Faculty Committee Mum On Nominees

The five-man faculty committee selected to discuss possible appointees for Chancellor of the University met in a secret conference Monday, Sept. 4, and will release no report, a committee member stated, to The Nebraskan.

The committee is composed of:

David Dow, Professor of Law; Niles H. Barnard, Professor of Mechanical Engineering; M. L. Baker, Associate Director of Agricultural Experiment Station; M. A. Basoco, Professor of Mathematics; and C. M. Hicks, Professor of Business Organization.

Since the resignation of R. G. Gustavson, John K. Selleck was appointed as the acting Chancellor. However action towards appointing a permanent chancellor has not been speeded because the temporary chancellor seems to be satisfying everyone connected with the University, according to a statement made by Dr. Earle Johnson of Grand Island, a Regent.

Because of the possibility of pressure on the candidate the committee will not release names under discussion.

Reporter Vacancies

The Nebraskan staff needs reporters for first-semester publication. News editor Tom Woodward urged all students interested in reporting to fill out qualification blanks in the Nebraskan office, Student Union basement. No experience is necessary.

Auditions Planned For Vocal Groups

Tryouts for Madrigal and University Singers are being held through Wednesday, Sept. 18.

David Foltz, professor of voice, will hear the Madrigal Singers tryouts in Room 112 of the Music Building. University Singers tryouts will be held in Room 104, under the supervision of Dr. Arthur Westbrook, professor of music.

Because neither group is entirely composed of music majors, a student is eligible for membership in either group, Foltz said. Members are chosen according to ability to sing and work together, alertness to direction and voice blend.

The Madrigal group has a membership of approximately 25 voices, while University Singers includes from 100 to 120.

Registration Increase Due To Vet Influx

Floyd W. Hoover, director of registrations and records, announced today that the total enrollment is expected to reach 7,000 students by the end of registrations on October 3.

Applications from new students for admission to the university are running about 16 per cent ahead of last year, reported Hoover. He said that applications received to date assure a larger freshman enrollment than the 1,461 of September, 1952.

"We attribute the increase largely to the G.I. veterans of the Korean conflict," stated Hoover. While this group does not compare with the 1946 influx of veterans, it is expected that within four years the total veteran population will be around 1,500 students.

In 1948 the university had an all-time high of 10,250 students. However, the enrollment fell nearly 10 per cent each year in 1949, 1950, and 1951. In 1952 the decline stopped and leveled off at between 6,800 and 6,900. The 1949 to 1952 decline during the Korean War was relatively small in comparison to the 4,000 total enrollment figures during the World War II period.

With the majority of the new Korean veterans coming in as freshmen, Hoover expects the total enrollment to remain nearly the same for the next four or five years.

ROTC Cadets May Not Receive Reserve Army Commissions In '55

Number Of Officers To Depend Upon Service Needs

University Army ROTC cadets have been notified that all students graduating in 1955 that have taken the prescribed course may not receive their commissions. This announcement was made by Col. James H. Workman following notification by the army of policy changes.

The probability is that all graduates in 1955 cannot be used as officers on active duty at that time. The number to be commissioned and ordered to active duty will depend on the needs of the service, Army Reserve requirements, and the status of selective service at that time. Graduates not commissioned will be awarded certificates of capacity as second lieutenants. They will be subject to selective service call after graduation.

Those commissioned may not receive their commission in the branch in which they received ROTC training. The policy is to make branch assignments in accordance with capabilities, training and preference, but the over-riding consideration is the need of the service. Graduates must therefore be prepared to accept appointment in any branch where needed.

Col. Workman emphasized that standards for advanced course selection have been raised and these standards must be conformed to. Definite quotas for advanced course enrollment are established. This quota stands at 175 for this year and will undoubtedly be filled.

There have been no basic changes made in the ROTC program. Forty freshmen have been selected as regular midshipmen for the 1953-54 session. Sixty more freshmen will be selected as contract midshipmen.

Welcome All Students

The University of Nebraska is beginning its eighty-third academic year, and all of us who are members of the University family—faculty and students—hope it will be one of the finest years in Cornhusker history.

During the past week I have had the opportunity to appear on the New Student program but not until now have I had a chance to say "Welcome Back" to upperclassmen.

With us this year are a number of Korean veterans and I want to give a special welcome to these members of our family. We are proud to have you with us. Our experience with the veterans of World War II taught us to expect better-than-average performance for veterans.

I am sure that all of you, whether new students, veterans, or returning upperclassmen, understand that the University family is a unit which recognizes the equality of membership in our community. Those of you who are on the campus for the first time, I hope, will appreciate that. There are no "second-class" Cornhuskers.

'Daily' Cut From Nebraskan; 3 Issues A Week Scheduled

Air ROTC 'Fly Or Out' Order Killed

Non-Flighters To See Truell

"College lives" were literally saved for over 100 Senior AFROTC students Friday. In a telegram from Washington Friday morning the AFROTC detachment was instructed to "disregard all instructions and information previously sent out."

This means that these seniors who received letters stating "that if they did not enter the flight program they would be discharged" may now continue in the program.

The previous letter sent out listed the following information:

Budget limitations set by the Congress of the United States have reduced the objective of the Air Force from 143 wings to 120 wings. The officer requirement associated with the reduced force is computed at approximately 30,000 less than that associated with the 143-wing structure. Thus since 85 per cent of the officers of the new force will be flying personnel, more flying officers are needed.

"For these reasons," announced Maj. John B. Truell of the Air Science Department, it is necessary that those advanced Air Force ROTC students who are not medically qualified for flight training, or who will not commit themselves to same upon graduation, will be discharged from or not accepted to the advanced AFROTC program. This does not apply to certain selected engineers and science majors.

Some persons will receive a certificate of completion in lieu of a commission. It is requested that students report to Maj. John B. Truell for further details.

Maj. Truell said, "These students who are physically qualified and willing to apply for flight training will undoubtedly receive commissions while those who don't go into flight training may or may not receive commissions depending on the need for officers in the Air Force program. However, students would continue to be deferred and remain under the same salary conditions as before."

Nebraskan's 'Old' Look

The first non-daily Nebraskan to be published since January 1946 will be distributed today. The paper was made a tri-weekly publication in 1944 because of war time conditions,

Change Made To Equalize Income, Cost

The Daily Nebraskan is now The Nebraskan.

Previously published four, and five times a week during the school year, the University's newspaper now begins a Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday publishing schedule.

A three-issue week, according to standards of the Associated Collegiate Press, does not qualify a paper as a daily.

The word "Daily" has therefore been removed from the flag and the masthead.

The cut in the publishing schedule was ordered by the Committee on Student Publications in an effort to equalize expenditures of the paper with the income available from student tuition and advertising.

At the same time the Committee reduced the staff salaries and eliminated two paid positions from the editorial staff. The new publishing and salary schedules should save $3,348 a semester.

Southern Democrats Kill Mid-Term Convention Plan

A proposal for a mid-term Democratic party convention has been killed, chiefly due to opposition from many Southern members of the Democratic Conference.

A conference committee unanimously approved a resolution opposing the proposed 1954 convention, and advocated continued regional conferences before next year's congressional elections.

Rep. Rayburn of Texas, House minority leader, announced the committee's action after a motion by Rep. Hale Boggs preceded a series of discussion panels by party members working on the problem. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois attended most of the discussions.

The "loyalty oath" subject came up at a meeting of state chairmen, but the controversial issue was temporarily sidetracked.

The party convention delay appeared to be a move by leaders to lessen chances of a party split by avoiding discussion in the ranks over such issues as states rights and civil rights.

US Spokesman Murphy Rejects Red Demand

A U.S. spokesman rejected Red China's demand for a "round-table" peace conference in the United Nations, making an explosive new debate a certainty.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Robert Murphy voiced the American rejection to Peiping proposals, made in a long telegram from Chinese Premier Foreign Minister Chou En-lai to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

U.N. delegates, preparing for the General Assembly's opening Tuesday, prepared for another series of explosive discussions concerning China's demands that Russia, India, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia be invited to the peace conference as "neutral" and that Red China and North Korea be invited to send representatives to the U.N. Assembly.

"To discuss the question of changing the membership of the political conference."

Selleck Discounts Inter-College Fight

The new chancellor of the University should be broad-minded both academically and business-wise. Acting Chancellor John Selleck said Wednesday.

Selleck said he would serve as acting chancellor anywhere from a month to a year, until the Board of Regents is ready to select a chancellor.

At this time a five-member faculty committee is studying qualifications of candidates and presenting its results to the Board.

THE ACTING chancellor gave his views concerning the controversies involved in the selection of a new chancellor. He said the controversy between liberal arts and Teachers College professors has probably been exaggerated by the press and that it should not be considered in the appointment of a chancellor.

Selleck said letters from the Chambers of Commerce of several Nebraska cities have said that the new chancellor should be "conscious of private enterprise." He pointed out, however, that any special interest group would want a chancellor who was conscious of the wishes of that group.

When asked what his plans were as acting chancellor, Selleck replied laughingly, "There are three things I have never wanted to be—a football coach, a preacher or a chancellor of a university."

He continued, however, that his job would be to carry on the work of a great university in all branches—academically, in research and in the operation and maintenance of the physical plant—until such time as a permanent decision can be made.
