

Miniature Of Football Team In Action Wins $100 Prize For Lincoln Hobby Shop

Nebraska's football team in miniature won $100 prize money for a Lincoln business man.

The model won first place for Dick's Pen Shop in a "back to school" display contest.

It consisted of the Cornhusker football team in action in a miniature of Memorial Stadium. The display was erected in the hobby shop's window.

During home games, the miniature's scoreboard registered the score of the game as it progressed.

Ted Conner, varsity football player, helped prepare the prize winning display. The display was one of the first prize winners out of 40 thousand entries in the national contest.

Coed Convinces Austrians U.S. Is Not All Cowboys

By DEL SNODGRASS
She did not appear in public wearing a pair of sixshooters strapped to a pair of Levis. She convinced the Austrians that Americans do not live entirely out of cans. She convinced some Austrians that Americans can work with their hands as well as with machinery. She convinced some Austrians that life in America is not always like that portrayed in the movies.

These are a few of the accomplishments of Mary Ann Grundman who spent last summer in Austria as an International Farm Youth Exchange student. Miss Grundman lived on three farms during her stay in Austria. She helped with the field work as well as house work, convincing the Austrians that Americans are not afraid to work. She said there has been great progress in Austrian youth organizations, similar to American 4-H clubs. Miss Grundman traveled in Italy as well as in Austria, making the trip with members of a youth organization.

Opinion Split . . .

the University, said "I think it was a bad deal that the Mortar Board was cancelled." Coats added that he thought the Mortar Boards should have made arrangements for a band, even though it would not have been a particularly well-known one. He added, "a local bunch would be better than nothing at all, which is what we have now." Coats also raised the question, "Why couldn't we have the ball in the Spring?" He added that he thought there should be a Mortar Board Ball either with a local band or a big name band at some later date, or on the day scheduled. Ruth Wiebe gave her opinion of the cancellation by saying, "They (the Mortar Boards) should have been more sure of the band before the date was set definitely." Miss Wiebe added that she thought there should be comparable occasion held the evening that the ball was scheduled. She added that she thought the girls should take their dates out for the evening. Bridget Watson, Lincoln sophomore, said that she favored the plan of girls taking the boys out. She suggested the girls take their dates to dinner and dancing for an evening, and try to carry on the Mortar Board tradition—"the lady says."

Agnes Anderson, sophomore from Lincoln, gave her opinion by saying, "I think it (the cancellation) is a good deal! This way I'll have more money for Christmas gifts." Miss Anderson added that she thought the two big occasions came too close to each other. "They, poor guys, don't have the strength for two weekends of dancing," she said.

Jack Skalla, freshman student, said he thought the cancelling was "really a shame." He favored having the dance anytime that a band that played good music could be booked. Skalla added, "They (the Mortar Boards) ought to sponsor something to replace the ball."

Ann Kokier, sophomore, said she thought it was "too bad that the ball is not going to be held this year," and added, "I favor having the ball later in the spring when I have my income tax return check, and have money again." Miss Kokier said that she favored having the ball even though a big-name band could not be booked.

Roland Arndt said he thought cancellation of the ball was "a horrible shame because many freshmen were looking forward to it, especially the males." Arndt shared the opinion of many others by saying that he favored having a local band if "the music was well-rounded and good."

Mimi Hamer and Jerry Roe, recently pinned couple, both thought the cancellation of the ball was "too bad." Both favored having the ball even though no nationally known band could be booked. Miss Hamer thought the cancellation was unfortunate because it broke one of the long standing traditions at the University, and "we don't have too many traditions." Roe said that not having the ball would make it difficult to present the Eligible Bachelors and Beauty Queens because of the problem of gaining student interest in any other occasion when the honors could be bestowed.

National Science Foundation Offers Graduate Fellowships

The National Science Foundation has announced its second graduate fellowship program for the academic year 1953-54. These fellowships, which are limited to U. S. citizens, will be awarded for graduate study in the biological, engineering, mathematical, medical, and physical sciences.

Selections of the 500 Fellows to receive a year of graduate study are made on the basis of ability. The rating system will consist of test scores of scientific aptitude and achievement, academic records, and recommendations regarding the individual's merit. Postdoctoral applicants will not be required to take the examinations.

Graduating college seniors in sciences are eligible to apply for the fellowships. The awards for predoctoral Fellows range from $1400 to $1800; for postdoctoral Fellows, $3400. In addition, tuition as well as limited allowances for dependents and travel to a Fel-

Morrill Hall Art Exhibit Commences

The paintings of Nahum Tschabasov, whose one-man exhibition opened in Morrill Hall Sunday, have been exhibited in important national art exhibitions since 1942.

His work is included in the permanent collections of art museums throughout the world, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York City; the Tel Aviv Museum in Tel Aviv, Israel, and the universities of Alabama, Georgia, Illinois and Nebraska.

The 16th annual All-Nebraska Show, sponsored by the Lincoln Artists Guild and the Associated Artists of Omaha, also opened Sunday in Morrill.

This exhibition of the work of Nebraska painters was shown in Omaha in October. The paintings were judged earlier in the year by Jim Hunt, director of the Mulvane Art Center, Topeka, Kansas.

The Nebraska show will continue through Dec. 28, and the one-man exhibit will be open through Dec. 14.

Recreational Swims Open For Women

Recreational swims for women students and staff members, lasting from 2 to 3 p.m. and sponsored by the Physical Education Department, began Saturday.

The pool will also be open for these swims on Dec. 7, 13, and Jan. 10, 17.

Swimmers are required to bring their own bathing caps and bathing shoes. All upperclassmen must have a permit from Student Health to participate.

Ten cents is charged for each swim in order to cover the use of suits, towels and the Coliseum pool.

Bishop, Three Students To Receive John Henry Newman Awards Sunday

The John Henry Newman honorary award will be presented to Bishop Louis B. Kucera of the diocese of Lincoln and to three University students at a banquet following the Newman Club initiation Sunday.

The three students are James Rose, president of Newman Club, Carol Griffin and Katherine Steinwarter.

The award, which consists of a certificate and a key, certifies that Bishop Kucera and the three students have been elected into membership of the John Henry Newman honorary society in recognition of their work in furthering the program of Newman Club.

The initiation will be held in the Knights of Columbus Hall at 4 p.m. The banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m. in the Lincoln Hotel Ballroom. Rev. Conrad J. Marzama of the staff of St. Mary's Cathedral will be the guest speaker.

National Academy Of Sciences Offers Fellowships In Six Scientific Fields

The National Academy of Sciences, National Research Council, has announced several national fellowship programs for the 1953-54 academic year.

Fellowship programs now offered are sponsored by the National Science Foundation, composed of Merck and Company, Inc., Lilly Research Laboratories, Radio Corporation of America, Rockefeller Foundation, National Tuberculosis Assoc., James Pickler Foundation and American Cancer Society.

Fellowships are offered in the agricultural, biological, engineering, mathematical, medical and physical sciences at predoctoral and postdoctoral levels.

No fellowships are awarded to individuals who wish to prepare for clinical practice of medicine or dentistry. Applicants will, however, be D.D.S. degrees who wish to prepare for careers in medical or dental research.

Predocctoral fellowships in electronics are also administered by the National Research Council to students who have completed one year of graduate training.

Fellowships in all the natural sciences and inter-allied fields are opened and study may be pursued in any institution of advanced fellowship training in the United States or abroad approved by the Fellowship Boards. Appointments are made for one year with basic awards of $3,000 to $3,400 with additional allowance for dependents and travel.

Applications for National Science Foundation postdoctoral awards must be received in the Fellowship Office on or before Jan. 5. For all other postdoctoral fellowships, applications must be postmarked not later than Dec. 16.

The Academy encourages potential applicants to write to the National Research Council stating their field of specialization, age and study plans so that appropriate information material may be sent.

Information and application blanks may be secured for any of the programs by writing to the Fellowship Office, National Research Council, 2101 Constitution Ave., N.W., Washington 25, D.C.

Nebraska May Enter December Chess Meet

The University has been invited to send a chess team to the National Intercollegiate Chess Team Tournament to be held at Columbia University Dec. 26-30.

The tournament will consist of seven rounds of four-board matches played according to the Swiss system. Substitute players will be permitted.

Any University undergraduate interested in attending the tournament should see Stan Sipple, Union recreation chairman, in the Union activities office.

An entry fee of $15 per team is required. Of this fee, $10 will be paid the United States Chess Federation for club membership dues.

No further payments will be required.

The winning team will receive custody of the Phillips Trophy, now held by Columbia. Entries, accompanied by fees, must be sent to the tournament secretary by Dec. 15.

Each team is asked to bring its own chess clocks and sets.

No Definite Plans Made To Present Beauty Queens

According to Pat Bechan, Cornhusker Editor, no new plans have been made for presentation of the 1953 Cornhusker Beauty Queen finalists.

The twelve finalists, selected Wednesday night, were to be presented at the Mortar Board Ball Dec. 12.

Due to the sudden cancellation of the Ball, no date has been set for their presentation.

Income Tax Study Course To Open On Ag Campus

Farmers having troubles and worries over their income tax will have an opportunity to obtain help through a short income tax course being offered on the Ag campus Dec. 11-12.

Dr. L. B. Snyder, associate professor of agricultural economics, is in charge of the course. He said the first session will concern the fundamentals of income tax law. The second period will deal with more advanced and technical interpretations of income tax law.
