With their slim chances for the Big Seven crown all but erased after a dismal 10-6 loss to the Tigers, the Cornhuskers dug in Monday in preparation for their game with the Kansas Jayhawkers this week end.

The Huskers will go into the game at Lawrence as two touchdown underdogs. Kansas came back from a 6-6 halftime tie with the Kansas State Wildcats Saturday to win, 26-6, at Manhattan.

Coach Bill Glassford, who scoffed at Nebraska's pre-game favorite role for the Tiger clash, claimed that the NU tackling and blocking was far off the pace which the Cornhuskers threw against Colorado.

The Husker head taskmaster will no doubt drill his men thoroughly this week on fundamentals. Pass defense and pass protection have been the main details for the past few weeks.

The Huskers will face two other major powers in their last two games of the season, and will probably be picked as underdogs for the remainder of their schedule.

Oklahoma, currently ranked second to Missouri in Big Seven ratings, is a heavy favorite to win the conference crown. The Sooners' only misdeed was a tie with Colorado at Boulder. They crushed Iowa State, 41-0 Saturday.

The Husker-Sooner contest will be the final game of the season for the two clubs. It will be played at Norman on Nov. 22.

Minnesota, a highly-regarded team playing a rough Big Ten schedule, is the pre-game favorite to beat Nebraska in the Lincoln team's Homecoming game on Nov. 15.

Nebraska has an outside chance at the conference title, however, should they beat both Oklahoma and Kansas while Missouri loses to both the league powers.

Both of the remaining Big Seven games on the Cornhusker slate are out-of-town appearances. This presents more hazards in the path of the unpredictable NU team, which loom as two giant hurdles.

It is a cinch that the Huskers' position in the Big Seven at the end of the season will be higher than that of last season, however. Their 1-5-1 record barely kept them out of the cellar position in 1951, which was held by Missouri with a 1-5 showing.

The Iowa State Cyclones and Kansas State Wildcats, both beaten earlier in the season by Nebraska, are knocking on the basement door. The Ames club holds down seventh place at the present with five losses against no wins, while K-State has 0-4.

Sparks Defense

WING WIZARD . . . Bill Schabacker, 6-foot, 180 pound junior from Minden, has been a consistent spark in the magnificent Husker defensive play. It was Bill who constantly dropped the Tiger quarterback, Tony Scardino, on the famous Split-T option play, causing the Missourian to fumble and set up Husker offensive marches.

Sooner-Irish Clash Saturday To Be Telecast Over Country

A coast-to-coast telecast of the Notre Dame-Oklahoma football game Saturday, November 8 at South Bend, Ind., will be broadcast by two Oklahoma TV stations, WKY-TV of Oklahoma City and KO-TV of Tulsa.

Bud Wilkinson, Oklahoma coach, and Frank Leahy, Irish mentor, will guide their respective clubs.

Lone Senior Cager

HIGH-SCORING HUSKER . . . Joe Good, who doubles at both forward and guard on the Cornhusker cage squad, is the only senior to report to Coach Harry Good this season. The two-year starter was second only to Jim Buchanan last year in scoring for Nebraska. The NU basketball squad began practice Saturday. (Daily Nebraskan Photo by Glenn Nelson.)

Kappa Sigs, Sig Eps Enter Second Round

Post Game Gathering

The Cornhuskers now have lost two games out of their seven contests so far. In both of their losses and in their best game of the season tie with Colorado, the defense has stood up but the offense has lacked that extra scoring punch that could have meant victory.

The Missouri Tigers gave an exhibition of defense that would be commendable in any game. Time after time the Missouri team stopped NU thrusts within the Tiger 20 yard line. On the line it was Jim Martin and a 6'6", 198 pound tackle named Don Rutter who were constantly hampering the Huskers.

Offensively in the backfield it was Bill Roweckamp and the tremendous running of Jim Hook that kept the Tigers in the game all the way. Defensively, Harold Thomeczek and Ed Merrifield stole the show.

Although it was a dismal day for the Huskers, there were a few moments when the fans got a chance to cheer for the home team.

The passing of John Bordogna and the brilliant showing of Andy Loehr on aerial attacks was to advantage of the NU team. Bob Reynolds leaping catch just out of the end zone in the third quarter showed real effort.

The NU defense was not as sharp as it has been in the past, but in the second quarter just before the half a n d e d the Husker line held deep in their own territory. Bill Schabacker continued to show outstanding form as he partially blocked a punt and continually hampered the Tiger quarterback, Tony Scardino.

Ed Husmann was dumping the MU backs for long losses along with Jerry Minnick, Verl Scott, and Dennis Emanuel.

On the second half kick-off Bill Thayer completely faked out everyone on the field as he started for the right and then shifted to the right and took off down the sidelines to the MU 25. This was by far the best run by a NU man all afternoon.

The officiating of the game was at times very spotty again. One play in particular was when Reynolds was running downfield to catch a pass, he was pushed by a MU man but when he went to the referee in protest, it was to no avail. Many times Husker defenders were warned and penalized for pass interference, when, from the sidelines it looked like good defensive ball.

The Tigers were extremely sportsmanlike in their upset victory. Many times they gave the Huskers a pat on the back, and after the game they were very free with handshakes. Don Faurot brought a keyed up football club to NU and they played to win.

The winners stilled any last second-rally by the DU's towards the end of the fray as Kratt intercepted a Tolen heave and the Sig Eps stalled out the remaining seconds.

Theta Chi and Sigma Phi Epsilon took the big jump and joined the four Friday winners as second-round participants. Winning Friday were Phi Kappa Psi, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Sig Eps Win 19-14

Sigma Phi Epsilon climbed from behind into a big lead and then fought off a late Delta Upsilon rally to win a well-earned 19-14 victory. Both teams were co-champions of their respective leagues and the DU's were unbeaten going into the fray.

The losers got off with a bang. DU Dick Long intercepted a Sig Ep pass on the first play of the game and returned it to the victors' 15-yard line. Once they had the ball, the DU's lost no time as Tom Tolen passed the distance to Long and again to Gene Gray for the extra point.

The Sig Eps took over on their 15 and demonstrated the power that carried them to the 1951 All-University title. Six plays, mostly on the ground, carried the pigskin to the DU 15 from where Ted Kratt flipped to Bob Svanda for the tally.

Still trailing 6-7, the Sig Eps began to move again in the second canto. The drive again carried to the DU 15 and this time Kratt toted the ball across the goal on a wide end sweep behind terrific blocking. Kratt pitched to Al Hansen for the point and the half ended with the Sig Eps on top, 13-7.

Another 15-yard scoring punch sent the Sig Eps to victory in the third stanza. Again it was Kratt pitching and this time Bill Anderson was doing the catching and it was 19-7.

Midway in the final chucker, the losers got their offensive gears oiled and on the strength of Tolen's aerials, moved to the Sig Ep 17 from where Tolen fired to Ron Ovendon for the score. Ovendon also gathered in the pass of the fourteenth point.

The winners stilled any last second-rally by the DU's towards the end of the fray as Kratt intercepted a Tolen heave and the Sig Eps stalled out the remaining seconds.

Kappa Sigs Edge

Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta hooked up in a real thriller as the Kappa Sigs out-gained the Phi Deltas by a scant two yards to win in yardage overtime, 8-7.

It was 7-7 at the completion of the regulation timing and the winners roared off in fine style, amassing 31 yards in their four attempts. The Phi Deltas were almost as good, however, as they piled up 29 yards in their first three tries and had the game on their fourth attempt, only to have a pass fall through the arms of a receiver 15 yards downfield.

The Kappa Sigs scored their seven counters early in the contest as Ed Berg fired an 11-yard aerial to Stan Ebner for a touchdown three minutes deep in the initial period. Berg also connected with John Gibbons on the vital extra-point pass.

Both teams battled on scoreless terms until the final four minutes of the game. Louie Roper and Tom Harley co-operated to nudge the losers into a 7-7 tie at that point. Roper's 19-yard heave found Harley in the end-zone for the big one and the same two produced the tying counter.

1st Period T.D. Is Edge

Theta Chi scored a first-quarter touchdown and extra-point and then spent the rest of the contest fighting off Delta Sigma Phi to win a 7-6 ball game.

Jack Nichols gathered in a 26-yard first quarter heave for the winners to put them ahead and it was enough to win.

The Delta Sigs narrowed the count in the second canto on a four-yard aerial from L. G. Lawrence to John Kelley but the important seventh point was kept off the books by the Theta Chi defenders.

The second half found both teams threatening, the losers three times, but the defense prevailed and the TC's were in the second round.
