

Thursday Open House To Begin E-Week

Engineer's Week will get underway Thursday beginning with an open house in the afternoon from 2 to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m.

The Open House will give students a chance to see what the field of engineering involves and the educational opportunities that it affords.

The over-all co-chairmen for the event are Norman Scott and John Whitlock. John Marks is publicity chairman.

The various fields of engineering to be represented in displays are: Agricultural engineers, engineering mechanics department, bacteriological department, electrical engineering department and mechanical engineers.

The central theme of the agricultural engineers display is irrigation. Steps in crop production and water control will be shown.

Steps in designing and manufacturing an item, including drawings, sketches, and assembly will be featured by the engineering mechanics department.

Chemical production by means of microbiological actions will be the main feature in the demonstration of the bacteriological department.

Various displays including an electric chair, a model telephone set-up, and a miniature power plant will be the high-lights of the electrical engineering department. This demonstration will be on display in Bessey Hall.

The mechanical engineer department will have on display experiments on low temperatures, and a small steam engine operated by liquid oxygen.

The open house, starting E Week on the campus, has been a tradition on Nebraska's campus for several years and is to be modeled after the 83 previous events of this sort.

Included in the open house display along with the many newly featured items will be some of the older exhibits that have been used consistently for years because of the wide interest shown in them.

At the awards banquet, which will be held at the Lincoln Hotel Friday evening, the O. J. Ferguson award will be presented to the outstanding senior engineering student. The award will be presented by Roy W. Green, dean of Engineering College.

The freshman student in the college with the highest scholastic average will be presented the Sigma Tau Freshman Award. Bob Peterson of Lincoln, Sigma Tau president, will present the awards.

Other awards include keys for outstanding work on the staff of Blue Print, engineering publication, and departmental awards for various phases of Engineer's Week.

Louis Lundstrom, University graduate and assistant director of General Motors Proving Ground at Milford, Mich., will give the main address at the E-Week convocation Friday at 11 a.m. in Love Library auditorium.

From Tekamah, Lundstrom entered the University in 1933 where he spent six years earning a B.Sc. degree in mechanical engineering as well as a M.Sc.

In 1939, upon graduating from the University, he was employed by General Motors. On the strength of his contributions to the proving grounds, such as the design and modification of conventional highway proving equipment, he was promoted to assistant director of the proving grounds.

IVY DAY CHAINS Helen Utterback Named Soloist

Helen Jean Utterback, a junior in Teachers College, has been selected as the 1953 Ivy Day soloist.

During the processional of the Ivy and Daisy Chains, Miss Utterback, a music major, will lead the singing of "Who Will Bear the Ivy."

The soloist was chosen this year by Black Masque Chapter of Mortar Board as one of the outstanding junior women in the field of music.

Miss Utterback has been a member of the University Singers for one and a half years and is the present vice president of Delta Omicron, music sorority. She has been doing vocal work since she was in junior high school and has been a soloist on a number of occasions. This year she was in charge of the Search Week choral concert.

In addition to her music activities, the Ivy Day soloist is vice president of BABW and president of International House. She has been a Coed Counselor for two years.

Miss Utterback will practice with the Ivy and Daisy Chain members for the first time Thursday at the 5 p.m. rehearsal in Parlors XYZ of the Union. Final rehearsal of the chains will be at 5 p.m. Friday, May 8 at the Y temple. This practice will be with the band.

In addition to the 104 coeds who were previously announced as chain members, will be Marlene Hutchinson, a freshman.

Union Board Elects Twelve Student Managers Join Faculty, Alumni Members

Twelve University students were elected to the Union Board Tuesday afternoon in the Union Faculty Lounge.

To be eligible for election to the Board, the candidates had to serve at least one year in Union activities, be outstanding in their activities and a junior or a senior during the 1953-54 school year.

Juniors

The junior Board members from the city campus are Dolores Carag, Mimi Hamer and Nancy Hemphill.

Miss Carag is a sophomore in the School of Fine Arts. She is chairman of the dance committee. Last year she won the Union's outstanding freshman award. She is a member of Towne Club.

Miss Hamer, a member of Delta Gamma, is a sophomore in Teachers College. She is chairman of the music committee.

Miss Hemphill, sophomore in Ag College, is historian of Pi Beta Phi. She is chairman of the personnel committee this year. She was the Union's candidate for Activities Queen at the AUF Auction last fall.

Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, and Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honorary for freshmen women. She is a member of the University Singers and vice-president of Panhellenic.

Meehan, a junior in Arts and Sciences, is president of Newman Club, Catholic student organization and a member of Beta Theta Pi. He has served on the special activities committee for the past two years.

Sipple, a junior in Business Administration, is president of Sigma Nu, member of Alpha Kappa Psi, member of the Student Council, and assistant business manager of The Daily Nebraskan. He was chairman of the recreation committee last semester and is now chairman of the general entertainment committee. Sipple also won the Union's outstanding freshman award.

Joy Wachal, secretary of Delta Gamma, is a junior in Teachers College. She is a present Board member and vice-president of AUF. She was also a delegate to the national conference of the National Association of College Unions.

Seniors

The senior Board members from the city campus are Ernie Bebb, Jean Davis, Bob Meehan, Stan Sipple and Joy Wachal.

Bebb is a present Board member. He is chairman of the budget committee. A junior in Business Administration, Bebb is past secretary of Alpha Tau Omega, member of Alpha Kappa Psi, professional business administration fraternity and vice-president of Corn Cobs. He was a delegate to the national conference of the National Association of College Unions, which was held on the University of California campus in Berkeley. Bebb is regional president of the Association.

Jean Davis, junior in Arts and Sciences, is recording secretary of Sigma Kappa. She is chairman of the convocations committee. She is also a member of

Ag College

The junior Board members from Ag College are Junior Knobel and Evelyn Lauritzen.

Knobel, a sophomore in Ag College, is a member of Farm House. He is a member of the student activities committee and chairman of the dance committee.

Miss Lauritzen, an Ag College sophomore, is chairman of the general entertainment committee and a member of the student activities committee.

The senior Board members from Ag College are Don Lees and Caroline Ross.

Lees, a junior in Ag College, was chairman of the general entertainment committee last year. This year he is a sponsor of the committee. He is also a member of the student activities committee and the Union Board.

Miss Ross, a junior in home economics, is a member of Kappa Delta. She is secretary of the student activities committee and a member of the dance committee. She has worked on all the Ag Union's committees.

The Union Board is composed of six faculty members, three alumni members, and 12 student members, eight from the city campus and four from the Ag campus.

Principals Shine In KK's Staging, 'Anything Goes'

By DICK MILLER Staff Writer

Ellie Guilliat was excellent in her portrayal of Mrs. Harcourt, as was Dick Marrs as Sir Evelyn. Marian McCulloch was also very brassy in a very brassy role.

'Anything Goes' is the third in a series of musicals presented by the Kosmet Klub. In general, the shows have improved from year to year, with more professional polish, better performances, and best of all, better musicals. However, 'Anything Goes' exhibited some of the errors of past years.

The show was, again, too long and played too slowly. Large scenes with the chorus seemed, at times, to drag and the stars often looked too crowded. In the "Blow Gabriel Blow" number, particularly, it was often difficult to see Miss Lehr, who was singing and the choreography seemed to me, at this point, particularly labored and artificial—hardly up to their fine work—hardly up to their fine work, where a parody of different eras of dancing was really amusing. The orchestra was barely adequate and showed a lack of rehearsal as well as of spirit. The scenery this year was an improvement in that it was easily and quickly changed, but this was its only real advantage.

The show is bright, full of good music, and well worth seeing.

In a production high-lighted by good music and fine performance by the principal players, the Kosmet Klub presented, last night at the Nebraska Theater, the Cole Porter musical 'Anything Goes'. As a whole, the musical was excellent, however, weak it may have been in one or two aspects. Good work from the principals, however, made the show one of the best seen from the Kosmet Klub.

Easily the most outstanding member of the cast was Hank Gibson, who, as Dr. Moon, mugged, slapsided, and generally took over the show whenever he was on the scene. His performance was professional in its polish and stage-sense. As his capable straight-man and companion, Nick Amos did some fine singing, as well as presenting a fine appearance as typical musical comedy hero.

Among the ladies, Jean Carol Delong, playing the romantic lead, was appealing, with a fine voice and good stage deportment. Unlike some ingenues in the past few years, it was possible to hear every word and every note she sang. Marilyn Lehr, with Gibson, was easily the center of every eye, and sang with the same relish and spirit which distinguished her performance in last year's show.

SC Elections Near Candidates Start Rallies, Campaigns

Election for Student Council and Class officer positions will be held May 4 at Ag Union and Love Library from 7:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Identification cards must be presented in order to cast a vote.

Campaigns are getting underway with posters, stickers and pictures appearing throughout campus buildings. A bulletin board containing pictures of all the candidates for both Student Council and Class officers can be found in the Lobby of the city Union and the Ag Union.

The Student Council encourages posters, and signs of any type, and candidates may have rallies and speeches as long as they don't interfere with student welfare.

Students may place signs on the bulletin boards inside buildings and organized houses.

If candidates have any questions about the advertising or campaigning, they may contact Bob Peterson, Bob Hasebrook, Dean Linscott or Pat Ball, members of the election committee.

Candidate Platforms

Candidates for class officers are being asked to turn in a statement of their election platform to the Daily Nebraskan office by 3 p.m. today.

The pictures of the candidates for both class office and the Student Council are on display in the lobby of the Union.

If the Nebraskan does not receive a candidate's platform, his name will be accompanied by the words, "No platform submitted."

Student Awarded Second Place In National Contest

Mrs. Edward E. Thoreson, University junior, has been notified that her entry in a national contest conducted by Service magazine has been awarded second prize of $25.

Contestants were to write a letter explaining what ending they thought was appropriate for the story, "Which Road?" published in an earlier issue of Service, a Cities Service Company magazine.

The story was forced by the president of a large manufacturing firm to choose his own road to success. The boy could imitate the executive and eventually take over millions of dollars plus heavy responsibilities. On the other hand, the young man could be like his father, and be a well-paid but worry-free employee in the factory.

According to Mrs. Thoreson's prize-winning letter, the young man chose the course his father had taken. Mrs. Thoreson said she believed this way would make him happier, for he would be able to share both the responsibilities and the benefits of the business, and

May 1 Opens Car Taping Campaign

A "life saving" station will be set up between Social Science building and Burnett Hall just off 12th street Friday from 1-5 p.m.

The station will supply motorists with "lite-a-bumper" tape. The tape will be placed on the rear bumpers of cars for a fee of $1 by Lincoln Junior Chamber of Commerce members.

Applied in one-inch strips across the bumper of the automobile, the tape will last for three years. It is made of plastic with thousands of tiny glass lenses imbedded on the outside surface of the strip. The reflective material is visible for about one-half mile and can be seen by motorists approaching the rear of the "taped" car about 70 per cent quicker than ordinary tail lights.

The effectiveness of the tape was tested by officials at Iowa State College.

The campaign is co-sponsored by the Lincoln Jaycees and the Daily Nebraska as part of Mayor Victor Anderson's "Safety Day."

Roger Larson, assistant Union director and Lincoln Jaycee, said it would be an all-out campaign to apply reflective tape to as many student cars as possible. Sgt. John Furrow, of the University police, added his approval to the campaign by saying, "I think it (the tape) should be required for it shows up in rain and snow ..."

Chancellor To Address Study Club

Chancellor R. G. Gustavson will address the Society for the Advancement of Scandinavian Study at 2:00 p.m. Friday in 104 Burnett.

The organization will celebrate its 43rd annual meeting on May 1st and 2nd on the University campus.

Chancellor Gustavson will give the welcome Friday and will speak at the annual dinner on the topic "Scandinavian Science."

The visiting members of the society will be the dinner guests of the Nordic Club of Lincoln.

Dr. Paul Schach, associate professor of Germanic languages, will read a paper entitled "The Literature of Descent in Old Norse Literature." Papers will also be read by Professors Adolph F. Benson, Yale; Richard Beck, No. Dak.; A. M. Sturtevant, Kan.; Walter Johnson, Wash., and Sverre Arestad, Wash.

Anyone may attend the meetings on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

Dean G. W. Rosenlof and past secretary Professor Joseph Alexis are in charge of arrangements.

Journalism Day Luncheon Set For Saturday, Lasch To Speak

The annual Journalism Day will be celebrated Saturday.

The day is an observance of the 30th anniversary of the School of Journalism at the University and will mark the date of awarding outstanding high school journalists. University seniors and professional men and women from newspapers, radio and advertising agencies of the state.

The highlight of the luncheon, to be held in the Terrace Room of the Lincoln Hotel, will be a speech by Robert Lasch, graduate of the School of Journalism in 1928.

Lasch, now editorial writer on the St. Louis Post Dispatch, was the former editorial writer for the Chicago Sun-Times. He is an author and article writer for magazines. In 1947, he won a $1,000 award for his article, "For A Free Press" which appeared in the Atlantic Monthly.

Lasch was a former member of the Fellow of Neiman Foundation for Journalism at Harvard University.

Meeting Set For Ivy Day Song Directors

A meeting for all song directors of the women's groups participating in Ivy Day sing will be held Thursday at 5:00 in 315 in the Union, announced Sue Holmes, AWS chairman of the sing.

Each director is asked to bring three copies of the song they will sing in the contest and instructions will be given the directors at this time.

The women's sing will be held at 10:30 a.m. on May 9. There will be 18 groups participating. Each group is limited to 25 members including the director. Last year's winner was Alpha Phi.

The judges for the competition this year are Mr. George G. Peterson, Kearney High School; Mrs. Elsie Howe Swanson, Omaha Central; and Mrs. Bernard B. Gribble, Brownell Hall in Omaha.

Princeton Youths Attempt Panty Raid

The first panty raid of the year was started and stopped when students at Princeton University turned a civil defense air raid drill into a three hour riot which started with a parade and ended with a threatened raid on a nearby women's college.

The entire police force of the town was called out to squelch the rioters who invaded a movie theater, paraded in and out of the cars of a standing train and marched on the girl's dormitory at Westminster Choir College.

Dean Francis B. Godolphin stopped the fracas by announcing that everyone not back in his room within two minutes after 12:30 would be threatened with immediate expulsion from the University.

Coed Counselors Mass Meeting Today At 5 P.M.

Coed Counselors will hold a mass meeting for board members and new Coed Counselors Thursday at 5 p.m. in Ellen Smith Hall.

Dr. William Hall, professor of educational psychology and measurements and History and Principles of Education, will address the group on the subject of "counseling."

Billoni

By BILL DEVRIES Staff Writer

Employer, to blonde who has just filled out a job application: "Miss Jones, under 'Experience' could you be more specific than 'Oh boy!'"

I hardly ever praise a man unless he seems demanding. With you, my friend it takes one look.

To see you are outstanding.

Your nose is straight without a flaw

Your teeth as white as pearls,

Those deep blue eyes will mystify and tantalize the girls.

Your hair is like a silky sea

Your skin is tanned and clear,

There is one flaw above your eye—

Or is that on the mirror?

He: my girl is a twin.

Him: "How can you tell them apart?"

"He. Her brother walks different."

The weather man says to be aware of rain, rain and more rain for the next few days.

SAFETY ...

He was dug out of a wrecked car and hurried to a doctor's office.

"I can't do much for you," confessed the doctor. "You see, I'm a veterinary surgeon."

"That's all right, Doc," replied the patient weakly. "I guess they brought me to the right place, I was an ass to think I could do fifty on those tires."

CATTLE HERDSMEN Conference Set To Open Thursday

The second Annual Beef Cattle Herdsmen's Conference is to be held at the College of Agriculture Thursday and Friday.

The conference is designed to bring herdsman up to date on latest practices in the field. Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel, chairman of the animal husbandry department, has arranged to have outstanding herdsman, breeders, breed association representatives, and animal husbandry staff members conduct various portions of the conference.

A highlight of the conference will be a talk by Col. A. W. Thompson, nationally famous auctioneer from Lincoln on "Factors Which Made Successful Sales."

The conference is open to 125 persons. An enrollment fee of $5 will be charged. This will include a ticket to the dinner Thursday night.

Registration and fees should be sent to Prof. Loeffel, Animal Husbandry Dept., College of Agr., Lincoln, Neb.

The conference opens at 8 a.m. Thursday.
