Wright Cops Title In UMOG Race

"How about a date tonight? This is the Ugliest Man on Campus speaking."

How is that kind of an introduction going to go over with the campus beauties? That's what Charles Wright, UMOG a la 1952 is wondering. According to the man himself, "It may cut down my dating potential."

The top man on the totem pole, and considering the usual totems one could mean this literally, was chosen in a all-University election Friday from a slate of 14 candidates put up by houses which had given 100 per cent to All-University Fund. He was informed of his election just as he climbed into a car to be driven onto the field to be presented at the halftime of the Missouri game.

What was his reaction? "I was surprised—and startled." Charles, the brethren call him Charlie, appeared in an antique beaver coat

He (having just kissed her): Ah! That was indeed a triumph of mind over matter.

She: Yes, I didn't mind because you didn't matter.

He: Only a mother could love a face like that.

She: I'm about to inherit a fortune.

He: I'm about to become a mother.

Mild Pilot (just after a tailspin): I'll bet 50 per cent of the people down there thought we were going to be killed that time.

Student Pilot: Yes, sir! And 50 per cent of the people up here thought so, too.

Coed Follies Gets Face Lifted Twice

New Show To Center Around 'Travel' Theme

Two new features will highlight this year's Coed Follies, sponsored by Associated Woman Students.

Both performances, on Feb. 23-24, will be open to the public. The show will be built around a "travel" theme.

Janet Steffen, Coed Follies chairman, announced that women's organized houses will receive letters Monday requesting them to begin writing skits and choosing nominees for Typical Nebraska Coed.

Since Coed Follies will be presented to the public, the AWS Board is urging that the acts be made as professional as possible. Organizations must also make sure that their acts conform with the broad subject of "travel."

Skits will be judged during both shows, and winners will be announced the second night. The Typical Nebraska Coed will be formally introduced the first night and will appear again the second night.

AWS is asking participating organizations to submit these four items by Dec. 8:

1. Scripts for skits or curtain acts. Acts will be judged on cleverness, originality, audience appeal, polish, and costumes. However, costumes are not to be used in the tryouts.
2. Skitmaster's name, address and telephone number.
3. An alphabetical list of all the girls in each house who might participate in the skit so that each can be checked for eligibility. Girls must be carrying 12 hours and have no scholastic delinquencies.
4. The names of the TNC candidates. Each candidate must have a weighted 5.5 average, be registered for at least 12 hours, and be a sophomore, junior, or senior.

Governor Stevenson attracted 1,949 students to the polls, approximately 29 per cent of the total enrollment.

Numerically, it was the largest vote on record at the University. However, the percentage was lower than in the 1952 class elections due to the increased enrollment this semester.

Eisenhower polled 1,385 votes in his race against Governor Stevenson. Eisenhower's margin, 821 votes, was only slightly more than the margins of other Republican candidates and the mock vote was a landslide for the Republicans with one possible exception.

Republican gubernatorial candidate, Robert Crosby, did not fare as well as his party cohorts. In the only close race on the ballot Crosby won by a narrow 111 vote margin.

Crystal Ball Win Scored By Clinton

Crystal Ball Contest winners for the Oct. 24, contest fared quite well considering the many upsets.

John Bruehn, the 5th entry, missed three games, two of which ended in ties. His first place prize is $5. Bill Clinton, 2nd place winner, missed the same three games as Bruehn, but his entry was later. Paul Means garnered 3rd place with 3 misses, but he was the 25th entry.

All the winners missed the Colorado-Nebraska tie and the Pennsylvania-Navy tie.

Dunne Hess and Joe Smith, winners of previous contests, should pick up their checks in The Daily Nebraskan Business Office.

GOPs, Demos Clarify Quarrel About Rides To Polls For Voters

University Young Republicans Saturday clarified their stand on furnishing transportation of sick or disabled persons to the polls in answer to Democrat charges.

The Daily Nebraskan erroneously stated on Tuesday that Republicans would furnish transportation for any Lincolnite unable to get to the polls.

Mrs. Dorothy Diaz, chairman of Young Democrats, released the following statement Friday:

The Lincoln Star quotes the Young Republicans as admitting there was an error in The Daily Nebraskan story on a proposed car pool. "Now they say that it was their intention only to give rides to the sick and disabled and that we were making 'ridiculous charges' for taking them at their word. We think the public is not psychic and would interpret the article as written."

Dan Tolman, president of University Young Republicans, said the organization never had had any other plan than that of furnishing transportation for sick and disabled persons. Young GOP members, he said, are calling all Lincoln Republicans urging them to vote. If any of these persons say they are sick or disabled and request transportation, the Republicans will furnish them rides, Tolman said.

Mrs. Diaz further stated: "Still attempting to cover up their error, Max Harding, Young

Truman Talks On Van Fleet Incident

PRESIDENT TRUMAN accused Gen. Dwight Eisenhower of "impugning the character of patriotism" of former military comrades in an attempt to prove he can speed up the return of American soldiers from Korea. The President made the accusation after Eisenhower used a letter from Gen. James A. Van Fleet recommending that the number of South Korean divisions be doubled.

Criticizing Richard M. Nixon, GOP vice presidential candidate, Truman said the senator has "an unsavory financial record" and a "reactionary voting record."

In another speech Truman told Ohio audiences that Eisenhower is placing "tax relief ahead of national security" by promising "huge cuts in federal expenditures for national defense and aid for our allies. This kind of budget cutting means a policy of weak defenses here at home. It means weak defenses for Allies abroad."

'Ike Transformed'—Stevenson

GOV. ADLAI STEVENSON declared Friday night that "one of the tragedies of the campaign has been the transformation of Gen. Eisenhower." He said his GOP opponent returned from Europe as a symbol of Republican liberalism, but within three months he had embraced "the very men he had denounced as irresponsible." He added that "there should be some distinction between the White House and the Tower of Babel."

'Demos Fail To Explain Issues'—Ike

GEN. DWIGHT EISENHOWER branded Stevenson and Truman his "Siamese Twin Opponents" and said they failed to explain away the key campaign issues—"Korea, Communism, corruption and prosperity based on peace." The GOP presidential nominee struck out again at the latest "five-percenter" revelation saying it is proof of "administration brazenness." He pledged that if he is elected "inveives will be readily caught and "scandal headlines will disappear from the daily press."

Eisenhower again attacked Truman's recent remark that he is "running the Democratic campaign for president." The general asked: "Why do you suppose he thought he had to tell them?"

Eisenhower took one of his sharpest digs at Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama. Not mentioning the senator by name, Eisenhower said the Republican crusade will have the "indispensable support of the vice president as he presides over the Senate. Can the administration party guarantee that to you?"

Dry Weather To Help Voting

OCTOBER was the driest month in the history of weather records in Nebraska, Weather Bureau officials in Lincoln said only a trace of moisture was recorded in the past month. Omaha records told the same story. Long-range forecasts said temperatures would again average above seasonal normal with no precipitation in sight. The warm weather along with heavy registration is expected to bring huge crowds to the polls Tuesday.
