others.

All manuscripts should be sent to the office of the Public Relations Department, Chicago Board of Trade Building, 141 West Jackson Boulevard, Chicago 4, Illinois, not later than noon, June 1, 1953.

The entries will be judged by their originality and independence of thought represented, the use of source material other than text books, organization and presentation, and English composition.

The contest has been established to commemorate the 25 years of service and the contributions of Fred Uhlmann to the grain business. Uhlmann organized the grain company which bears his name, and was active in Board of Trade affairs for many years.

The contestants will be divided into two groups, graduate and undergraduate students. A first prize of $300, a second prize of $150 and a third prize of $75 will be awarded to the winners of each group. Also four honorable mention prizes of $25 each will be given in each group.

25 Students To Attend Lutheran Conference

Twenty-five Lutheran students and Lutheran graduate assistant, Audrey Mortvedt, will travel to Fremont this weekend for the Lutheran Student Association Midwest Region Fall Conference at Midland College.

One hundred students will represent 14 schools in Nebraska and Kansas. The conference will be directed by Art Becker, senior in Ag College and Midwest Region president.

Centering around the theme "Summoned to Serve," the conference will feature Bible study, LSA promotion, Hannover report, business session, banquet, and Holy Communion. The banquet speaker will be Rev. Paul Bierstedt, Central Region Secretary, Division of Student Service, National Lutheran Council, from Chicago.

Only Instructor Can Remove Down Hours

"How can I remove my down hours?"

Students will again ask this question when the first six weeks of the semester rolls to a screeching halt this week.

Dr. Floyd W. Hoover, director of registration and records, said down hours are the means an instructor has of notifying his students of their progress in class.

Hoover said that the only way down hours can be removed is for a student to contact his instructor and talk over the situation.

If, after the talk, the instructor feels that removal of the down hours is justified, he must sign a note indicating the removal. The note should then be taken to the office of registration and records in the Administration Hall.

Coffee Hours Planned For New Faculty

The second in a series of coffee hours for new faculty members and graduate assistants will be held Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Union Faculty Lounge.

The purpose of these events is to introduce, socially, members of various departments. Approximately 25 guests from Arts and Science College have been invited at this time.

Gene Hamaker, history department, and Miss M. Leafdale, English department, are in charge of this week's affair.

The bi-weekly coffee hour will eventually extend to other colleges.

Young GOPs Seek 'Newest' NU Voter

Are you about to have your 21st birthday?

If so, you are eligible to enter a contest sponsored by the University Young Republicans.

The Young Republicans are trying to find the youngest voter on campus. Anyone having a 21st birthday between now and Nov. 4, should turn in his name and date of birth to the Young Republican's box in the basement of the Union by 5 p.m. Thursday.

A free pass to the movie of his choice will be awarded the winner of the contest.

Announcement of the youngest voter will be made at the Young Republican meeting Thursday at the Young Republicans headquarters, on 10th Street between O and P Sts. Campaign plans for the two weeks before election will be laid at this meeting.

University Rodeo Club To Meet Wednesday

The University Rodeo Club will hold its meeting Wednesday night in the Ag Union Lounge according to Mike Gaskins, publicity chairman.

A discussion will be held on the purchasing of rodeo equipment for the club and the laying of plans for the rodeo held during Farmer's Fair.

Religious Director To Speak For Lutheran Reformation Day

The annual Reformation Day service sponsored by the Lutheran Student Foundation, the local National Lutheran Council Churches, and the Lutheran Student Associations of the University will be held at Grace Lutheran Church, 22nd and Washington, at 8 p.m., Oct. 26.

Dr. Harold Bernhard, Director of Religious Activities at Iowa State Teachers College in Cedar Falls, Ia., will speak on "The East Window of Divine Surprise."

A mass choir, composed of the Lutheran Student Choir and the local Lutheran Church Choirs, will present several numbers.

Bridge Instruction Starts Wednesday

A new course in Unionology, more aptly termed bridge lessons, will be offered each Wednesday afternoon from 5 to 5:45 Oct. 22 through December in Room 316 of the Union.

The Union Recreation Committee is sponsoring this series of bridge lessons for those who wish to learn the game or sharpen their game. James Porter, assistant professor of architecture at the University, will instruct the course.

Stan Sipple is chairman of the Recreation Committee.
