

Sport Briefs

By GEORGE PAYNICH

Two weeks ago we ran a column on golfing and football hereabouts, only to have said article decimated by ruthless advertising practices. (Only joking editor.) In that article we had a bit about Husker back John Bordogna, in which we predicted that he will be one of the nation's top tailbacks this fall.

There are many who have since that time questioned the statement. He can't pass and he can't hit his receiver, they insist.

To Cornhusker fans, the fact should be clear that Bordogna has looked his best when passing from the "TCU Spread" and other such similar formations employed by Nebraska in the past two seasons.

When operating from the "T" as a quarterback, Bordogna seemed rather mediocre. When he had to take the ball, turn and fade back and then throw, his success was limited.

From the single wing he will have more time to throw. Also from this formation he will be able to pass the only way he enjoys—that running, leaping, passing style that seems to be his forte, and which unfortunately is deemed by some fans as too "fancy" or flashy.

About his running there is nothing to dispute. Bordogna's tricky deceptive style has always been his biggest asset and a nightmare to his foes.

So, if John can find someone on the other end of those bullet-like aerials, he should make quite a splash in this, his final year of collegiate ball.

The only real sports activity around Lincoln this summer seems to be out at Sherman Field, where a bunch of real veteran ballplayers and a handful of youngsters (?) are supplying the capitol city with some winning baseball after a four year drought.

One of those younger Chiefs, Walt Linden, catcher, (he's about the fifth Lincoln receiver this season and it looks like he has the knowhow to handle the job,) is a graduate of the University of Illinois college of Business Administration. Walt majored in accounting and hopes to attend law school this fall. Rumor has it that he is considering the University of Nebraska law school.

Vance Carlson, Lincoln right-hander, who hails from McPherson, Kansas, is a graduate of McPherson College in the same town. Vance seems to like the college life so much that he has sub-leased a campus apartment from our old Bus Ad finance prof, Mr. Broman.

1953 Cornhusker Football Schedule

Colson Wins NU Men's Tennis Championship

Roy Colson defeated Norris Peden Wednesday in two sets; 6-2, 6-4, to win the 1953 Men's Summer Singles Tennis Championship at the University.

Both Colson and Peden have previously been members of the University varsity tennis squad. Peden played on the varsity from 1932-1933 while Colson was a member of the 1953 University squad. Colson, who will be a senior in Teachers College this fall, has played tennis approximately six years. He was a member of the tennis team in Brookline High School in Massachusetts.

A man who thinks he is indispensable should notice the hole his finger leaves after he pulls it out of the water.
