

KAM Announces Annual Photo Competition Rules

Kappa Alpha Mu, professional photography organization, is announcing the eight annual international collegiate photography competition and exhibition.

The portfolio winner in the amateur class will receive a scholarship to the University of Missouri Photo Workshop.

Registration Methods Cited By Students

"I buzzed right through," said one student coming from registering. The opinion most students held of registration was, "It's better than it ever has been." Then there are students who always get involved in red tape or the section they want is closed. One student who was very discouraged came out with this, "I didn't have the signature of one dean and had to run from one building to another trying to find him. I don't go for this red tape." Two girls said, "Eight o'clocks should be banned." Another student, "Thank heavens I had 66 hours and could get in early." One girl complained that things were going too slow and it was too hard to get morning classes and insisted that her afternoons be free. Of course students who were not having so much trouble were pleased with the set-up. One student praised, "Things are going just fine, it shows good organization." Another student thought the hours-earned system is the best yet. From these opinions it seems that the majority of students were satisfied with the organization set up by the administration and most students seemed satisfied with the help and courtesy the card pullers displayed.

Minnesotan Brings Exhibit For Art Show

An art exhibition of paintings, sculpture, prints, and drawings has been assembled for the University Galleries on third floor of Morrill Hall, by Hulda Carl, Assistant Curator, Walker Art Center, Minneapolis.

It has been selected to show in a variety of media something of the character of contemporary art activity in the twin-city area. Two of the painters represented, Cameron Booth and Eloy Wedin, have long been active figures in Minnesota art. Others, Phyllis Downs, Orval Dillingham, and Bruce Shobaken represent the younger generation.

Also on display is the faculty annual art exhibit, selections from the University's permanent collections, of paintings, sculpture and drawings.

An exchange exhibition of work by the University of Nebraska faculty will be shown at the Walker Art Center from March 8 to April 5.

Officer To Explain WAVE Commissions

WAVE Lt. Frances Earl will explain the WAVE program in the U. S. Naval Reserve to University coeds Tuesday.

She will be in the Union lobby from 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. to give information about qualifying for WAVE commissions.

Applicants for commissions attend two six-week summer sessions at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Brainbridge, Md. While in training applicants are paid $100 a month.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States between the ages of 18 and 26, enrolled as full-time students in an accredited college. In order to qualify for a commission applicants will be required to pass a physical examination.

P. M. Headlines

By SALLY ADAMS Staff Writer

Congress To Approve Appointments

WASHINGTON—President-elect Eisenhower agreed Monday to clear all future federal appointments with Republican members of Congress. The decision was reported by the three top Senate Republicans after a 90 minute conference with Eisenhower. Sen. Robert Taft, majority leader; Sen. William F. Knowland, Republican Policy Committee chairman, and Sen. Eugene C. Millikin, majority conference chairman, took part in the talks.

After the meeting, Eisenhower had a conference with all 22 top officials of his incoming administration. This was the first time the entire group met together. Taft said he and other Republican Senate leaders would make every effort to confirm the entire cabinet on Inauguration Day. Cabinet members designate and agency heads and White House administrative assistants took part in the conference.

Truman Orders Proceedings Dropped

WASHINGTON—President Truman ordered the dropping of criminal anti-monopoly proceedings against the five major oil companies—provided the companies produce records for a civil suit. He said he took action as a result of factors which have arisen since the grand jury investigation of the international activities of the oil companies. It was reported that the National Security Council felt that a grand jury investigation would jeopardize U. S. global interests. The case originated when a Federal Trade Commission reported that major U. S. oil companies have worked with foreign companies to divide up the world oil market. A member of the commission said the oil companies had done one of the greatest had done one of the greatest "white washes in history" by convincing the State Department and other federal officials that the grand jury probe should be dropped.

Reds Throw Year's Heaviest Assault

SEOUL—Communist infantrymen struck with the heaviest assault of the new year along the Korean Front. Nearly 1,500 men made a futile attempt to break through UN lines. Heaviest fighting with hand-to-hand battles raged in the mountainous Eastern sector. An Army staff officer estimated that 212 Reds were killed. Meanwhile Allied fighter-bombers made follow-up raids on the vital Sinanju supply center in northwest Korea. Ten U. S. B-29's dropped 100 tons of high explosives on rail yards there Sunday night. It was part of an effort to smash a main Red supply line from Manchuria to the front.

Conant Named Commissioner

NEW YORK—James Bryant Conant, president of Harvard University, will be the next United States high commissioner for Germany. The appointment was announced by President-elect Eisenhower. Conant will become the first U. S. ambassador to the West German Republic when the Allied peace arrangements are completed. Conant served as chairman of the National Defense Research Commission and helped develop atomic energy projects during World War II.

the

DAILY NEBRASKAN

Voice of a Great Midwestern University

VOL. 52—No. 71

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

Tuesday, January 13, 1953

Regents Speed Building Plans

REGENTS PLAN BUILDINGS . . . In an organizational meeting for the coming year, members of the University Board of Regents consider construction programs. Pictured are (left to right) J. Leroy Walsh of Omaha, Dr. Earle C. Johnson of Grand Island, C. Y. Thompson of West Point, newly named president; Robert Devoe of Lincoln, newly-elected vice president; Dr. E. N. Greenberg of York and J. G. Elliott of Scottsbluff.

Dorm Financing Project Marks NU Biggest Construction Move

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents Saturday took action to speed three major construction projects as follows:

1. Hired the Leo Daly Company of Omaha, architects, to provide final plans for a $1,000,000 Teachers College high school to be built on the University campus with funds available from the state's 10-year institutional building levy.

2. Gave preliminary approval to a financing plan offered by the Kirkpatrick-Pettis Company of Omaha, to issue 25-year, 3.11 per cent interest bonds to finance construction of a cafeteria facility and three dormitory units of house 670 men students on the Lincoln campus. The bonds would be retired with rental revenue from dormitories, not tax funds, and work on the $2,000,000 project could be started this year.

3. Called for bids on construction of the $1,500,000 Nebraska Psychiatric Institute to be built on the College of Medicine campus in Omaha. The project is being financed jointly with equal contributions from the University, the Nebraska Board of Control, and the federal Hill-Burton hospital fund. Construction is expected to begin this year.

The new Teachers College high school will be located on the north side of Vine street, west of Fifteenth. The land, already cleared, is owned by the University.

Preliminary plans call for a classroom unit and gymnasium and auditorium units, provided available funds permit. If costs demand, the gymnasium and auditorium units may be combined.

The new building will provide for 275 students and will enable the college to increase its high school program by two grades, seventh and eighth, making a six-year program. The new building will make room in the present Teachers College building for some of the college classes which are now meeting in temporary buildings.

In giving preliminary approval to the dormitory financing plan submitted by Kirkpatrick-Pettis, the Regents acted upon one of the largest construction jobs in University history. Final approval of the finance plan is subject to confirmation of a trust agreement which was submitted by Kirkpatrick-Pettis and will be submitted to the University's attorney and to the attorney general for approval.

Construction of the dormitories would enable the University to house about 900 men students on the campus. At present more than 2,000 live off the campus in private rooms, exclusive of fraternities.

The Federal Housing and Home Finance agency had offered to finance the dormitory and cafeteria construction with interest at 3.01 per cent. Federal law, however, prohibits acceptance of such an offer when private financing can be obtained at interest rates not exceeding 10 per cent of the federal agency's price.

Under the Kirkpatrick-Pettis plan, bonds would be issued for $2,200,000 and would thus absorb all outstanding indebtedness of the University's dormitories. The bonds would be backed by rental revenue from all University dormitories, men's and women's. Cost of building and equipping the cafeteria and new dormitories is expected to total $2,000,000.

The Psychiatric Institute in Omaha will serve as a training center for psychiatrists, technicians and nurses, at the College of Medicine and also as a hospital available for cases referred by the Board of Control. It also will serve several psychiatric clinics and treatment facilities throughout Nebraska.

Registration

Dr. Hoover, director of registrations and records, announced that registration would be down to the sophomores, Tuesday and the freshmen would probably be able to start sometime Wednesday.

Left Overs

By LILA WANER Staff Writer

Some people love to go to the movies, and others go to the movies to love.

Watch out for that heat! It's going to be here a long time. If it's a row's weather is any indication, it'll be cold and partly cloudy.

I knew a girl named Passion; I asked her for a date.

I took her out to dinner and gosh! How passionate.

There is a little stream in Austria that divides the American-occupied zone from the zone run by the Russians, and in the stream are some very sizable fish.

Recently an American soldier was fishing on his side of the stream and having very good luck. At the same time a Russian was fishing on the opposite bank, but he wasn't getting a nibble. Finally he asked, "Why is it that you have all the good luck? After all, we are both using the same kind of bait, the weather's the same on both sides, and I'm as skilled as you are."

"Maybe," the Yank commented, "it's because the fish on this side of the stream aren't afraid to open their mouths!"

Specific Funds For College Of Medicine Asked By State Meical Association

The Nebraska State Medical Association's House of Delegates has adopted a resolution requesting the State Legislature to appropriate specific funds for the College of Medicine at Omaha.

Although not specifically mentioned, the resolution is interpreted as an endorsement of the $6 million improvement program proposed by Dr. J. Perry Tollman, dean of the medical school. Tollman's program has the support of the Board of Regents and is expected to be introduced into the State Legislature before long.

The building program would require a special levy and is not connected with the University's operational budget.

The action followed a report by Dr. D. B. Steenburg, chairman of the Medical Education Committee, concluding that the College of Medicine is "below the standards of an acceptable medical school."

The report compared the University's medical school with those of eight neighboring universities.

At the Nebraska College of Medicine, the report showed 197 beds as compared with 204 at Arkansas, the next lowest, and 891 at the University of Iowa, the highest. Tollman's program calls for 400 College owned and operated beds.

Nebraska has 16 faculty mem-

STUDY ABROAD

Fellowships Open To NU Graduates

The Institute of International Education has announced nearly 200 fellowship opportunities for American students to study abroad during 1953-54.

The closing date for applications for grants given by the French government is February 1; for most of the other grants the closing date is March 1. General eligibility requirements for the majority of the grants are (1) U. S. citizenship; (2) a Bachelor's degree; (3) a good academic record; (4) a good knowledge of the language of the country of study.

Although a good knowledge of the language of the country is a prerequisite, the awards are not limited to the study of languages and literature. Various fields of study in sciences, humanities and social sciences are suggested with each individual grant.

The awards, largely for graduate study, are offered to American students by private organizations and by foreign governments and universities. Most of the fellowships are for study in European and Latin American universities. Grants are also available, however, at the University of Ceylon and at the University of Teheran.

A pamphlet, entitled "Fellowship Opportunities for American Students To Study Abroad, 1953-54," may be obtained from the Institute of International Education, U. S. Student Program, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, N. Y. This booklet contains complete information about the fellowships and how to obtain application blanks.

The Institute of International Education is a private, non-profit organization which administers international scholarships and fellowships for many private and governmental agencies.

MOTIVATION

Psychology Authorities To Lecture

Graduate students and staff members of the Psychology Department will have an opportunity Thursday and Friday to hear three of the nation's outstanding authorities in the field of motivation.

The speakers, their topics, and lecture schedules at Union Room 315 are as follows:

Dr. Leo Postman, University of California, Berkeley, "Motivation as a Factor in Perception," 9:30 a. m. Thursday.

Dr. Harry Harlow, University of Wisconsin, "Motivation as a Factor in Acquisition of New Responses," 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

Dr. Judson Brown, State University of Iowa, "Learnable Drives," 9:30 a. m. Friday.

At 1:30 p. m. Friday the lecturers will participate in a roundtable discussion at the Union. The discussion will be a review and evaluation of the lecture series.

The symposium is the first in a series of two the department will conduct this winter with funds supplied by the U. S. Public Health Service. Invitations for the Thursday and Friday sessions have been sent to professional psychologists in several midwestern states.

Joan Krueger, Doris Carlson Nominated For Student 'Outstanding Nebraskan'

Joan Krueger and Doris Carlson have been added to the list of students and faculty members who have been nominated for "Outstanding Nebraskan" award. The winners, one student and one faculty member, will be announced in the Friday issue of the Daily Nebraskan.

Also nominated for the title have been Dr. E. N. Anderson, Rocky Yapp, Joan Hanson and

Dr. G. W. Rosenlof.

Sylvia Krasne was renominated Monday for the award. The nominating letter said "she merits this award not because of any one spectacular contribution to our University, but because of her steady, faithful service to it throughout her three years here."

Her recent election to Phi Beta Kappa proves that her contribution to the University has been evenly divided between the fields of the extra-curricular and curricular. Miss Krasne's activities include Tassels, YWCA, AWS, Mortar Board and AUF.

In the letter nominating Krueger and Carlson, it was suggested that they "be considered for a joint award. The reason we would like to nominate them together is on the basis of their debate work. The two girls have been colleagues since their freshman year and so far as serving the University of Nebraska Intercollegiate, they probably have done as much, if not more than any other two women at NU.

Their debate record alone has been outstanding. . . They consistently receive superior ratings in both team and individual speech events—all of which promotes the University in its standstill as in Nebraska.

This alone, we feel, is ample reason for their qualifications for the award. This is not their only service to NU. Time and time again they have served the school in various methods, and their sense of assuming responsibility their willingness to help has been above reproach. They both exhibit qualities of intelligence and ability, as well as winning personalities."

Miss Krueger has served as editor of The Daily Nebraskan, President of Delta Sigma Rho, vice president of Theta Phi, and President of NUCWA.

Miss Carlson is secretary of Delta Sigma Rho, vice president of Phi Sigma Iota, past president of YWCA and past president of NUCWA.

RESIDENCE HALLS FOR MEN . . . This is the architect's conception of the new dormitories for men approved by the Board of Regents. The project will be the largest construction job ever carried out by the University. Final approval of the plans must be made by the University's attorney and the state attorney general.