

Cornhusker Co-op Reaches Softball Finals

Unbeaten Practical Arts Team Is Foe

By BILL MUDELL, Intramural Sports Columnist

It will be Cornhusker Co-op against Practical Arts for the 1953 intramural All-University softball championship. The Cornhuskers won the right to meet the Arts softballers by capturing the fraternity title Monday night by an 8-3 tally over Alpha Tau Omega.

of tallies as Sandebault walked and Mac Bailey doubled to right field.

Both pitchers allowed but three hits but the difference came in that Nelson allowed but one walk while Kunes surpassed even his last Thursday total by issuing 14 free tickets. Kunes led in the strikeout column with ten while Nelson sent nine down swinging.

The Tau big guns that pulled out Thursday's contest with Beta Sigma Psi were effectively silenced Monday. Only Cotter was much of a thorn in Nelson's side, getting two of the three ATO safeties.

The 1953 finale will be staged on the Coliseum Field No. 1 at 5 p.m. Wednesday for the big championship. Practical Arts won the Independent title and the ticket to Wednesday's meeting by dropping the Lutheran Student Association last Friday by a 9-0 score.

As things look now, it will probably be a pitcher's battle all the way with Nelson opposing double no-hitter Arnie Boich. Nelson also owns one no-run no-hit contest this year.

Cornhusker Co-op vs Alpha Tau Omega
Wray	3 1 1 2 2
Chang	3 1 0 0 0
Sc'ltz	2 1 1 0 1
Nelson	2 1 0 1 1
Wolfe	2 1 0 1 0
Demm	2 1 0 1 0
Wolfe	2 1 0 1 0
Scott	2 1 0 1 0
Totals 21 8 3 18 4
Totals 20 3 3 15 4

The new champs jumped off to a three-run lead in the first frame on three walks and two Tau errors, all three counters being unearned. The losers appeared to be striking back early as Gene Cotter led off in the bottom of the first with a single, stole second and raced all the way home on an error, but Nelson bore down and struck out the next three batters.

Cornhusker's first hit came in the second canto and drove in the fourth run of the fray. With two away, Roger Stuckenholz singled to center driving in Fred Saathoff who had gained first after being hit by one of Kunes' pitches.

It appeared bleak indeed for the Taus the next three stanzas as Nelson sent them down in one-two-three order. Al Blessing was the only ATO that gained first during this span, getting hit with a pitch, but he was erased on a neat double-play, Wray to Demmel in the third.

The champs sewed it up in the top of the fifth as one hit and six walks produced four more runs. Wray's single was the only mar in a long series of bases on balls in this canto.

Nebraska Tennis Team Is Underrated, Undermanned

Howard Vann

There is not one native Nebraskan on the university tennis team! A few weeks ago three of the five members on the tennis squad came storming into the Nebraskan office and poured their troubles in this writer's lap. Their complaints were very justified and I thought that it would be a good idea to pass their whims on to you.

First of all one must consider the veterans on the Cornhusker squad. There is only one letterman on the entire NU team. Mike Holyoke is the lone returning veteran that tennis coach Ed Higginbotham had to work with at the beginning of the season. Mike's hometown is PASADENA, CALIF.

Right now the Huskermen have gained two impressive wins over their opponents. One of the wins a grueling eleven and one-half hour match which the Huskers finally won.

One of the main troubles the netmen presented was the lack of interest the campus and the potential athletes had in tennis. Each year they stated that there are hardly enough men that do turn out for the sport to make an entire team.

He's right too, because there is still the opportunity for a man to earn and wear his letter.

It is a pitiful situation when there is not one Nebraskan listed on the starting five. The original hometowns of the varsity men range from California to Minnesota. Warren Andrews is originally from OKLAHOMA, Jim Campbell is from WYOMING, Ray Colson is from MINNESOTA, and Frank Redman is from MIAMI, FLA. Some of these men live in Nebraska now but none of them claim it as their home.

There are some freshmen tennis players who claim the Cornhusker state as their birthplace but there is still a need for an increasing number of men to try out.

True there is an art to playing tennis but the Huskers have a competent coach that can teach you the fundamentals and develop your abilities.

In some of the major schools tennis and golf are two of the main sports. There is no reason why tennis cannot be on an even level with some of the other major sports. Naturally it will not draw the crowds that some of the other major sports are able to, but at least there will be an attempt to develop some interest on the part of the university fans.

Before there can be a winning team there must be more men trying out for the team and a higher point of interest by the university body.

On The Cinders

Another bit of information came from the track office in the coliseum. The first thing that the coach had to say is that the Missouri Valley Association has extended the time for freshmen track marks to be turned in. The main reason for doing this was the fall of bad weather that hit the entire region. The date has been moved up to May 30.

The next thing the coach talked about was how impressed he was with the performances he had observed by high school trackmen last weekend at the annual high school state meet.

"There is a fine crop of high school athletes coming up next year," stated Weir. The coach is anticipating a winning team in 1955. The incoming freshmen are not eligible for varsity competition until their sophomore year.

I have one final word to say about the trackmen before they leave for Ames, Ia. and the Big Seven Conference championships Friday. NU has lost two very close contests in their last two meets—one to Missouri, 66-65, and one to the highly touted Kansas State Wildcats, 68-63.

Right now I can see just two weaknesses on the Nebraska team. They need someone to score in the sprints and more depth in the middle-distances.

Husker Coach Bob Hamblet is on the extreme right. The Nebraskans will carry a record of four wins and eight losses into the meet. Peterson, top golfer on the squad this season, was fifth in the Big Seven meet last year.
