

Prom Plans Abandoned This Year

Insufficient Underwriters

Junior-Senior Board Makes Decision

There will be no Junior-Senior Prom this year. In a letter addressed to the junior and senior classes, the Junior-Senior Class Board said reasons for the decision were a failure to obtain 1400 underwriters to help finance the prom and failure to obtain a name band.

The letter stated that the major problem is finance. "There has not been a successful prom sponsored by class officers in recent years," Don Pieper, Senior Class president, pointed out. "A prom sponsored by the Union and Innocent Society was a success. "The Prom last year," he continued, "was a definite loss. Each member of the Board who had to underwrite the prom paid $10.80 to make up the loss. We felt that we were elected to put on a successful prom. To do this we needed money."

The Board is made up of the junior and senior class officers and junior and senior class council members. The latter consists of six students from each class who are appointed through interviews by the Student Council.

Efforts to put on a successful prom were started last spring when two board members consulted with Chancellor R. G. Gustavson in an attempt to find a remedy for the financial problem. Although he was unable to give a solution, he helped establish the Board by personally purchasing letterhead stationery.

The Board then attempted to find out student opinion on the prom. A questionnaire was distributed to 462 students in an effort to find out if students wanted a prom and what type prom they desired. The results indicated that students wanted a prom only if a name band would play, and that they wanted an informal dance at the Turnpike.

The Board made tentative plans for a prom to be held March 20 in the Coliseum with a name band playing. They changed the name of the prom from Junior-Senior Prom to Spring Prom, in hopes

Gard, Frost Co-chairmen Of Ag Show

Wayne Frost, president of the Block and Bridle Club, Ag honorary, announced the committee chairmen for the annual Block and Bridle Show to be held April 18.

Co-chairmen for the entire show are Ray Gard and Frost. Niel Harlin was elected by the Block and Bridle Club as master of ceremonies for the spring show.

Other newly appointed chairmen are: special events, Darren Nelson; publicity, Dale Reynolds and Chuck Beam; tickets, Joe Edwards; awards, Art Baum; Coliseum, Joe Wadill; music, Don Novotny; cards and clothing, Wayne Moody and intercommunications system, Don Anderson.

Gene Kerr is the ring chairman for the spring show.

Three showmanship divisions are open for the students to enter. They are beef, swine and sheep. The chairmen in charge of the divisions are beef, Paul Kruger; swine, Dean Linscott; and sheep, Jack Lemon.

The coed riding division will be headed by Jack Lemon and John Ranney.

This is the first year the spring show will not be called the Junior Ag-Sar-Ben. The Block and Bridle club was awarded a change to the Block and Bridle Spring Show by the Ag Executive Board and the faculty governing committee of the ag campus.

Two special events have been picked for the show Frost said. The high school horse, Judy Garland, will be one of the special entertainment acts. The other will be a working dog act.

Jean: "Gosh, but my date last night was sure trying at times." Jane: "You should have been out with my date. He was trying all the time."

Then there was the one about the street cleaner who was fired for day dreaming — he couldn't keep his mind in the gutter.

Shapely shopper: "Do you have any notions on this floor?" Floorwalker: "Yes, but we suppress them during working hours."

In college it seems the freshman's dream. Is how to win his letter. The coed I guess, is sure of success. She starts by wearing a sweater.

Bandage-covered Mike lay in a Student Health bed and spoke dazedly to his visiting pal: "What happened?" "You absorbed too much last night, and then you made a bet you could fly out the window and around the block."

"Why didn't you stop me?" screamed the patient. "Stop you! Why I had 25 bucks on you."

Saturday will be right in line with the weather we have been having lately, for the weather man says that it will be partly cloudy, cool, with doubtful precipitation.

Charlie: "I'm finished with that girl." Al: "How come?" Charlie: "She asked me if I danced."

Al: "What's so insulting about that?" Charlie: "I was dancing with her when she asked me."

WORDS OF WISDOM: When a girl goes out with an Anarectic explorer she has to be careful about watching her equator.

You're the only girl in the world for me. You who've made my life a song: I'll adore you darling, eternally.

"Till the next girl comes along! Then there was the college student who said that he had read so much about the evils of drink that he has given up reading.

Leo: "How was your blind date last night?" Irv: "Oh, when I took her home, her father came out and asked me what I meant by kissing his daughter in the dark. When I saw her the next day I began to wonder myself."

Bracy To Address Prayer Day

NU Students To Join In World Ceremonies

R. B. Bracy, chancellor of Wesleyan University for the past three and a half years, has been chosen to be the featured speaker at the Sunday evening service honoring the Student World Day of Prayer.

Bracy came to Lincoln in September of 1949 from McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill. where he served as president.

Bracy who is a native of Illinois graduated from McKendree College. He has taken graduate work at Colorado State Teachers College and Iliff School of Theology in Denver.

Bracy was a Methodist pastor in Illinois, Colorado and South Dakota. He also taught in the Illinois public schools.

He is active in many civic and fraternal organizations. He is married and has three children.

Students throughout the entire world will honor this day of prayer which is sponsored by the World Student Christian Federation.

Prior to the evening service a chili supper will be held in the Union at 6:30 p.m. in Parlors ABC. Fifty cents admission will be charged and attendance is open to all.

The program for the service includes: Call to Worship and Invocation by Rev. Richard Nutt followed by the Litany of Confederation and Scripture reading by Ken Rystrom.

The call to prayer will be given by John Methuselah of India, Emmy Werner of Germany and John Smilja of Latvia. An offering will be taken the proceeds to be given to the WSCF.

Barbara Jefferson, Congregational-Presbyterian Student House Secretary and Janice Osborne, Director of the YWCA, will give a summary of WSCF following the supper. Also a recording of a previous World Student Day of Prayer meeting that was held in India will be played.

This day of prayer is being held for the second time on the University campus. Last year's service held in the Episcopal Chapel was attended by over 200 students of all faiths.

The ceremonies which are held on the third Sunday in February each year is observed in more than 50 different countries. The call to prayer is read in more than 25 different languages.

In the 58 years of the existence of the World Student Christian Federation, many members from countries all over the world have been added. The purpose of the Federation is to create a firm bond between students regardless of creed or language.

Draft Exam Applications Due March 9

Students who intend to take the Selective Service College Qualification Test in 1953 should file their applications not later than March 9.

The test will be given April 23. Results of the examination will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board. This score and the student's scholastic rating from his college may be used in considering his deferment.

All persons filing must be college students, registered with a Selective Service board and cannot have taken the test before. Selective Service Headquarters advise that early application will be to the student's advantage.

Prof Mahesch Helal appeared in Oxford, England to speak on Opium. Shocking his audience by recommending opium for mass consumption, he was investigated. Helal turned out to be an Oxford student.

WESLEYAN HEAD . . . Chancellor Bracy will talk Sunday night during the Student World Day of Prayer.

BROWNELL STORY

Ex-Daily Nebraskan Editor Featured In Time Magazine

Featured in the Feb. 16 issue of Time magazine is NU graduate and former editor of The Daily Nebraskan, Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. His picture is on the cover.

In the accompanying cover story Brownell's political biography is reviewed with an eye toward the problems facing him in the Department of Justice.

"Time," in presenting political development of Brownell, describes some of the problems facing him as an undergraduate on the University campus.

According to the article, "It was at the University of Nebraska that Political Brownell blossomed as the kind of politician he has been ever since: a skilled behind-the-scenes operator. In one election a back-fraternity coalition ganged up on Brownell's fraternity faction and put up a young Barb named Wendell Berge (now a Washington, D. C. attorney) for president of the freshman class. Brownell started the coalition by letting Berge win without opposition. The method in his mildness came to light later; Berge joined a fraternity and took his political following into Brownell's camp."

One rather large, hefty ROTC student who was patiently and apparently nonchalantly waiting his turn to receive shots at Student Health was impressed with the system of giving the shots simultaneously — one in either arm.

As his turn neared, he turned to a companion and said, "Rather efficient aren't they? Whereupon he faints—lying up the whole system for 15 minutes as he was being revived.

Names Omitted On TNC Finalist List

Due to a Daily Nebraskan error, four names were omitted from the list of Typical Nebraskan Co-ed finalists.

They are: Joy Watchel, Delta Gamma, vice president of All University Fund, Union board member and past Builders board member; Jo Johnson, Alpha Xi Delta, Tassels, Coed Counselor board and Builders board member; Sara Stephenson, Kappa Delta, past Daily Nebraskan copy editor, Builders board member, Tassels and Red Cross member and Joyce Johnson, Alpha Chi Omega, Student Council and vice president of Red Cross.

Sociologists Write Book For Nurses

Two University of Nebraska sociologists, James M. Reinhardt and Paul Meadows, are authors of a new book designed especially for student nurses.

The book, "Society and the Nursing Profession," combines a general introduction to the study of sociology with an emphasis on a number of social problems and relationships of special interest to the nurse.

It is largely the outgrowth of the authors' teaching experiences in the schools of nursing at the University of Nebraska and the Lincoln General Hospital.

Dr. Reinhardt is chairman of the sociology department at the University, and author of a number of professional works in the field including "Social Psychology" and "Social Problems and Social Policy." Dr. Meadows, professor of sociology, has written "The Culture of the Industrial Man."
