The following correction appeared in a small town paper:

"Our paper carried the notice last week that Mr. John Jones is a detective in the police force. This was a typographical error. Mr. Jones is really a detective in the police force."

Master of the house: "Marie, you kiss better than my wife does." Maid: "That's what the butler says."

Fresh: "Would you call for help if I tried to kiss you?" Coed: "Do you need any help?"

"Who's that?" "Girl I used to sleep with." "Shocking, where?" "Physics lecture."

WORDS OF WISDOM: Some girls are like paint. Get them stirred up and you can't get them off your hands.

The weather outlook for the next few days should make everybody happy. Tomorrow, you can expect a little wind, but plenty of sunshine.

Hunter: "How do you detect an elephant?" Guide: "You'll smell a faint odor of peanuts on its breath."

The temperance lecturer asked his audience: "Now, suppose that I had a pail of water and a pail of beer on this platform, and then brought on a donkey. Which of the two would he take?"

"He'd take the water," came a voice from the gallery. "And why would he take the water?" asked the lecturer. "Because he's an ass," came the reply.

Slogan on a crematorium door: We're hot for your body.

1st fraternity man: "She's a decided blonde, isn't she?" 2nd fraternity man: "Yeah, but she only decided recently."

May 2 Marks Opening Of Pre-Med Day

The annual Pre-med Day will be at 9 a.m. Saturday at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha.

The open house program of the college will include a tour through the buildings and hospital and an explanation of the activities of various departments. After the tours a medical presentation will be given in one of the amphitheatres.

Pre-medical, pre-nursing and pre-medical-technology students and science faculty of Nebraska's colleges and universities are invited to attend Eugene Powell, associate professor of zoology and anatomy and pre-medical adviser, announced Monday.

Registration will be held in the main entrance of the University Hospital Saturday.

Students who expect to attend must leave their names with Powell in Room 306 Bessey by Thursday noon.

Auto Victim Signs Pledge

A senior Arts and Sciences student involved in a car-truck accident Feb. 9, recently signed The Daily Nebraskan safety pledge.

"Since I became involved in this accident," the student said, "I have become conscious of safety and the need for it."

He concluded by saying, the safety drive is an excellent means of helping people become more aware of the need for safety and deserves worthy support.

The student was hospitalized for two weeks and has worn a cast on his neck for three months.

YWCA Commission

Filings for YWCA freshmen commission leaders open Tuesday.

Eight positions are open. Qualifications include a 5.5 weighted average and membership in YWCA.

Filings, which will remain open until May 6, may be made in Ellen Smith.

Curtain To Rise On Kosmet Klub Show Wednesday Night

Kosmet Klub members, directors and members of the cast will present the opening performance of the Kosmet Klub Spring Musical, "Anything Goes," Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The three performances of the Broadway musical will climax several weeks of rehearsal for the entire cast of principles and singing and dancing choruses.

The men's dancing chorus takes the role of five sailors on board ship. While singing a toast to their "Lady Fair," they absent-mindedly swab the ship's deck while dreaming of dancing with women. Together with the women's dancing chorus, they offer a variety of dancing from the Charleston to strictly modern style to show that "Anything Goes."

The girls, who play the parts of Reno Sweeney's chorus girls, help Reno, a one time evangelist turned stripper, conduct an old time revival meeting to the tune of "Blow, Gabriel, Blow."

The singing chorus members are passengers on board ship bound for England. In "Bon Voyage," the girls give the boys a lesson in the fine art of speaking French as the ship prepares to sail.

When they find they have a public enemy in their midst, the chorus joins together in "Public Enemy Number 1" to thank him for "putting this boat of ours on the map" and finally auction off his clothes for the Sailor's Fund.

Promising to steal the show is "Fifi," a small dog who is forced to donate his hair to help Billy Crocker evade the police.

Humorous scenes in the show find Sir Evelyn courting Reno in his shorts, Billy and Rev. Dr. Moon playing strip poker with two Chinese and Rev. Dr. Moon trying to cheer up Billy in the Brig while Bonnie hangs by her legs to talk to them.

The music will be presented in the Nebraska Theater April 29, 30 and May 1. Reserved tickets for $1.80 and general tickets priced at $1.10 and $1.50 may be purchased from Kosmet Klub workers.

Malone Narrative Presented Monday

"Mechanism for Survival," a narrative on the druggist's role in Civil Defense written by University graduate student Marvin Malone, was presented at the 70th annual Nebraska Pharmaceutical Association convention held Monday evening.

The narration was presented jointly by the University and Creighton University pharmacy students.

Cast members, all of Rho Chi, were the following: Jim Stephenson, University of Nebraska; Gale Demire, University of Nebraska; Virgil Hatch, University of Nebraska; Joan Connolly, Creighton; William Nelson, Creighton; Donald Pask, Creighton.

'N' Club Picnic Set For All-Sports Day

The final event on All Sports Day, May 2, at the University of Nebraska is not on the program.

It is a barbecue dinner for all N men which will be held at the Ag College at 6:30 p.m. There will be no speeches.

Walter Beggs, chairman of the Athletic Board, will present certificates to all new N men.

"This annual gathering gives the new N men a chance to visit with the old timers," Athletic Director George Clark said.

"We'll do anything!" That became the Kappa Delta slogan for the months of February and March as they pleaded for jobs, any job, from alums, mothers, neighbors and friends in order to earn money to convert into clothes and equipment for the pediatric ward of the University Hospital in Omaha.

The slogan paid off too, as the KD's stuffed the usual crammed college schedule with an afternoon or evening of baby sitting, housecleaning, typing outlines for budding lawyers, giving home permanents, grooming dogs and washing cars.

It paid off again, this time in children's smiles, when a dozen Kappa Deltas motored down to Omaha this month to present their gifts to the hospital. Over $125 was earned during the campaign. This money was converted into 50 pairs of pajamas, 30 pairs of boys' shorts, 2 highchair pads and a play pen pad.

Before leaving, they were shown through the pediatric ward by Dr. J. P. Tollman, Dean of the College of Medicine, and Miss Carol Bornemeier, Supervisor of the ward.

Gasps of astonishment were heard as Miss Bornemeier explained proportions of the ward, which is no longer than the distance from the door of the Union's Round-Up Room to the Crib, with offices and isolation wards at one end and a small playroom at the other. It is only wide enough for one hospital bed on each side of a five-foot aisle and often must hold over 30 children.

The state provides the hospital with medicine, food and other strictly medical supplies while all other necessities for the children's well-being such as clothing, play pens and toys are provided solely by donations.

The University hospital handles mostly charity cases and children removed from their homes. Last spring hospital representatives visited this campus to ask for appeals. The Kappa Deltas are the only ones who have responded to the urgent SOS. Needless to say, they are still in desperate need and Miss Bornemeier urges all organized houses or organizations who are able to lend a hand.

Adams Named New '54 Cornhusker Editor

Benedict To Fill Top Business Post; Board Names Bell Associate Editor

Barbara Adams will edit the 1954 Cornhusker yearbook.

Miss Adams, junior from North Platte, succeeds Pat Beechan, senior also from North Platte, as Cornhusker editor.

J. Benedict, junior from Jefferson, Iowa, was named business manager for the 1954 publication and assisting him will be Philip Shade, sophomore from Franklin, and Michael Shugrue, freshman from Lincoln.

Next year's Cornhusker associate editor will be Barbara Bell, junior from Lincoln. The new staff was selected by the Board of Student Publications following interviews Friday night.

The 1954 yearbook's managing editors are: Nancy Odum, sophomore from Schuyler; Mary Jane Mapes, sophomore from Lincoln and Jo Knapp, sophomore from Lincoln.

Two new copy editor positions were created this year and filling them will be Janet Nuss, junior from Sutton and Ann Launer, sophomore from Grand Island.

The Student Publications Board also incorporated the positions of photographer and associate editor. There is no staff photographer for next year.

One of those department dinners that roll around every so often was announced during a laboratory section Monday afternoon. This led to a campus figure telling classmates that he wasn't going to go—he couldn't afford it.

No sooner were the words out of his mouth than the instructor, who has charge of door arrangements, came by and asked the poverty stricken lad if he would act as ticket-taker at the door—after buying a ticket, of course. A slight moment of hesitation followed, which the instructor broke with:

"Why, you're going to go aren't you?" "Yeah, I guess so," the student replied in a subdued tone.

Union To Hold Street Dance Ivy Day Eve

A "Side Walk Cafe" street dance will be held May 8, Ivy Day Eve, at 8 p.m. in front of the Union to celebrate the fifteenth "bon anniversaire" of the Union.

Bob Meehan, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that Jimmy Phillips orchestra will furnish the music and that 14th and 15th on R street will be blocked off for dancing.

Meehan said that the French theme will be carried through the party with sidewalk tables, French scenes of the Eiffel tower, cigarette girls, outside lighting, and the band will be dressed in French costume.

The Union's birthday cake and punch will be served as refreshments. All students are invited to attend.

NU ROTC Team Enters Rifle Match

A ten-man University ROTC team will be entered in a Big Seven rifle match to be held at Kansas State College Saturday, May 2.

A traveling trophy and high score medal will be donated by the Army and Air Force ROTC unit of Kansas State College.

The Nebraska team roster under the supervision of Capt. Arthur Belknap and M. Sgt. Wade R. Kissack is: Howard Diedericksen, Army, Bancroft; Richard Jackson, Army, Omaha; Paul Jordan, Army, Lincoln; Bruce Lippke, Navy, Frederick, S. Dak.; Duane McCutchan, Army, Nelson; John McElhane, Army, Lincoln; George Medley, Army, Lincoln; William Norris, Air Force, Lincoln; Donald Overholt, Air Force, Omaha, and Philip Perry, Navy, Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Mortar Boards To Begin New Ivy Day Tradition

Another tradition—an outgrowth of an earlier one—will be started at this year's Ivy Day on May 9.

For the first time, Black Masque

Chapter of Mortar Board Society will present a Scholarship Activities Award to the organized women's house with the highest scholarship, house activities and representation in extra-curricular activities.

The award for the women will be similar to the award presented by Innocent Society to the outstanding organized men's house.

Blanks have been sent to all organized houses for information concerning the participation of all members in campus activities and the record of scholarship. In addition, campus organizations have been contacted for lists of workers, officers and board members. Each activity position as well as scholarship is pointed according to a specific scale. On the basis of the compiled results of points, the awards are made.

Second and third place winners will also be recognized along with acknowledgement of these positions among organized men's groups.

Winners last year and in 1951 were Farm House, Zeta Beta Tau and Alpha Gamma Rho, first, second and third places, respectively.

Mortar Board members in charge of the award are Artie Westcott, Cecelia Pinkerton, Sylvia Krasne and Mary Ann Kellogg.

The Mortar Board chapter decided to sponsor the award to encourage higher scholarship and wider participation in campus activities and functions by more women within organized houses.

NU Traffic Accidents Increased

Weekend traffic accidents at the University reached an all time high between Friday and Sunday, when three people required hospital treatment after being involved in traffic mishaps.

Irene Kelley and Thelma Brekke, employees of the University photo production department, were injured when struck by a car.

Both were reported in good condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, although Miss Brekke was held to be examined for a possible back sprain and wrist injuries. She was released Monday.

Darlene McQuinn, senior from Pender, was held in Lincoln General Hospital with facial cuts and bruises after the car she was riding in ran into a six-foot dirt mound. Her companion, Peter L. Heintzelman, received a shoulder injury and face cuts.

Ekberg Receives Promotion To Brigadier General In National Pershing Rifles

Dean E. Ekberg of Omaha, junior in the College of Business Administration, was promoted to brigadier general of the National Honorary Society of Pershing Rifles last week-end.

His advancement, meteoric in most military circles, was announced at the business meeting of the Little National Assembly of the Pershing Rifles. Forty delegates representing 103 colleges and universities attended.

Ekberg, who only three years ago was a headquarters clerk, will control the activities of 117 military units in 43 states.

Ekberg, the new national commander with the Pershing Rifles Rank, will succeed John A. Graf, Jr., Talmage, senior in Engineering College.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Ekberg of Omaha. Ekberg was graduated from North High School in June, 1950, where he was enrolled in the junior ROTC program for four years serving as battalion adjutant and a member of the rifle team during his senior year. Upon graduation from high school, he was awarded a citizenship medal given annually to the best senior cadet.

This summer Ekberg will attend ROTC summer camp at Ft. Benning, Ga., where he will receive six weeks of practical field training. Members of the Infantry squad won the annual Phalanx Drill Competition at the University last week.

The men were selected in a precision drill contest. The winning team was composed of: George Medley of Lee Hall, Va.; James Parrish of Lincoln, James Genova of Cheyenne, Wyo., and John Damon of Auburn.

David Lynch of Lincoln, Howard Diedericksen of Bancroft, Stanley Matzke, Lyle Denniston and Richard Bacon all of Lincoln.

Since its organization in 1892, the National Pershing Rifles has followed the purpose, "To encourage, preserve and develop the highest ideals of the military profession and recognize those cadets who show a high degree of military ability." Pershing Rifles is also an honorary fraternity for basic military students. It was first organized by General John J. Pershing as a model crack drill squad. The original name of the organization was Varsity Rifles. When General Pershing left for other duties, the unit was renamed in his honor. Selection of members is based on scholarship, leadership, drill field performance, appearance, attendance, and the showing of interest in military activities.
