Tradition, Ceremony Highlight Opening Of Formal Season

Joan Hanson, blue-eyed and brown-haired senior is the new Honorary Commandant of University Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC.

She was presented at the Military Ball Friday evening at the Coliseum. The Ball traditionally opens the campus formal social season.

Miss Hanson who was elected Honorary Commandant by the Candidate Officers Association, is enrolled in Teachers College, where she is studying special education.

Campus honors are nothing new to Miss Hanson. She has served as President of the Red Cross College Unit and is President of All-University Fund. She was chosen 1952 Typical Nebraska Girl and is a member of Mortar Board.

The presentation ceremony on the stage of the Coliseum was symbolic of the Air Force ROTC, sponsors of the ball this year. The curtains opened to show the Honorary Commandant with a parachute billowing behind her as if she had alighted on the stage. She was met by Wayne Handshy, President of the Candidate Officers Association, who escorted her beneath an arch formed by a Saber Guard.

Candidate officers and their ladies joined in the Grand March, a tradition which like the Ball itself, dates back to 1895.

Following the march, Miss Hanson and Handshy officially began the Ball with a waltz. The University ROTC Symphonic Band played a concert before the presentation and provided music for the Grand March.

Preceding the March the Pershing Rifles Crack Squad performed a precision drill routine before spectators that nearly filled the Coliseum balconies.

A color guard of ROTC and AFROTC students opened the ceremonies, bearing flag and University banner while the band played the National Anthem.

From the ceilings hung three regulation parachutes in inverted position as principal decorations. The chutes covered batteries of lights that shone through the silk.

Richard Schubert, senior AFROTC student, was master of ceremonies.

As the opening waltz ended Billy May and his orchestra took up where the ROTC band left off and dancing began by all officers and their ladies and then by the public.

Cornhusker Queens Feted At Annual Ball

Twelve Cornhusker beauty queen finalists were presented at the Military Ball Friday night in the Coliseum.

They are:
Charney Taub, a junior in Teachers College, is All University Fund assistant and pledge trainer for Sigma Delta Tau.

Sandra Ledingham, a freshman, is a member of Orchestras, Union worker and affiliated with Alpha Phi.

Pat Nellis, a sophomore in Teachers College, cheerleader and a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Milti Marquese, a sophomore in the College of Agriculture, YWCA, and member Alpha Chi Omega.

Catherine Corp, a senior in Arts and Science, Pre-Orchestra, YWCA, and a member of Pi Beta Phi.

Mimi DuTeau, a sophomore in Teachers College, Orchestras, AUF, Coed Counselor, Builders and affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Pat Forsythe, a sophomore in the College of Agriculture, Red Cross, AUF, Woman's Athletic Association and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Lee Ellen Creaman, a senior in Teachers College, Coed Counselor and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

P. M. Headlines

By SALLY ADAMS
Staff Writer

MacArthur Has Korean Plan

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR said "there is a clear and definite solution to the Korea conflict"—one without "an unduly heavy price in friendly casualties or any increased danger of provoking universal conflict."

The former Far Eastern commander said the present course in Korea was leading toward a world war. "There has been a material change in conditions from those of 20 months ago when I left the scene of action," he said, "and the solution then available and capable of success is not now entirely applicable." He did not say how the "change in conditions" might alter his proposal made then which included bombing Red Chinese bases in Manchuria, blockading the Red China coast, and using Nationalist Chinese forces.

Eisenhower Returns From Korea

PRESIDENT-ELECT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER is on his way home from Korea. After three days of visiting the front lines and talking to military officials, he left behind him:

1. A statement that "much can be done, much will be done" to improve the situation without spreading the war to the Chinese Communist mainland. However, he said there was no easy solution to the Korean problem.

2. A promise that the South Korean Army will get "bigger and better" during his administration, and that economic aid will continue.

3. A cheered President Syngman Rhee, described as "more confident than ever" after his talks with the general.

Senators Ask Action On MacArthur Plan

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS have demanded immediate action on Gen. MacArthur's secret new plan for ending the Korean War. They urged both Truman and Eisenhower to consult the former Far Eastern commander. A Defense Department spokesman said any communication from the general would receive direct attention from the Joint Chiefs of Staff and Defense Secretary Lovett.

Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin said, "I hope and trust that Gen. Eisenhower utilizes the great talents of Gen. MacArthur in ending this conflict."

Sen. Dworshak (R-Ida.) said, "Recalling that Republicans universally criticized Mr. Truman for firing MacArthur and ignoring his recommendations, it would now appear logical that both the President and the President-elect would take advantage of Gen. MacArthur's generous offer."

AUF Auction

Queens, Football Team, Pie Targets To Be Sold

Going! Going! Gone!
That will be the cry ringing through the Union ballroom, Wednesday, Dec. 10, at the All University Fund Auction.

Since its beginning in 1948, students who have attended the auction have bought everything from the services of baby sitters to pages of The Daily Nebraskan.

This year, auctioneer Bob Bachman will be auctioning off the Six Beauty Queens, Nebraska Sweetheart Barb Adams and Pop Queen Norma Lothrop. In addition, Prince Kosmet Joe Good and Uglitest Man on Campus Charlie Wright will be "sold" to the highest bidders.

During the AUF Auction of 1949, a page of The Daily Nebraskan was sold for $150. Interested in the success of the auction in 1949, the Innocents society offered plints of blood and pounds of flesh. Finally, the auctioneer was asked to sell his own services as car washer, diaper washer and Santa Claus.

In 1950, The Innocents and Mortar Boards sold their respective services to the highest bidders. This year, the two Societies will again be auctioned off.

Barb's day was the keynote of the 1951 auction. Marvin Grimm cheerfully paid $2 for the privilege of using Henry Ceph's face as a pie target. Dick Worrall's face was sold for a slightly higher price of $4 to Marilyn Mangold for pie-throwing privileges. Again this year, Worrall and Jim Terry will both sell their services as pie targets.

Sigma Delta Tau had the services of three busboys for an evening as a result of the auction. They paid $11 to have professors William Hall, Sumner House and Rev. Rex Knowles bus for them. The costliest purchase of the Cornhusker staff and Corn Cobs. They paid $80 for the right to publish one complete issue of The Daily Nebraskan.

The AUF board members also found their services worth $20 to the Union. They spent an evening serving dinner to Union board and committee members.

Fappa Kappa Gamma knew a "be" when they saw one during the 1952 auction. They bought the entire football team for $30. They also paid $10 for the services of the 13 Innocents.

Items to be auctioned off this year include: Two male faculty members to serve as bus boys for a day; a food package made by the Home Economics Club; the football team; pie targets and queens.

Tickets for the Auction are 25 cents and go on sale Monday. They will also be sold at the door.

"I Hate Poetry," Says Comic Poet

He introduced himself as "Kewpy" Bill Doll, originator of the three-verse, three-minute poem. But he hates poetry.

Opening a paper-filled brief case, he produced a 39-page book of poems on what he called, real people and actual experiences. "The book is a collection of Doll's rhymes written with notations of the circumstances under which the verses were written.

Doll, who says his home is wherever he is, goes about promoting his book along with an additional "personal" poem for each purchaser. Often he makes the proposition: The personal poem in three minutes brings double the price of the book and over three minutes the book and poem are free.

"I hate poetry," Doll burst out to the members of The Daily Nebraskan staff clustered about him.

What he means, he said, is that he does not like heavy poetry, pieces about nature and public shrines, for instance.

"I want my poetry to rhyme," he emphasized. "Guess I'm just old fashioned but I don't like blank verse and free verse."

Aside from promoting his book, Doll does a one-man comedy routine for night clubs and parties, writes more poems,

Four-Phase Program Set For Michigan

A 10-day Christmas party—including Christmas dinner and entertainment—is available for University foreign students during their Christmas vacations.

The party is called the "Christmas Adventure in World Understanding," and will be held at Michigan State College Dec. 23 through Jan. 1.

Foreign students from colleges and universities all over the nation will participate in a program of "community visits" sponsored by the Continuing Education Service of Michigan State College. The party will include opportunities to:

1. Gain a clear and accurate picture of America.

2. Extend the understanding of American customs and living standards in a natural every-day environment.

3. Expand the students' views and offer them a broad and accurate perception of opinions, concerns and attitudes of the people of the United States.

4. Have a rich and stimulating experience during a period which otherwise might be unproductive.

Some of the highlights of the party will be visits to farm families in Central Michigan, dinners in private homes in Lansing, visits to business and industrial concerns, discussions of the American educational system and interviews and seminars with world-famous personalities.

The cost of the entire Christmas Adventure is $80 per student. This will include room, meals and all entertainment. However, the cost of transportation to and from Michigan State will be paid by the student.

A number of $50 scholarships are available for those interested in participating in the program. Students wishing application blanks for the adventure should see Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, foreign student adviser, 103 Administration.

Deadline for making application is Dec. 10.

Religious Welfare Council Accepts New Constitution

Religious Welfare Council Thursday night approved a proposed constitution for the University Council on Religion.

The Council on Religion would coordinate activities and organization of the Religious Welfare Council, Ag Religious Council and Religious Workers Association.

The constitution must be approved by the other two bodies, the Student Council, campus religious organizations, Faculty Senate and the Chancellor.

The Council on Religion, under the proposed constitution, would consist of four subsidiary bodies:

1. City Campus Religious Council, replacing the present Religious Welfare Council.

2. Ag Religious Council.

3. Religious Workers Association.

4. Advisory Board, a new council composed of representatives of the other three.

The single constitution and the Advisory Board will provide the primary coordinating features in reorganization.

The Board will advise other religious bodies, interpret the constitution, provide organization for joint religious activities and generally supervise the overall program of the Council on Religion.

Ag Religious Council and Religious Workers Association would remain essentially as organized.

The City Campus Religious Council (CCRC) would be constructed similarly to the present Religious Welfare Council, with the following major changes:

1. Unanimous vote of student house representatives present at a meeting would be required for approval of official CCRC projects. Majority vote was previously required.

2. Officers would be elected during February to prevent a break in CCRC functioning.

3. Three vice-presidents would head Search Week Committee and two other commissions to be established by CCRC.

4. CCRC would encourage and supervise activities not sponsored by CCRC but participated in by two or more member student houses.

The constitution will be presented to the Student Council this week. Other religious bodies have not acted on the reorganization plan.

AFROTC

75 NU Cadets To See Active Duty In 1954

Seventy-five University senior Air Force Reserve Officer Cadets will be affected by an order calling 8,000 AFROTC students into active service in 1954 according to Lt. Col. Alex Jamieson, professor of air science and tactics.

He said that all the seniors in advanced Air Force courses would be called to serve the minimum of two years unless they have previous service or are taking graduate work. Not all types of graduate students would be granted a delay in orders, he said. Only the students seeking higher degrees in courses essential to the Air Force would receive the delay in orders.

The Air Force order said that the Reserve Officers would receive their orders for active duty within four months of their commissioning dates.

Lt. Col. Jamieson said that this order would not affect the juniors in AFROTC courses, but if present world conditions still exist at the expiration date, April 30, 1954, it would be extended for another period.

Each block of the rug is to have an "N" woven into the pattern.

The parlors were redecored from plans drawn by Lake and Richard Larson, director of foods and services. Lake said that the parlors had had the disadvantage of not being well sound-proofed. Person meeting in the center of the three parlors, which were divided by wooden doors, often heard programs from the two meeting on either side of them, he added.

The rugs are being made-to-order in the pattern that is being used in the entire redecoration program, Modern Oriental.

The new decorations include padding of the doors with a plastic material called "bambu." The material looks much like split bamboo used in interior decorating plans, and when backed with a cushioning material, forms effective sound-proofing wall.

Lake said that the old French-window type doors at the entrance of the parlors has been changed to the four-window upholstered type, which carried through the over-all redecoration plan for the three parlors.

Plant boxes for the parlors were designed by Lake and Larson, and were built by the Prisoner Manufacturing group at the state penitentiary in Lincoln. Lake said that the plant boxes served one of the inmates this summer. The prisoner hid in one of the boxes and managed to disappear when the boxes were shipped to the University from the prison.

Lake said that the entire program presented an expense of over $2,800, with the carpet material representing an expense of more than $1,700. The savings made possible by being "our own interior decorators" was approximately 15 per cent of the entire amount, Lake added.

"Often the architects in charge of planning require a certain fee, and a percentage on all the material used, with our facilities for making our own designs, and buying directly from the manufacturer, we are able to save a considerable amount of the money for our redecoration program," he added.

Lake said that the next major redecoration project will be the main lounge. The problem of buying the correct type of furniture for the main lounge is a very great one, Lake said. He noted that experiments with several types of furniture
