Junior Division To Start Study, Reading Courses

A non-credit, no-tuition reading and study improvement course, sponsored by the Junior Division, is to open Tuesday, Feb. 17.

ALASKA U

Regents Favor Statehood For Territory

(From the Farthest-North, University of Alaska, Collegian)

Near the close of the recent Regents meeting, Dr. Charles E. Bunnell, president emeritus, offered the following resolution which was adopted by the Board of Regents regarding Statehood:

"Whereas under the provision of the Constitution of the United States New States may be admitted by the Congress into the Union and

"Whereas the people of the Territory of Alaska believe that if the Territory of Alaska becomes a State they will be better enabled to enjoy certain unalienable rights among which are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness guaranteed under the provisions of the Constitution of the United States and

"Whereas thus endowed by the privileges and duties of Statehood they will be enabled to contribute more efficiently to the welfare of this Nation and

"Whereas the Board of Regents of the University of Alaska is deeply conscious of the part it must play in advancing the cause of higher education, making available its facilities for basic and applied research, and continuing to be a forum for the consideration of social and welfare problems, believes that Statehood for Alaska will enable this institution to be of greater service to Alaska and the Nation.

"Now therefore be it resolved, that the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities be requested to approve the effort of the University of Alaska for Statehood for Alaska."

Senate Group Pleased With NU Programs

Sen. Arthur Carmody chairman of the Legislature's Budget Committee said Monday, after the first day of a scheduled four day tour of the University's physical plant, that his committee was favorably impressed with the University's building program.

Sen. Carmody had previously said that he considers it likely that the Legislature will follow Gov. Robert Crosby's recommendations of "restraint" with regard to University appropriations.

Committee member Sen. William McHenry of Nelson, a retired dentist, said the school of Dentistry was "tops in the nation."

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson along with John Selleck, business manager of the University, Bruce Nicoll, administrative assistant to the Chancellor and George Round, public relations director accompanied the budget committee members.

course on either day, whichever they are able to attend.

Registration can be made in the Junior Division building under the supervision of Mrs. Colleen Epperson and will remain open until Saturday, Feb. 14.

Six of the 10 weeks course will be devoted to reading improvement and the remainder to study habits improvement. Students may take either or both of the courses.

Material to be studied includes: how to make more effective use of your time, effective methods of studying, how to take efficient notes, and how to prepare for and take examinations.

Improvement of reading speed and comprehension through use of the reading accelerator machine will also be presented.

Mrs. Mary Baker and Del Shallock, instructors of the course last semester, said that reading rate improvements ranged from 100-700 words for some students who took the course then.

They added that the course, is not for poor readers only, and all University students might receive benefit from such a reading improvement course.

Dr. Latta To Talk At NUCWA Meet

The Anglo-Egyptian problem will be discussed at the Nebraska University Council for World Affairs Thursday, 7:30 p.m. in Union Parlor X.

Dr. Maurice C. Latta, assistant professor of economics, will explain North African colonial problems and interpret its conflicts and reconstructions. The meeting will serve as background material for General Assembly issues which will be held during the Spring Conference Mar. 18-21.

Health Center Starts ROTC Vaccinations

Vaccination schedules for Army and Air Force ROTC students will be conducted at Student Health Center in two separate series.

A special room has been set aside at the Student Health building for use during the first series which began last Thursday. The room will also be used during the second series to begin March 12.

All ROTC students who do not take their shots during the first series must begin taking them March 12 in order to have the series completed before the summer training program begins.

The schedule of shots is: tetanus, series of two with the second shot given March 12; typhoid, series of three with the second shot given Feb. 12 and the third Feb. 19; smallpox, one shot given Feb. 12, but those receiving the shot must return Saturday or Monday to have a check to see if the shot "took."

Student Health officials noted that if students miss the beginning series of shots they should come in every Thursday from 1-5 p.m. to begin the series.

ROTC students are reminded that once a typhoid series begins, shots must be taken at regular intervals or the series will have to start over again.

Yale and Harvard have met 69 times on the football field.

In Memphis Dr. Marshall Wingfield, vacationing in Virginia, knocked at a door to ask directions and was greeted by a former teacher he had not seen for 50 years.

Senior Scholars

MORTAR BOARD TEA . . . At the annual Mortar Board scholarship tea, 10 senior women were honored for high scholarship. These women's averages were highest of all women students for the past three years. Around the table are: (left

Three Programs Slated By Gray Dance Company

The Harriette Ann Gray Dance Company, on its second continental tour, will present three programs of modern dance in Grant Memorial on Feb. 20.

The concert, featuring six modern dances, will be held at 8:15 p.m. with admission $1. At 10 a.m. in Grant Memorial Miss Gray will lecture on modern dance while her group demonstrates, and from 3 to 5 p.m. will conduct a master class in the Union ballroom. These last two programs are open to the public free of charge.

Miss Gray's Dance Company is being sponsored by the department of physical education for women, the department of speech and dramatic art, department of art and the University Research Council, in order to show the close relationship between all the arts.

The troupe's repertoire includes "Grooved," the tragic study of a mother's futile attempt to dominate her daughter's life; "Dance For Two," a romantic study of courtship, marriage and married life; "Ou World Today," a trio of satires on contemporary world problems; and "Folk Suite," a folk number featuring vocalists as well.

The movie was adapted from the play by Eugene O'Neill, which stars Greta Garbo, Charles Bickford, and Marie Dressler.

The University Film Society will present a series of these films to students, faculty and the public during the semester. Membership in the society is the basis for admission to the programs.

"All Quiet on the Western Front," an adaptation of Remarque's novel starring Lew Ayres and Louis Wolheim, is the second film in the series.

"Don Quixote," a Spanish version of the book with English subtitles, is third in the series.

Charles Laughton, Zazu Pitts and Charles Ruggles star in "Ruggles of Red Gap," the fourth film on the agenda.

The final film of the series is "Orpheus," a modern translation of the Greek legend. Several documentaries will be shown during the series.

Those wishing to see any of the films must buy memberships for the entire series—not for single pictures only. Tickets may be purchased in the Union or from YMCA representatives. Student and faculty memberships are $2.40, while the fee is $3.00 for the general public.

Five Instructors Attend Dental Meet

Five instructors of the University Dental College attended the Chicago Dental Society mid-winter meetings held last week.

Dr. Bert Hooper, dean of the dental college, presided at the sessions of the Council on Dental Education and the Congress of Dental Education and Licensure.

Dr. Ralph L. Ireland and Dr. Donald Keys participated in the program of the congress and Dr. Ray Knapp attended the Academy of Crown and Bridge construction.

Dr. Donald W. Wegener, also of Lincoln, attended the American Academy of Oral Pathology.

Telephone Lecture Heard By Dentists

Faculty and students of the University College of Dentistry attended a telephone lecture Monday night in Love Library auditorium.

Diseases of the gum tissues and tooth supporting structures were shown to be rapidly increasing as the number one responsibility of the dental profession.

The lecture, one of the monthly round-table discussions originated at the University of Illinois College of Dentistry, was accompanied by a film.

The six dental authorities participating in the broadcast emphasized that diseases of the gum tissues and tooth supporting structures can be prevented or checked before serious damage is done.

Film Society Opens Series

"Anna Christie," will open the 1953 University Film Society programs Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at a local theater.

The movie was adapted from the play by Eugene O'Neill, which stars Greta Garbo, Charles Bickford, and Marie Dressler.

The University Film Society will present a series of these films to students, faculty and the public during the semester. Membership in the society is the basis for admission to the programs.

"All Quiet on the Western Front," an adaptation of Remarque's novel starring Lew Ayres and Louis Wolheim, is the second film in the series.

"Don Quixote," a Spanish version of the book with English subtitles, is third in the series.

Charles Laughton, Zazu Pitts and Charles Ruggles star in "Ruggles of Red Gap," the fourth film on the agenda.

The final film of the series is "Orpheus," a modern translation of the Greek legend. Several documentaries will be shown during the series.

'No Man's Land' Tradition Fades In '53 Coed Follies

By DICK COFFEY Feature Editor

They have called it a lot of names, but no man's land is the best.

Coed Follies skits have been headed by as many names as the fabulous Korean Ridge such as "A Girl in Every Post" and "Howdy Do Land" in 1926 to "Hannah in Havana" of 1952.

For the first time in 27 years of annual performance, Coed Follies will be open to the public and presented two nights.

The first show was free, but open only to women. Women's organizations were all eligible to participate. It was held in April at the Temple and successful enough to warrant presentation every year since.

Phi Omicron Pi and Women's Athletic Association were the winners in the first show with "A Girl in Every Post" and "In Howdy Do Land."

Admission was charged the following year, with the show continually building and improving.

In 1928, a first prize of $15 and second prize of $10 were awarded the winners, Sigma Kappa and Phi Mu. Seven skits and two curtain acts participated.

More than 500 attended the six skit show of 1929, which featured an all girl eight piece orchestra wearing black tuxes and white shirts. Delta Omicron won first with a Girls Tumbling Act second.

Filings Open Today For BABW Board

Independent women who will be sophomores, juniors or seniors next fall may file for the Babcock Activities Board for Women in Ellen Smith Hall Feb. 11 through 18.

Six from each class will be selected by the present BABW nominating committee to run for election. Twelve of the 18 nominees will be elected at a campus-wide election March 11.

To qualify for filing, the student must be carrying at least 12 hours and have a minimum weighted average of 5.

Tri-K Club Meetings Scheduled For Thursday

The Tri-K Club will hold one of its special meetings Thursday evening.

The speaker for the meeting will be Clay Westcott, president of the Nebraska Seedmen Association. He will talk on the opportunities in the seed business.

This is the second in a series of special meetings being planned by the club. The sessions are open to all students and start at 7:15 p.m. in the seminar room of the Agronomy building.

The show of 1937 featured most of the similar ideas of recent years. Seven skits chosen from 22 participated. A Best Dressed Girl, comparable to Typical Nebraska Coed, was presented and Dame Fashion resigned. BDG was chosen on the basis of clothes selection, modeling qualifications, ability, clothes sense, posture and general appearance.

The first BDG was chosen from 16 finalists out of a field of 103. Dame Fashion (which will not be in this year's show) reigned in a Bad Box Shop background, and women's orchestra played for the style show. In 1940 runners-up were attendants to the BDG.

A silver cup award to the winning skit chosen by applause was added in 1938. The award went to Rosa Bouton Hall.

With a male student council president and the council featuring a few of the skits on their radio program, the girls feared the lone male president might crash the broadcast. But he didn't. The fad of men crashing the Follies was not established at that early date.

From three consecutive wins in 1940, 1941, and 1942, Delta Delta Delta won permanent possession of the cup, the first organization to achieve this. The '42 winning skit was a Utopian study hall with formal and rhinestone jewelry as collegiate dress and amazing things happening in the classroom.

What is a "Typical Nebraskan Coed?"

In 1942, The Daily Nebraskan editor, Paul Svoboda said, "good taste and moderation with an eye cocked toward long established conventions and customs will fill the bill as far as being 'typical'."

And by being a typical or conventional collegian established one as a citizen constructive to his nation and his university or college."

The following year, "preparing for more than a home" was added to the "typical" definition.

Typical Nebraska Coed was added to the Follies program in 1942. The switch to TNC was because it emphasized casual clothes, clothes appropriate for war time.

In 1943, cost of skits was limited to $15 because of the war. Curtain act winner, Alpha Chi Omega won the first silver cup award in this category in 1944.

A gold loving cup was presented to skit winner, Pi Beta Phi. In 1945, the Mortar Board skit was added to the regular nine act show.
