

OU After 'Cats For No. 32

Oklahoma, the nation's top scoring club this week with its average of 40.2 points per game, plays on its home field Saturday for only the second time this year.

Kansas State is the opponent in the 38th annual game. If Coach Bud Wilkinson's Sooners win, they will have gone undefeated in 32 consecutive Big Seven Conference games.

A crowd of approximately 35,000 is expected. Kenneth Farris, Sooner business manager of athletics, reported a brisk Monday sale. Record crowd for this game was 38,546 in 1950 when Wilkinson's national champions won 58-0 at Owen Field.

Coach Bill Meek's Wildcats, a youthful outfit that possesses in Veryl Switzer, the greatest Negro player ever to show in the Big Seven, lost 7-26 to Tulsa last week. However, Meek thinks that given more breaks, Kansas State might have won the game.

"We were leading 7-0 in the first half, had another touchdown called back that would have given us a two-touchdown lead, and we thought one of our backs went into the end zone for a third touchdown although an official disagreed with us," Meek told the Oklahoma City Quarterback Club Monday in an interview telephoned from Manhattan. "If we could have led by 14 or 21 points at the half, they might not have caught us."

Switzer, who last year made the Associated Press' second All-American defensive team at safety but plays offensively, too, this year, has averaged 50 minutes per game this year, Meek says. Kansas State has a 1-4 record and played especially well when it held strong Cincinnati to a 13-6 win at Cincinnati, and Nebraska to a 27-14 win at Lincoln.

It's Band Day at Norman so let's toot the horn a minute for Oklahoma which surged to third place this week in the national Associated Press poll, and into the fourth spot in the United Press Coaches poll.

Wilkinson's 1952 club lacks the rugged manpower of the 1948 and 1949 Oklahoma teams, yet because of its superb deception rates as Wilkinson's finest offensive production of all time.

Finesse is the trademark of this club, the quality that lifts it above all the other fine split-T offenses Wilkinson and his staff have developed at Norman.

Notre Dame had its "Four Horsemen." Oklahoma has its "Four Finessers," and it's the best Oklahoma backfield that Wilkinson and Bill Jennings, his backfield coach, have fashioned since Bud came to Norman six years ago.

Eddie Crowder, frail-looking, sandy-haired geology major, handles the hoghide hocus-pocus the Oklahomaans flashed while spoofing three fine teams within the last three weeks, Pittsburgh by 49-20, Texas by 49-20 and Kansas by 42-0 at Lawrence. But Fullback Buck McPhail, and Halfbacks Billy Vessels and Buddy Leake all fake beautifully, too.

Crowder, Vessels and McPhail are seniors. All are native Oklahomaans. Crowder graduated from Muskogee Central high school, McPhail from Oklahoma City Central high school, and Vessels from Cleveland, Okla. (not Ohio) high school. Leake, the right half, is a sophomore from Memphis, Tenn., and led the nation in scoring last week with 46.

Clark Approves Utah

George (Potsy) Clark gave life to Utah's hopes of crashing the Big Seven by stating he would favor the admission of the Utah University to the Big Seven Conference.

Utah reportedly has received a feeler and may make formal application for admission at the conference in Lincoln in December.

Presby Suffers First Loss, 20-13

By BILL MUNDELL
Intramural Sports Columnist
The University YMCA fought from behind three times Wednesday evening to hand Presby House its first setback of the year, 20-13. It was the big game of the year as far as league VII was concerned as both outfits entered the fray undefeated. Presby's loss narrowed the current list of unbeaten teams to eight in intramural football this year.

The victorious Y men overcame Presby leads of 6-0 and 13-6 and finally broke a 13-13 tie to gain their fifth straight win of the season.

Presby House broke the scoring ice midway in the first quarter as Gordon Gay fired a 15-yard pass to Don Summers who in turn outran three YM defenders for another 45 yards and a touchdown. The victors had stopped another Presby drive on the six only moments before and

One of Nebraska's three co-captains, ED HUSMANN will be game captain against Colorado Saturday. This is Ed's last year for the Scarlet and Cream. He won letters as a sophomore and junior in his tackle position.

Ed plays both ways for coach Bill Glassford, starting at defense and offense. He is a big man, weighing 210 pounds, but is quick and fast. He is an excellent blocker and tackler.

Coaches appreciate Ed, for he takes coaching well, has a great desire to play football, and rarely has anything to say. He is known as a great "infighter," for in close formation he is especially deadly.

Ed played his high school football for Ogallala, Nebraska.

had punted out only to see the losers flash downfield on that one play.

Russ Synder put the Y's back in the game just before the end of the period as from punt formation, he rounded left end instead and galloped 68 yards to paydirt.

Presby House pushed right back, driving to the YM 20 before being halted. Taking over, the victors' attack netted a first down and on fourth down were only yard shy of another. A YMCA gamble here proved disastrous as the Presby defenders held and took over 40 yards from the Y goal.

Four passes from the arm of Harlan Skinner judged the losers to a first down on the YM six, from where Skinner fired a perfect strike to Jack Naughton in the end-zone. Skinner rounded left end for the vital thirteenth counter and the half ended with Presby on top, 13-6.

John Churchill took over for the winners in the third quarter and after two Presby fumbles had given the ball to their opponents, he fired a 13-yard heave to John McCall for the touchdown and again to McCall for the tying point.

A 53-yard drive in seven plays culminated with Snyder firing a three-yard pass to Darrell Cottingham for the game-winning tally in the fourth stanza.

The final two minutes saw the losers staking another drive that carried from their 15 to the YM 13, but that was as far as they got as a Gay pass was pilfered near the goal line and the game was over.

The University Y's last challenger to league VII honors will make its bid Monday as once-beaten Newman Club will attempt what no other team has been able to do this year. Newman Club dropped a one-point decision to Presby for its only loss of the year.

Buff Distance Team Seeking Third Victory

Coach Frank Potts' Colorado University cross-country team shoots for its third straight win of the season Friday afternoon as the Buffs entertain Wyoming and Colorado A&M in a triangular meet at Folsom Field. Starting time is 3:30 p.m.

The Buffs easily defeated those two schools in a meet at Laramie two weeks ago. Last Saturday Colorado bounced Iowa State 12-27 at Ames.

Lloyd Barlow of Ft. Collins continued to pace Buff runners at Ames, winning the three-mile-test in 15:11.5.

Weather A Factor In Saturday's CU Game

By GLENN NELSON
Sports Editor

The Cornhuskers are hoping to have good weather Saturday.

Not only would spectators be fortunate to view the game at Boulder under a pleasant Colorado sky, but the Huskers are depending upon good weather to allow them to arrive at Folsom Field by gametime.

Coach Bill Glassford and the rest of the Nebraska delegation will leave Lincoln by plane at 10:20 a.m. Saturday, and arrive in Denver at 11:30 Denver time. That gives the Huskers no chance to waste time prior to their Big Seven contest with the Buffaloes.

Nebraska, currently perched atop the Big Seven conference standings with two wins in as many loop starts, will be the target of a deadly Colorado team.

The Buffs, who own two straight wins over Nebraska, will be led offensively by tailback Zack Jordan, Colorado's leading candidate for All-American honors.

Jordan, the nation's leading punter and top passer in the Big Seven, is the key man in Coach Dal Ward's slick single wing attack. But plenty of power is added to the Colorado machine by veterans Woody Shelton, Ralph Curtis, Roger Williams and Carroll Hardy.

Nebraska will count mainly upon Quarterback John Bordogna, who directs the varied Husker offensives. The Turtle Creek, Pa. Yewster ranks 19th nationally in total offense and 12th in rushing.

Bordogna, who lost a few teeth last week at Penn State, will probably be relieved on occasions by Duane Rankin, who won acclaim from the Husker head coach for his duties this week.

Bill Schabacker and Dennis Emanuel, who have started as defensive ends for the first five NU games, will go both ways Saturday. They have been chosen to start on the offensive unit also against the Buffs.

Jerry Paulson, who started the first few games for Nebraska at offensive guard before a shoulder injury sidelined him, will not be ready for the Colorado game. He will be ready in a week, according to field house trainers.

Dierks "Bullet" Rolston is also still sore and will be unable to make the trip. Rolston is an offensive halfback.

Coach Glassford named his

I-State At Missouri Saturday

The curtain went down on all practice sessions at the University of Missouri this week, as Coach Don Faurot sought to tune up his sluggish defense prior to Iowa State's invasion Saturday.

The Tigers, who've managed a lone touchdown in recent losses to S.M.U. and Oklahoma A&M, were due for a thorough re-check of offensive fundamentals—away from the public eye. Most galling to Bossman Faurot has been his club's bungling of frequent scoring chances inside the enemy 20.

"All of a sudden we just plain lack confidence in our ability to move the ball, either from the Split T or Spread," is the Faurot explanation. "Our line blocking has not been sharp, and we've been no threat as a passing team."

Truth of the later observation was never more apparent than at Stillwater last week. Oklahoma Aggie defenders made off with seven of Mizou's tosses, tying the low ebb in efficiency reached by Tiger aerialists who pitched a like number into the mits of Kansas State's secondary last year.

So, this week's 45th Missouri-Iowa State tangle, originally heralded as a Rich Mann-Tony Scardino air duel, may instead be a battle of infantry. Mann, now No. 3 among Big Seven passers, has batted 500 with 31 hits in 62 pegs for 329 yards—but has had seven intercepted. Against Colorado Saturday, it was Bill Plantan, second-string quarterback, who led ISC's two-touchdown charge in the final quarter.

Scardino, meanwhile, has not been the marksman of a year ago. The little Kansas Citian leads the loop in aerial gains with 447 yards, but his completion average (27 for '76) is anemic, and he's planted six in opposing laps.

This means that Mizou will probably count heavily on its overload crew—Bill Rowekamp, Nick Carras and Vic Eaton—for its basic yardage. Hook, operating at quarterback on the keep-pass option in both the Spread and Split T, is currently leading all Tiger ground gainers with 300 net yards in 59 stabs.

Big overload gainers for the Cyclones have been Stan Cozzi, Dick Cherpinsky and Frank Congiardo. Should Coach Abe Stuber elect to remain on the ground, the "three-C's" of the Cyclone battalion will carry the brunt of the attack.

Cozzi, who started the season at fullback, was shifted to his more familiar halfback slot in the Colorado game last week. Cozzi is the leading Iowa State earther with 232 net yards in 43 attempts and is running ninth in the conference, four pegs below Hook.

Opportunities in Optometry

Optometry is a profession offering special advantages to ambitious young men and women. Its scope is constantly expanding. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in conserving vision. There is a shortage of optometrists in many States.

The Doctor of Optometry possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders an essential service to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice.

U.S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

The Doctor of Optometry degree can be earned in three college years by a student having sixty or more semester hours of Liberal Arts credits. Such students will be admitted at mid-year by Chicago College of Optometry. Chicago College of Optometry is centrally located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is nationally accredited and is splendidly equipped. Clinical facilities are unsurpassed.
