

NEBRASKAN

300 Degrees Will Be Conferred

Friday Marks First NU Summer Graduation

For the first time in its 83-year history the University of Nebraska this year will conduct summer commencement exercises.

The program will be held at 2 p.m. Friday, July 31, in the Student Union ballroom and degrees will be issued to about 300.

Presiding at the commencement and conferring the degrees will be acting Chancellor John K. Selleck in his first all-University appearance since he became head of the University on July 15.

J. Philip Colbert, dean of the University's division of Student Affairs, will address the graduates briefly on, "Some Observations at Commencement." He will also give the charge to the class, using a text prepared by former Chancellor R. G. Gustavson.

Music for the program will be provided by four University staff members, Myron J. Roberts, organist; Emanuel Wishnow, violin; Donald Lentz, flute, and Earnest Harrison, piano, and by a graduate student, Jack M. Anderson, baritone.

The order of the exercises: Overture by Handel, played by Myron J. Roberts, organist. The National Anthem. Invocation, the Rev. Sam N. Gibson, executive secretary, University Y.M.C.A.

Sonata in A Minor, by Telemann, played by Emanuel Wishnow, Donald Lentz, and Earnest Harrison.

Brief address and Charge to the Class, Dean J. Philip Colbert.

Conferring of Degrees, acting Chancellor John K. Selleck.

Solo, "The Song of the Pilgrims," by Williams, sung by Jack M. Anderson, baritone. Benediction.

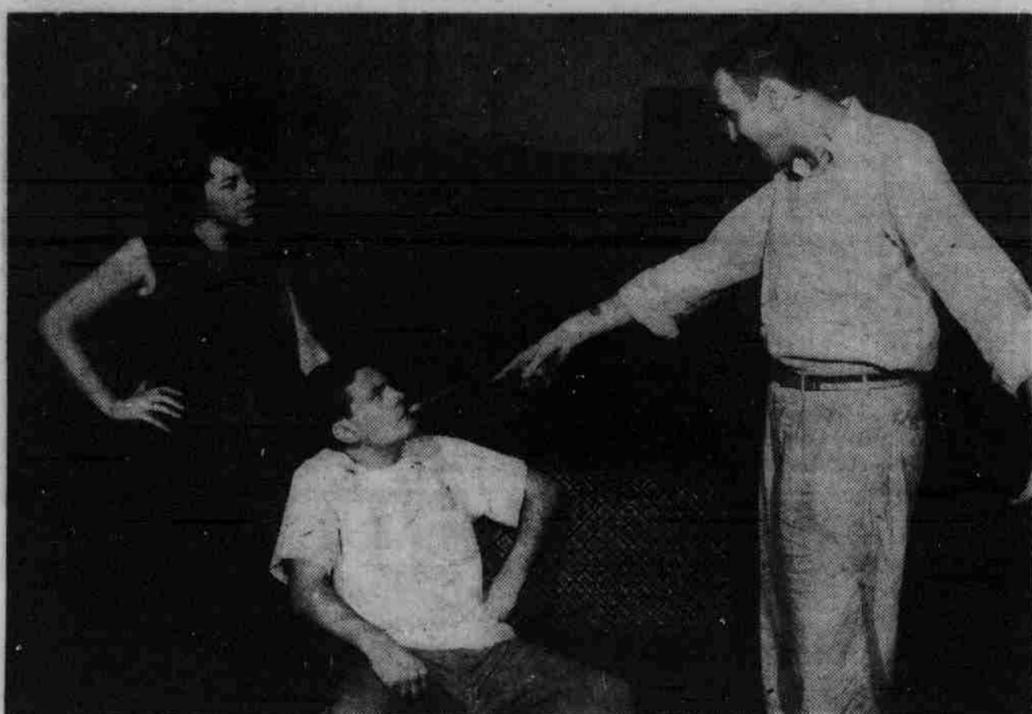

Symposium To Climax Workshop

A symposium on the problem of cerebral palsy will climax the Summer Session Workshop in Cerebral Palsy on Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Love Library auditorium.

The guest speakers will be Dr. H. Winnett Orr, orthopedist; Dr. E. W. Hancock, pediatrician; Mr. Don Warner, assistant superintendent of schools in Omaha; Dr. Wayne Reed, United States Office of Education; Dr. Raymond Taibil, director of division of special education in the state department of public instruction. Dr. R. A. Worcester, chairman of the department of educational psychology and measurements, will preside.

Under a grant of money from the United Cerebral Palsy Association, persons of national stature have visited the workshops this summer.

All students are invited to attend the meeting.

Theater troubles are brought out in a scene from the University Theater's only summer production, "Light Up The Sky." Frank Bach (center) who plays Sidney Black, play producer listens to the plights of Marilyn Lehr who portrays his wife, Frances Black and Jack Babcock who plays director, Carlton Fitzgerald.

Moss Hart's 'Light Up The Sky' NU Summer Theater Featured On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

Moss Hart's "Light Up The Sky," a satire on the theater, will be presented by the University Summer Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Union ballroom.

No admission will be charged. The plot centers around young playwright, Peter Sloan who is involved in the task of staging his first show.

Conflict is heightened when the actors and actresses turn against the show after the discouraging first-night reviews.

Humor appears in the playwright's handling of the idiosyncrasies and emotional whims of the stars of his show.

Jack Parris plays the conscientious, idealistic playwright who takes seriously all the pitfalls and headaches involved in producing a play.

Marilyn Lehr portrays the producer's fluttery wife who was a former skater.

Mary Sidner plays the star of the young playwright's show who is thoroughly impressed with her importance.

Jack Babcock portrays director Carlton Fitzgerald, who, according to Babcock "is the complete example of the screwball type of director."

Frank Bach plays Sidney Black, the producer.

Others in the cast are Blanche Duckworth Graham, Joyce Iwoh, Harry Langdon, Dale Johnson and Al Dunavan.

Play director is Max Whitaker, assistant professor of speech and director of the Experimental Theater.

Scenery crew is headed by Mary Gale Siegler. Assisting is Marlene Fiscus, Jack Parris, Harry Langdon, Carol Wright, Clara Schwartz and A. J. Mueller.

Driving Course August 3-19

Over 39,000 dead! Over 1,400,000 injured! Over $3,000,000,000 wasted in traffic accidents.

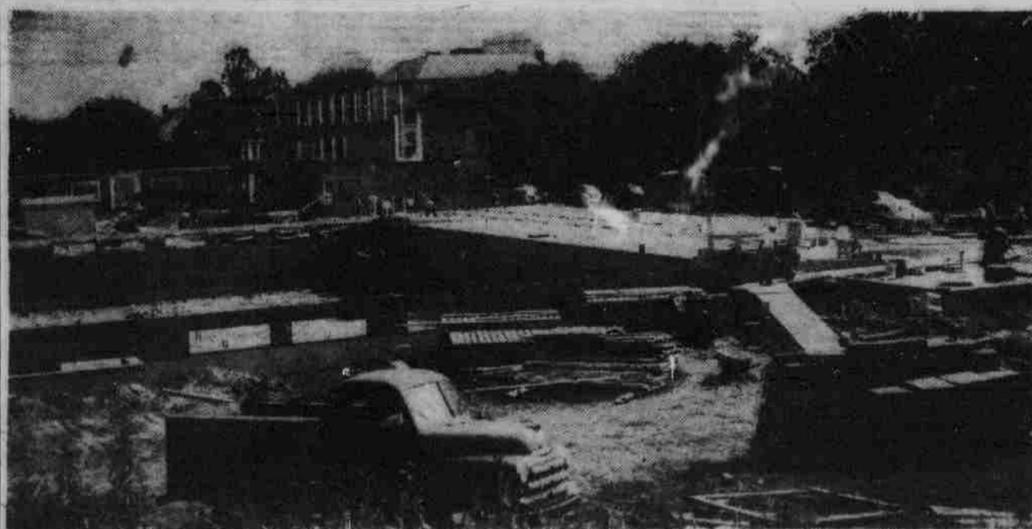

Our high school youth are responsible for five times as many fatal accidents for 1,000,000 miles of driving as the safest age group, 45-49. Statistics show that driver education reduces accidents in half.

A basic course in driver training workshop for teachers and administrators, and others interested in driver education will be held from August 3 at 8 a.m. through August 7. The course will carry one hour of undergraduate credit. The tuition fee is $5.00.

An advanced course will begin on August 14 at 8 a.m. and extend through August 19. The basic course is a prerequisite to the advanced course. The credit and tuition are the same.

All enrollees completing a workshop will be presented with a certificate of completion from the University, American Automobile Association, and State Department of Education permitting them to teach driver education in Nebraska high schools.

Applications may be secured from Milton Bechmann, assistant professor of mathematics, Teachers College, Room 203.

Construction of the new, two-million-dollar men's dorms is rapidly becoming a reality. Completion of the dorms, located on 15th St. from S to U Streets, will be approximately Sept., 1954.

To House 670 Men New Dorms Realize Dreams

For more than a decade plans have been taking form to provide dormitory facilities for men students at the University. One of the greatest problems—financing—was solved when the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, a branch of the Federal Security Administration, approved a $2,000,000 loan to construct three dormitory units and a large dining hall on the city campus.

The dormitories, which are being constructed on 15th Street from S Street to U Street, are expected to be ready for occupancy in September of 1954.

Construction has been progressing unusually rapidly.

All of the new units will be built of brick with stone trim. They will be much larger than the three existing units and will have flat rather than peaked roofs. Together, the new and old units will form a large quadrangle, about two blocks long and a block wide. All units, except the dormitory administration building, will face an inner court. In the center of the court, adjoining the administration unit, will be the dining hall. The dining unit is planned as a very colorful and attractive room, serving 650 men.

The new two million dollar unit will house 670 men. Added to the three existing units, this will provide dormitory accommodations for about 920 men.

As early as 1951 the University began buying property about a block east of Andrews Hall, and earmarking it for dormitory use. After the building of three dormitory units in 1946 and 1947, the shortage of building materials and the lack of financing following World War II blocked plans to proceed with construction of additional dormitory units.

Bridge

Augensteins Win Match

Norma and Stan Augenstein are the winners of the Summer Session Bridge Tournament held Wednesday as announced by James Porter, assistant professor of architecture, director of the tournament.

Second place winners were Eda E. Romberg and Florence Dunham.

Bloodmobile Stops In Lincoln Tuesday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Lincoln July 28, at the Cornhusker Hotel Ballroom, Blood Chairmen Winfield Elmen and Harold Read announced.

Appointments may be secured by calling the Lancaster Red Cross Office.