New Union Assistant To Begin Job Thursday

Heyne Former Fremont Teacher

"This is a mighty busy place," HEYNE says. HEYNE, new assistant managing director of the Union, when queried as to his first impression of the University.

Heyne will take over his Union job on Thursday, Oct. 15, replacing Roger Larson who resigned last week. Heyne taught social studies at Fremont High School for seven years.

Prior to that time, Heyne served with the Naval Air Corps as a lieutenant. He was a navigator in the Pacific theater and in the service from May of 1942 until January, 1946.

Even though trying another field of work, Heyne will still be working with students. Mainly, he will be working with the Union personnel.

Heyne is a graduate of Wayne State Teachers College, and a native of Thurston, Nebraska. At Wayne, he majored in education and social studies. Heyne received his graduate degree in school administration this summer at the University.

Heyne plans to move his wife and two children, Diane, 8, and Robert, 4, from Fremont to Lincoln as soon as housing arrangements can be made.

Council OK's New Biz Ad Constitution

The Student Council unanimously approved the constitution of the Business Administration College Executive Council and heard a report from the Parking Board during a meeting Wednesday.

At its first meeting Oct. 1, the Parking Board reviewed two parking appeals, Eldon Park, Board chairman, reported. Because the appeals were invalid, no action was taken. The number of appeals, however, is expected to increase this week, Park said.

JO JOYNER was appointed to the Board as secretary and voting member by Rocky Yapp, Council president.

In response to requests by Council members, the Cornhusker has contracted with a new studio for the individual yearbook pictures, in hopes the students will be better satisfied, Murt Pickett reported.

Food Brands Judged By 40 Dieticians

Nearly 40 dieticians from Nebraska colleges combined tasters last week to find the best buy in fruits and vegetables for their cafeterias and residence halls.

Contents of 140 cans which had the brand names removed were tasted and rated by the food testers at the annual food testing clinic sponsored by the Division of Purchasing and Procurement.

The combined ratings which will be released late this month will tell the dieticians the best brands according to price. The University will base its yearly purchases of $17,000 worth of can goods on the results.

MRS RUTH Meierhenry, business manager of Residence Halls for Women, in explaining how she as a dietician prepares to taste, says she first eats an average breakfast. "I want my taste to be normal. Each tester takes a swallow of water after each bite to rid her mouth of the previous taste. Pineapples, tomatoes and orange juices have a carry over to the next swallow."
