Election Procedure, Positions

All University women may vote Wednesday between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. and including the noon hour.

University women will elect a Coed Counselor president, vice president, two senior board members, eight junior board members and six sophomore board members. It is no longer necessary to have equal numbers of affiliated and unaffiliated girls on the board, although it must be composed of at least two affiliated and two unaffiliated sophomores and juniors. Senior positions must be filled with one affiliated and one unaffiliated girl. All women are eligible to vote for these officers.

Associated Women Students offices open are president, vice president, five senior board members, five junior board members, and five sophomore board members. This election is open to all university women.

Women's Athletic Association members who have earned at least 10 points this school year may vote for president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. An amendment to the WAA Constitution will also be voted on. It consists of permission to allow representatives from organized houses to be sports chairman.

Barb Activities Board for Women president, vice president, two senior board members, four junior board members, and four sophomore board members, may be voted upon by all unaffiliated women.

Junior and senior women are eligible to vote on May Queen.

Only university women may vote. Identification cards must be presented at the polls.

Voting will be conducted in Ellen Smith hall and in the Ag Union.

Mortar Boards are in charge of the elections. Results will be announced Thursday in The Daily Nebraskan.

Karl Shapiro, Pulitzer Prize Winner, To Speak On Contemporary Civilization

Karl Shapiro, Pulitzer prize winner in poetry and editor of Poetry Magazine, will present a series of free public lectures next Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, Mar. 16-18, at 8 p.m. in Love Library auditorium.

Shapiro, the University's 1953 Montgomery Lecturer on Contemporary Civilization, will speak on "A Primer for Poets." The lectures will be entitled, "What the Poet Knows," "The True Artistic," and "The Career of the Poet."

Born in 1913, Shapiro received his university training at the University of Virginia and the Johns Hopkins University. He served in the armed forces from 1941 to 1945, mainly in Australia, New Guinea, and the Dutch East Indies.

In 1946, he was consultant in poetry at the Library of Congress, and from 1947 to 1950, he was lecturer in modern poetry and associate professor at Johns Hopkins University. Since 1950, he has been editor of Poetry Magazine.

He has lectured at Loyola University, and the University of Iowa, several writers' conferences, and the Salzburg Seminar in American Studies in Austria.

Shapiro's published works include: "Person, Place, and Thing," "The Place of Love," "V-Letter and Other Poems," "Essay on Rhymes," "Trial of a Poet," and "A Bibliography of Modern Prosody."

Honors and awards which Shapiro has received include: Jeanette S. Davis prize, 1942; the Levinson Prize and the Contemporary Poetry Prize, 1943; the American Academy of Arts and Letters Grant, 1944; the Pulitzer Prize in Poetry and the Shelley Memorial Prize, 1945; and a Guggenheim Fellowship, 1945-46.

As a prelude to the lectures, the English department will present a panel discussion of twentieth century poetry at 8 p.m. Thursday in Morrill Hall. Participating in the panel will be Dr. Walter F. Wright, moderator, Miss Bernice Slat, Dr. James E. Miller Jr., and Dr. Robert E. Knoll.

The discussion, while centering on contemporary poetry, will include Shapiro's seventh collection, the Montgomery lectureship, which brings to the campus for one week each year an outstanding man to speak to students, faculty, and the general public.

Shapiro will be given a special mention of Shapiro's work.

Shenanigans Dance Set For Saturday

The Union ballroom will be the scene of a Shenanigans dance Saturday.

Sponsored by the Union and the BABW, this dance is for University and high school students to help celebrate the basketball victories at the coliseum and St. Patrick's Day.

The recent death of "Old Red Joe" certainly caused a lot of people a lot of wonder and worry. I guess his comrades were worried too, for I heard today that he was buried in an air conditioned coffin. But I think most people wonder if Stalin's death will change the world picture. Maybe it will give birth to a new "ism."

In view of this, let's review the existing political "isms": Socialism—You have 2 cows and give 1 to your neighbors.

Communism—You have 2 cows. The government takes both and gives you the milk.

Fascism—You have 2 cows, the government takes both and sells you the milk.

Nazism—You have 2 cows. The government takes both and shoots you.

New Dealism—You have 2 cows. The government takes both, shoots one, milks the other and throws the milk away.

Capitalism—You have 2 cows. You sell ne and buy a bull.

NEWS FOR CONSUMERS — Beer that doesn't leave a smell on your breath has recently been produced by chemists. They discovered a process to put odor chasing chlorophyll in the beer without changing its taste.

Bartender: "This whiskey is fifteen years old."

Drunk: "Pretty small for its age isn't it?"

Hollywood actress to husband: "Oh darling, come quickly, your children and my children are fighting with our children!"

Good news! The weather man reports that he is going to keep it warm for several days. However, you might get out your umbrella tomorrow, and have it handy, for there is a possibility of light showers.

Student into phone: "Is this the Salvation Army?"

He: "Yes."

Student: "Do you save bad women?"

He: "Yes."

Student: "Well, save me a couple for Saturday night."
