It's hard to date women workers. They aren't satisfied with a good time—they want time-and-a-half.

Who says you never know what the weather will be in Nebraska? Except for being a little cooler (high about 55), tomorrow will be the same as the past few weeks.

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

Conductor Wishnow Also Teaches, Plays Violin

Teacher, violinist, conductor. Emanuel Wishnow, Director of the University's string department, has won recognition in these three distinct musical fields. During his ten years as conductor of the University Symphony Orchestra, 13 years as head of the University's string department, and as concertmaster of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra since 1936, Wishnow has proved his soundness in all musical capacities.

This year, in addition to his many University duties, Wishnow will travel 11,000 miles to rehearse and perform with the Omaha Symphony Orchestra of which he is guest conductor this season.

A native of England, Wishnow lived in Boston and studied violin with Max Stearns. He earned his baccalaureate degree in 1922 from the University and later received his master's degree from New York University. He majored in musicology, a scientific study of music which embraces history, acoustics and the phase of study concerned with the authenticity of manuscripts.

A pupil of the late Jacques Gordon, Wishnow played in concert with the famed Gordon String Quartet at Music Mountain, Falls Village, Conn. and for the Whitehall series at the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C.

During the summers of 1949 and 1950, Wishnow studied with Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. Wishnow was one of Maitre Monteux's selected class and was chosen to conduct at the end of a special concert at the end of the summer. During the summer of 1951, Wishnow conducted the Omaha Symphony Orchestra in four Pop concerts.

Again this winter, Wishnow is appearing in a series of chamber music recitals in Lincoln and Omaha in an effort to bring ensemble music before the public before the public.

In addition to his other musical duties, Wishnow is regular conductor of the high school orchestra at the University's All State Fine Arts summer course. Last year, he also conducted

The political campaign seems to have frustrated at least one University student. Bemoaning the accusations, mud-slinging and lies of the last few months, the student Tuesday came up with a practical suggestion to make it easier for voters who are left disillusioned and dejected by American politicking.

The solution? A special square on the ballot labeled "I Don't Care."

Only 80 per cent of the faculty's quota for the Community Chest-Red Cross drive has been reached, Lee W. Chatfield, assistant to the Dean of Student Affairs and head of the faculty drive, reported to the Daily Nebraskan Tuesday.

$13,800 goal of the faculty drive to fulfill the Community Chest-Red Cross quota for the entire University.

P. M. Headlines

Korea: Allies Hold

SEOUL, KOREA—Red troops failed to capture Heartbreak and Sniper Ridges in attacks launched Tuesday. The Allies beat off twin assaults on the Eastern and Central fronts. However, it was the quietest day along most of the front in almost a month.

The Communists launched their attack in Eastern Korea for the first time in recent weeks with a 700-man attack against Heartbreak Ridge. Allied troops killed or wounded at least 100 Communists in four hours. The Reds also had five nuisance attacks against United Nations troops in Punchbowl Valley about 25 miles east of Heartbreak.

U.N.: Three Resolutions

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Canada told Russia the fighting must stop in Korea before there can be any political settlement. It urged the United Nations to support the American sponsored resolution "so that the enemy may know our unanimity of purpose in seeking an armistice in Korea worthy of the sacrifices made by countless individuals in the struggle to throw back aggression."

Three main compromise efforts in the Korean crisis are expected to be formally introduced:

1. An Indonesian plan to combine American and Russian resolutions. It would agree with the Red theory that return of war prisoners is diplomatic practice but would call for an "exception" in Korea because of the special nature of the U.N. "police action" there.

2. A Mexican resolution providing that prisoners unwilling to go home be re-settled in U.N. member countries willing to accept them.

3. A Peruvian plan providing for an immediate cease-fire and creation of a new U.N. commission to settle the war prisoner question.

The American proposal formally introduced last week provides for U.N. endorsement of non-forcible repatriation of prisoners and for an appeal to the Reds to accept a truce on these terms.

The Russian resolution would create a new U.N. commission to seek settlement of the Korean question. It does not mention the prisoner issue.
