

From The Sidelines Oklahoma—Bowl, Bolt, Or Blow?

Glenn Nelson

After doing more than their share of moaning because Big Seven rules wouldn't allow the Sooners to participate in a bowl game, it looks like University of Oklahoma officials have finally decided to stick to the Big Seven conference—for a while, anyhow.

Chairman of the Oklahoma athletic committee Walter Kraft, who visited with officials representing the Southwest Conference Friday in an attempt to "establish friendly relations" with the conference, was apparently attempting to get the Sooners to re-join their one-time associates. Oklahoma had been a charter member of the Southwest loop at one time.

George L. Cross, president of OU, calmed the situation Friday when he reported Kraft's trip to Dallas as an exploratory mission for the Oklahoma board of regents.

Whether or not the Sooners bolt the Big Seven, it is evident that they were seriously considering to do so. It also seems that the Southwest Conference officials have not shown a great deal of desire to accept the Sooners, although not much has come from them in the way of direct quotations on the situation.

Big Seven Cage Race Nears

With all of the conference basketball squads busily playing non-conference foes until the Big Seven tournament at Kansas City, the Kansas State Wildcats loom as the team to beat. The Cats edged a powerful Indiana team, 82-80, Saturday night, as big center Dick Knostman threw in 27 points for K-State. Indiana was pre-season favorite for second place in the Big Ten this season.

In other headline loop play last week end, Oklahoma (2-1) stopped a last-minute rally by Southern Methodist to win, 59-54, at home. Missouri opened its season with a 66-62 win over Ft. Leonard Wood, a highly-regarded Army outfit. Sophomore forward Win Wilfong led Sparky Stalcup's Tigers with 15 points.

Rice Institute handed Kansas, last year's National intercollegiate championship five, a 54-51 upset for KU's first loss of the season. The Jays have lost all but a little of the mighty strength which they proudly presented last year. They will be Nebraska's first foe in the Big Seven tourney.

The Iowa State Cyclones suffered their first defeat in three starts, falling to Bradley, 76-57.

Top Game Off Our List?

With Christmas vacation beginning Dec. 20, a great number of complaints have been made by students who have observed that two top non-conference home games have been scheduled for Dec. 23 and Jan. 3.

Since the games being played are basically for the benefit of the student body, it seems unfair to have the games scheduled at such a time that many of their tickets will be unused—therefore lessening the value of a season student ticket.

Starting Maroon Guards

SPRINGFIELD FIRST-STRINGERS... Clayton Bywaters (left) and Frank Januszewski will open at the guard positions for Springfield College against the Huskers Wednesday night in the Coliseum. The Maroons are currently undefeated, holding wins over Brown and Wesleyan.

3 Games Face MU This Week

Three games in five nights will send the University of Missouri basketball team plunging headlong into its court schedule this week.

Home games Tuesday and Thursday will bring Arkansas and Texas Christian respectively to the Brewer Field House. Tip-off is at 8 p.m. For a Saturday finale, the Tigers swing west to Laramie, Wyo., for a bout with Coach Ev Shelton's Wyoming Cowboys.

Arkansas will invade Columbia with a new coach and a new style of play. Coach Sparky Stalcup figures his Bengals will have to hit an early-season peak to handle the Porkers, long on size and savvy this year under Coach Glen Rose.

Mizzou meets Drake at Des Moines Dec. 23, before moving into the Big Seven's post-Christmas tourney at Kansas City.

Inter-Denominational Wins Nebraska Ball

Georgia Hulac

Inter-Denominational does it again! The Inter-Denominational team edged out the Kappa Kappa Gamma No. 1 team to take the title win in the Nebraska ball tournament last Wednesday.

During the half time the game was tied but the Inter-Denominational walked off with their second win of the year. The Inter-Denominational team also won the volleyball tournament.

Reinhardt Wins Title

Suzie Reinhardt, Delta Gamma, put a title in her pocket. She bowled high enough to get the top honor in the bowling tournament. Suzie bowled against Lois Seb, Kappa Alpha Theta, in the final game.

The last co-recreation night of the year will be this Wednesday at Grant Memorial, 7 p.m. The trampoline will be up ready to be jumped on and the mats for badminton and volleyball will be up too. If you are not interested in those activities there is always table tennis and ducky pins.

Do not forget to sign your name and hours that you spend at rec. night in order to get your points for voting credit. Miss Hanpeter, faculty adviser, will have the paper to sign on.

Representatives Meeting

After vacation there is going to be a Representatives meeting. It is going to be a very important meeting and each representative is urged to be present at this meeting. Also after vacation will be basketball officials meeting. The exact dates for these meetings are not known yet.

Since the basketball tournament will not start until next semester, the gym will be opened at 5 p.m. for any team who wishes to practice basketball. See Miss Mulvaney, WAA sponsor, and reserve a time when your team can practice. Practices may be this week and the two weeks following vacation until finals start.
