

Second Semester Registering Opens Today

Registration for second semester classes begins Monday in the Military and Naval Science building and will continue through Thursday.

Students should bring worksheets and pencils when they register.

Upperclassmen will be admitted to the assignment on the basis of credit hours earned as of Sept. 1. Students are urged to bring copies of last semester's grade report telling the total number of hours earned.

Students without their grade reports may expect some delay in being admitted to the committee while their hours are checked, according to Dr. Floyd W. Hoover, director of registrations and records.

Seniors with 100 hours or more will register first. As soon as they have registered and pulled cards, seniors with 95-99 hours will be admitted to the assignment committee.

After senior registration is completed, juniors, sophomores and freshmen will register in that order.

The number of hours being admitted to the assignment committee will be posted on the blackboard in front of the Military and Naval Science building and on the blackboard at the Students with less than 27 hours will register according to the numbers on their registration tickets which they picked up last week.

Dr. Hoover said he expects most seniors to complete registration Monday. He said most students should be registered by Wednesday, and that Thursday would be set aside for students with "special problems."

Payment of fees Jan. 27-29 in the Military and Naval Science building will complete registration.

Graduate school registration will be Jan. 30 through Feb. 7. New student placement tests will be given Jan. 28 and 29 with registration Jan. 30.

Open Forum Requested Mondays

Faculty To Lead Talks On Variety Of Subjects

Plans for a discussion seminar especially for faculty members and upperclass students from all colleges are being made by the Union Convocations Committee.

Jean Davis, chairman of the committee, said she believes the project will succeed if both faculty and students back it. She said the committee has received requests to sponsor such a forum.

Tentative plans call for the seminar to meet at 4 p.m. Mondays in the Union Faculty Lounge.

Miss Davis said the purpose of the seminar is to give faculty and students a "chance to gather for an informative discussion of challenging subjects, both current and non-current."

Speakers will be chosen from the faculty and from outside the University.

The speaker of the day will begin the seminar by talking briefly on the topic chosen for discussion, Miss Davis said. He will then lead the discussion and answer questions.

Prospective participants in the seminar are asked to suggest subjects and speakers. Interested faculty members and students may pick up questionnaires in the Union activities office.

Six Compete For Nebraskan Title

Letters Add 5 Saturday

Five more persons were nominated for Outstanding Nebraskan last week.

Dr. E. N. Anderson, Sylvia Krasne, Rocky Yapp, Joan Hanson and Dr. G. W. Rosenlof were placed with Ira Epstein's name on the list of nominations.

In the letter nominating Dr. Anderson the reasons for his nomination were: "The way he has faced this serious problem, his patience under attack, his magnanimous attitude towards his severest critics, and his integrity, that despite criticism, has led him to continue to do what he knows to be right—these things lift his ordinary cast to the level of significance."

Miss Krasne, Mortar Board president and Phi Beta Kappa, was nominated because of her "representation of the ideal coed. She combines scholarship, activities and social life. She is the pride of any University in her example of a well-rounded girl."

Joan Hanson was nominated in two letters. Because she "has been instrumental in the building up and the strengthening of the Campus Red Cross College Unit and the All University Fund," Miss Hanson was nominated by one.

"Because of her outstanding ability, intelligence, goodness and charm," a second nomination was made.

"For his continual interest in students as individuals," Dr. G. W. Rosenlof was placed on the list. The letter commended him for his work with foreign students and for his contributions to the "spiritual life of the campus."

Yapp's nomination came for "his work in organizations on campus has been outstanding and his work for the school has been tireless. His personality and drive have been the key to his success." Yapp is a member of the Student Council, President of the Junior class, Kosmet Klub historian, President of AUF and a member of Interfraternity Council.

One faculty member and one student will receive the Outstanding Nebraskan award. Recipients will be announced in the Jan. 16 issue of the Daily Nebraskan. The selection of the two Outstanding Nebraskans will be made by the Daily Nebraskan staff. Nominations may be made by either students or faculty members. Nominations are due by Jan. 15.

Order Bars Communists

PRESIDENT TRUMAN signed an executive order to bar U. S. Communists from jobs with the United Nations and all other international organizations. His order calling for rigid new loyalty checks applies not only to Americans working for or seeking jobs with the United Nations in New York but also groups in other countries. It was drawn up after congressional committees and a New York federal grand jury exposed the presence of American Communists and Red sympathizers on the UN payroll.

A State Department spokesman said the order affects about 2,000 U. S. Employees at UN headquarters and about 1,100 citizens who hold posts with international groups overseas. The President ordered:

1. A preliminary investigation, to be conducted by the Civil Service Commission, into the loyalty of all U. S. citizens who are UN jobholders or employment applicants.
2. A full investigation by the FBI whenever the civil service inquiry turns up information reflecting on the loyalty or trustworthiness of any person.

Tax Question Thrown To Crosby

THE NEBRASKA SUPREME COURT ruled Friday that farm lands and improvement were assessed at percentage ratio rather than actual value for determining 1952 taxes. The unanimous ruling tosses the problem of tax assessments into Gov. Robert Crosby's office. "It will be my policy as a member of the board of equalization to reconvene the board," he said, "and comply with the law of Nebraska as interpreted by our Supreme Court." He said no action can be taken until the court order becomes final. Deputy Attorney General Clarence A. H. Meyer said the court ruling "will give the tax commissioner backing" in enforcing the actual value provisions of the law.

AF Investigators Bombing

AIR FORCE AND ARMY INVESTIGATORS examined burned tents, 15 bomb craters and a dud bomb in the area behind the lines where several Americans were killed or injured in an air attack. They fixed no responsibility for the raid. An Air Force spokesman said the facts would be made public as soon as it was known definitely if a U. S. plane was involved. One soldier who saw the attack said it came from a U. S. F-84 Thunderjet.

Regents Back Supply Sale Continuance For Bookstore

Members of the Board of Regents gave verbal approval Saturday afternoon for the continuance of selling school supplies at the Regents' Bookstore.

Three Student Council representatives appeared before the Board bearing a petition signed by 2,215 University students asking that the Regents' Bookstore continue to sell school supplies. Council president Wayne White, aided by members Jan Steffen and Connie Gordon, told the Regents that the Bookstore is selling supplies due to student demand and for student convenience. White told the Board that the store is a "self-supporting enterprise" and also asked why the sale of books is not considered a socialistic selling of supplies by the University-operated store has been called.

The Council members were answering charges made by the legal representatives of privately-owned bookstores that the University has not the right to engage in what they term competition with private enterprise.

Representatives of the law firm were invited to the session by administrative officials, but were not present.

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson cited, as did White, examples of bookstores of other universities throughout the country which sell more merchandise than supplies and books.

Supplies now sold by the Regents' Bookstore includes pencils, notebooks, paper, index cards, paper clips, glue and staplers. Plans call for the addition of drawing boards, T-squares, drafting sets, hand lenses, law record books and other supplies to the store's merchandise.

C. Y. Thompson voiced the approval of the six Regents of the student plea and indicated that his group will resist any effort to curtail or to stop supply selling at the store.

Members of the Board are: President Thompson, Robert W. Devoe, J. L. Welsh, Dr. Earle Johnson, Dr. B. M. Greenberg and J. G. Elliott.

A man and his wife were talking. She said, "Bill, the oddest thing happened today. That wall clock fell off the wall, and if it had fallen a moment sooner, my mother would have been hit."

"Gadi!" said the man. "I always knew that clock was slow."

There may be a surprise in store for us tomorrow. The sun may be shining and not be obscured by clouds. But it'll still be around 20 degrees.

One day the county welfare worker, passing by the Pruitt's who had dogs and kids all over the place, asked Mr. Pruitt if the new baby—the sixteenth—was all right.

"Doin' fine."

"Named it yet?"

"Nope."

"Why haven't you named the new baby yet?"

"Well," said Pruitt, "got to wait till one of the dogs dies—the dogs have got all the names."

"What are you doing?"

"I'm writing myself a letter."

"Oh, what are you telling yourself?"

"How do I know? I won't get the letter until tomorrow."
