Wyatt Finds Cheer In Vote

SPRINGFIELD, ILL. — Wilson Wyatt, Gov. Adlai Stevenson's campaign manager, found a cheering note on a day when most of the Democratic party was feeling pretty blue.
"The total popular vote cast for Stevenson was greater than that heretofore received by any Republican candidate in history," he said. "The great outpouring of votes should be a heartening thing to all Americans."
Wyatt, who refused to concede defeat until the last vestige of hope disappeared, held a final news conference at which he said he and Stevenson's aides were unanimous in the belief that Stevenson would head the Democratic ticket in 1956.

Eisenhower To Have Friendly Congress

WASHINGTON—President-elect Dwight Eisenhower probably could count Thursday on a friendly Congress to underwrite the domestic and foreign policy changes mandated by the volcanic eruption of votes that gave him the presidency.
The friendliness of Congress—Republican by only one vote in the Senate and thus far by only two votes in the House—lays in the warmth of regard for the general shared by Southern Democrats in the coalition with Republicans which has controlled legislation for the last four years.
Although most of the Southerners publicly supported Gov. Adlai Stevenson, there was little doubt that many of them felt more closely aligned to Eisenhower's views on domestic problems than to those of the Democratic nominee.

All Counties Go Republican

LINCOLN—All of Nebraska's 93 counties appeared to have wound up in Eisenhower's column.
Saline County, which has been on the side of the Democratic presidential nominee for at least the past 24 years, swung over giving Eisenhower 4,092 votes and Stevenson 2,748.
Two neighboring counties, Sarpy—the smallest in land area—and Douglas—the largest in population—remained on the winning side in the presidential race for the 10th consecutive election.
Since 1916, the two counties have voted with the nation in selecting the president. Only in 1944 was there any danger that Sarpy would break its winning streak. That year, Sarpy gave the late Franklin D. Roosevelt the majority by only 13 votes.

Dewey Cinch For Cabinet Spot

WASHINGTON—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York appeared to top the list from which General Eisenhower will pick his cabinet. Sen. Fred A. Seaton of Nebraska; defeated Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. of Massachusetts; John Foster Dulles; Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire; and Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas are also included. Gov. Earl Warren of California has been mentioned as a possible choice for attorney general.
WASHINGTON—Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon is silent on how he will vote when the time comes for distributing Senate committee chairmanships and the like. His position assumes new importance because the Senate includes 48 Republicans and 47 Democrats.

Orchestra Will Feature Symphonic Poem Sunday

CUMMINGS TO SING OPERA NUMBERS
Something new, at least to this campus, will be featured on the program presented by the University symphony orchestra concert at 8 p. m. Sunday in the Union Ballroom.
The orchestra, under the direction of Emauel Wishnow, will play a symphonic poem, "Lew Preludes" by Liszt. This is the first time a musical selection of this type has been played on the campus.

Chief Judge Will Visit Law College

Judge Dharmasakti Sanya, chief judge for the 14 northern provinces of the Thailand, will visit the University Law College during his stay with Chief Justice Robert G. Simmons of the Nebraska Supreme Court, Nov. 7 to 15.
Mr. Sanya said he is interested in exchanging views with faculty members and discussing law and culture of Thailand with students. He said he hopes to develop a broader understanding of the American way of life.

Union To End Square Dances Saturday P. M.

Students will be heading for "the Last Round-Up" of the semester this Saturday night.
The last Union square dance will be held Saturday in Union parlors X, Y, Z from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m.
Music for "The Last Round-Up" will be furnished by pianist Elizabeth Sofin and drummer Ray Baldwin. Bob Purdy will do the calling for the dances.
Representatives from several Lincoln square dance groups will also be on hand to demonstrate some of the more complicated square dance steps. They will also provide dance assistance where needed.
Ed Weaver, caller at the square dance series last year, will be a special guest at the dance.
This square dance is open to all students.
The dance is on the Union and refreshments will be served during the evening.
The dance is being sponsored by the Union Square Dance committee under the chairmanship of Jean Sweeney.

Left Overs

I know a man who wanted to make sure his home would be warm in winter, so he made the painter give it two coats.

At the ROTC parade Wednesday I overheard the following conversation:
Colonel: Why didn't you salute me yesterday?
Private: I didn't see you, sir.
Colonel: Good, I was afraid you were mad at me.

The weather will remain about the same with clear blue skies and cold breezes. It will be a bit colder than yesterday but the wind will not be quite so strong.

"Dad, give me a dime."
"Not today, Junior. Not today."
"Dad, if you'll give me a dime, I'll tell you what the ice-man said to Mama this morning."
"Here son, quick—what did he say?"
"He said, 'How much ice do you want this morning?'"

French Club Sets Thursday Entertainment

A three-part entertainment program will highlight a meeting of the French Club at 4 p. m. Thursday in Parlor Z of the Union.
The program will open with a musical sketch performed by students from French classes. It is entitled "Ou Vas-tu Basile?"
The second portion, a dramatic skit, will be "Blonde or Brunette?"
All members of the club will participate in the last part of the program, singing of French favorites including "Au Claire de la Lune," "Au Pres de la Blonde" and "Chevaliers de la Table Ronde."

Women Added To HC Display Judging Team

Something new has been added. This year's group of Homecoming house decoration judges will include two women—for the "feminine touch." They are Marge Mengesholl, manager of Magee advertising department and Charlotte Workman, manager of Howland-Swanson's advertising department.

Completing the group will be Col. C. J. Frankforter, professor of chemistry; Frank Hallgren, assistant dean of student affairs, and Manfred Keiler, professor of art.

Judging of decorations will begin immediately after the pep assembly Nov. 14. Awards for winning decorations will be presented by Don Noble, president of Innocents, at the Homecoming Dance.

Last year's first-place winners in fraternity and sorority divisions were Sigma Chi and Alpha Xi Delta.

Poets Are Not Brilliant And Wealthy Says Auden At Convocation Thursday

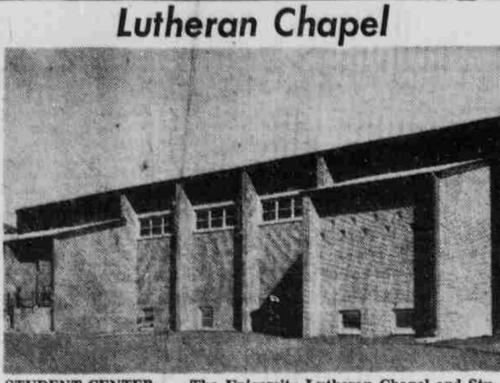

By TOM WOODWARD
Staff Writer

Poets are not always brilliant men, nor do they amass great sums of money in their work, W. H. Auden, noted English poet, pointed out at an All-University Convocation Thursday.

Auden quoted from articles in the New York Times saying that poets had no special insight to the problems of the world, but were ordinary people who were willing to follow certain rules for the expressing of their thoughts.

Auden noted that there are "Natural and historical happenings" and that historical can not be definitely described with numbers as can natural phenomena. He gave examples of how natural happenings can be described by using formulae and numbers, but stated that historical happenings are not so easily explained.

Because poetry is an historical happening, it is impossible to state that one poem is better than another, Auden added. He said that a machine can be said to be perfect if it is what it should be, but a poem, to be perfect, must have perfect form, and also a well defined thought or message.
Auden also brought out that one poem can not be classified as older than another. He gave an example of poems separated by centuries, but their thought content and rhyming system is very similar.
A person cannot truly understand a poem unless he has actually lived the event, and many times this is impossible, he said. The only thing left, he added, is not to say that real understanding is reached.
Auden pointed out that writing poetry is not simply setting down one's emotions. He noted that there are definite rules concerning the presentation of those thoughts. Syntax, rhyme, and form all put definite restraints on the way that words can be used while writing poetry, but they do not put any limits on the thoughts that the author may care to express.
A poet, he added, should not be

651 Prepster Journalists Meet At NU

Students from 46 high schools have made advance registration for the 21st annual Nebraska High School Press Association convention which begins Friday on the University campus. Approximately 70 delegates are expected in addition to the 581 pre-registered representatives.

Included in the program for the two-day meeting are talks by several journalists, clinics on improving yearbooks and newspapers, competitive contests and panel discussions. William Hice, assistant professor of journalism at the University, is convention director.

Contests will be conducted in news writing, journalistic vocabulary, sports writing, editorial writing, feature writing, copyreading and editing, proofreading, current events, photography, advertising writing, headline writing, news interpretation, and sports column writing.

Eighty-one awards will be presented to contest winners at the convention luncheon Saturday noon. Highlight of the luncheon will be the presentation of the Omaha World Herald plaques to one mimeographed newspaper and two printed newspapers which were judged outstanding during the 1951-52 school year. The Grand Island trophy will be given to the outstanding 1952 yearbook.

The high school journalists will receive assignments which they are to cover for their special Saturday morning edition of the Daily Nebraskan Friday afternoon in the Nebraska office. The regular staff will still supervise headline writing and make-up, but all the copy will be strictly that of the high school students. Each school attending the convention will send one delegate for each ten representatives from their school.

Variety To Keynote Review As Arab, Hillbilly Acts Qualify

By DEL HARDING
Staff Writer
If variety is the spice of life then this year's line-up of Kosmet Klub skits is well spiced. Everything from Hillbillies to Arabs will greet the audience at the Klub's Fall Review.

The six fraternities chosen to perform in the Nov. 20 show are: Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Phi Delta Theta and Zeta Beta Tau. Alpha Tau Omega and Beta Sigma Psi will put on curtain acts not to be judged.

"The Big Manhattan Bargain," is the title of the Beta skit, which is based upon the $24 sale by the Indians of Manhattan Island to the white men. Stu Reynolds is skit director.

"Guys and No Dolls," the sad story of the 4-1 ratio of men to women on the campus, is the name of the Delta skit, directed by Tom Beal.

"Sheik of Araby," directed by Ben Lonard, is the title of the Sigma Chi skit. The story deals with the kidnapping by black rifs of the queen of the white rifs, and the struggle to recapture her.

Dave Brandon directs the Sig Eps skit, "You Can't Eat a College Education," the story of a hillbilly who goes to college and returns home to find the value of his training somewhat doubtful.

"The Comedy Hour," directed by Bill Devries, is a Phi Delta skit take-off on TV comedy programs.

"Kiss Me in South Saturn, Kate," is the ZBT's skit, directed by Marshall Kushner. The story concerns a group of students at Unverser University who campaign throughout the universe for Kate, their candidate for Comet Club Queen.

The skits were judged by Dean Frank Hallgren, KK president, Don Devries, Bill Adams, Arnold Stern, Thom Snyder, John Ellwell, Rocky Yapp and Mac Bailey.

'Round-Up' Dance Set For Saturday

Saturday evening will be "Round-Up" night in the Union. "Dancing-in-the-Round-Up" is scheduled Saturday night from 8:30 p. m. to midnight in the Round-Up Room on the main floor of the Union.

These Round-Up dances are a new weekly Union feature. They are informal date dances at which students may "come and go" as they like.

Music for the dance is furnished by records and students attending the dance may have their favorite records played by request.

Twenty-One Form Frosh Actor Group

Twenty-one freshmen have organized the University Freshman Acting Group under the direction of David Hayes.

At this stage, Hayes said, they are doing more than saying lines; they are learning techniques of line reading and the correct body movements. During the first couple of weeks they heard lectures on the job of an actor.
