

AUF To Launch $8,000 Two Week Drive Monday Kick-Off Dinner Scheduled For Personnel Tuesday

The All University Fund will launch its $8000 drive Monday with the beginning of solicitation.

With the largest goal ever set, the two week drive will also be the shortest ever to be held, continuing from Monday, Oct. 6, to Monday, Oct. 19.

LAST YEAR the organization raised $7600 in a three week drive. $6500 dollars were raised for charities the previous year. Joy Wachal, vice-president of solicitation, announced that solicitation will begin Monday with the organized houses, sororities, and fraternities. Independent students will be solicited from 7 p.m. and Wednesday from 5 to 7 p.m. in "house-to-house" solicitation. Religious organizations and other campus organizations may contribute at their first meeting during the two week period of the drive. The faculty will be solicited through letters with blank checks enclosed.

SOLICITATION ON Ag campus will be similar to City campus solicitation with the organized houses beginning their donations on Monday. Ag independents will be included in Tuesday and Wednesday evening solicitations.

The purpose of AUF is to protect students from over-solicitation and assist in their contribution to worthy organizations and charities. They hold one drive each year and before ever choosing to support a charity they make a thorough investigation of each as to the treasury, budget and services rendered. Every charity supported by AUF has been approved by the Better Business Bureau and National Information Bureau.

Where Your Money Goes

University Students To Help Fight Against Heart Disease

(This is the last in the series of stories describing the four charities to benefit from the AUF drive.)

Few students realize that a fight is being waged against Heart disease right on the University campus.

The American Heart Association has been selected as one of the four charities to benefit from the All University Fund drive. It will receive 15 per cent of the solicitations.

Statistics have shown that heart disease is the number one killer in the world. The disease is a dozen times more dangerous than all of the H-bombs in our laboratories. Financial aid to the Heart Association is a guard all people have against the fatal disease.

ONE OF the most useful and familiar heart projects is the educational program sponsored each year. Millions of dollars are spent in giving lectures, movies, and literature to the general public.

The reason given by AUF for contributing to the American Heart Association are:

1. Everyone has a heart, therefore, everyone has the chance of being afflicted with a heart disease.
2. Heart disease is the world's greatest killer.
3. The Heart Association is doing extensive work in the field of research and education.
4. Their program is financially sound.

THE PROCEEDS of the drive will be given to the American Cancer Society, the American Heart Association, the World University Service and the Lincoln Community Chest.

The AUF kick-off dinner for board members and solicitors will be held Tuesday at 5:30 p.m. in the Union.

Fraternity To Give Vets 'Definite Place On Campus'

By BRUCE BRUGMANN Staff Writer

Delta Alpha Pi, a newly organized social fraternity on the campus, is planning to organize University veterans.

"As a group," states the newly-drawn up charter, "the veterans will have a definite social position in college life and can be of more service in student activities."

As yet, the Delta Pi's have not been recognized by the Student Council but while the decision is still pending, they have written a constitution, formed plans for next year's pledgship campaign, and begun thinking about fund-raising and a location for a house.

NEW OFFICERS elected by the twenty actives of the organization, are: Jack Clark, president; R. Wayne Schaffer, vice-president; Ron Scheerer, secretary and Ardel Sieck, treasurer.

Active for many years as a veteran's chapter, the Delta Pi's passed out of existence a short time ago. Until this local burst of interest, the name of Delta Alpha Pi had all but vanished.

It is hoped by the Nebraska group that the reincarnation of spirit in the chapter of Delta Alpha Pi will mushroom into similar enthusiasm throughout the country.

HOWEVER, THE local group will merge nationally only if the national organization would adopt the Constitution of the Lincoln chapter. Foremost in these precepts are the aims of pursuing higher education and, in turn, using these objectives and injecting them into terms of both personal and social life.

The main criterion for prospective members is that they have at one time served on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States, and hold an Honorable Discharge or Release from Active Duty without prejudice from one of the Armed Services.

Iranian Student Roots For Yanks, Likes Sports

Aran Sarkissian Intends To Help The People Of Iran; Reports Agriculture Poor But Education 'Much Harder'

"Are the Yankees winning?" asked Aran "Ed" Sarkissian, junior from Teheran, Iran, suddenly interrupting discussion of Iranian sports.

Indicative of his wide interest in all sports, Sarkissian, who has held the University ping-pong championship crown for three years, is also a Yankee rooter.

Sarkissian, a geology major, came to the United States and the University three years ago and has since monopolized ping-pong titles all over the country. Winning the State championship for two years, he captured third place in the National Ping-Pong tournament in Chicago in 1951. He learned the game five years ago in Iran.

"IRAN HAS every kind of sport except American football," Sarkissian said. He was active in soccer, baseball, football and track during his high school days, but "there isn't enough time for that now," he added.

Sarkissian plans to use his geology training in oil work in Iran. "They've got a lot of oil over there," he asserted with a smile. After his graduation, Sarkissian plans to get some practical experience in geology for one year; then perhaps go home for a few months. He will return to the United States and begin work on his Master's degree.

"PERHAPS THEN I can help the people out a little. The British have kicked out so many of the capable oil men," he said. Sarkissian went on to discuss the economic and agricultural situation in Iran. He said that life in the capital city was very modern but throughout the rest of the country "it is not so good."

He explained that there is no middle class in Iran. There are only the high and the low classes. "Nothing is bought on credit; and if you cannot afford it for cash, you can not buy it," Sarkissian said.

EDUCATION in Iran, however, is on a very high level, according to Sarkissian. The high schools are "much harder" because the students are required to take a standard course of 21 subjects a year. The curriculum includes French, English, Russian and world history. If a student does not pass one course in the year, he receives a complete flunk for the year. A graduate of high school is about equivalent to a sophomore in an American college, according to Sarkissian.
