Srb, White, Anderson, DuTeau To Examine UN Organization

"Don't be unconscious, be UNconscious!" This is the slogan adopted by NUCWA in its observance of United Nations Week which started Sunday and will extend through Saturday.

The Nebraska University Council of World Affairs is sponsoring a panel discussion Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium. The four-man panel will discuss "The United Nations as an International Organization."

The discussion, which is a NUCWA all-membership function, is open to the students and faculty, announced Nancy Gardiner, chairman of the UN Week committee of the special projects commission of NUCWA.

To Sponsor UN Trip

Space Available For 41 Students

Students interested in participating in the annual United Nations seminar sponsored by the national student YMCA-YWCA may register in the YWCA office in Ellen Smith Hall.

The seminar will be held Nov. 13 to 15. The combined contingents from Nebraska Wesleyan and the University will leave Lincoln Nov. 10 and return Nov. 17.

While in New York, students will stay at the Hotel Diplomat at special student rates of $2.50 per day.

The schedule of events includes attending two UN general assemblies, a briefing session with the Secretariat, visits to the delegation headquarters of the Indian, Middle East, Indonesian, British, French, and U. S. missions.

During a meeting with the leaders of UNESCO, a film will be shown and a discussion held.

A new feature of the trip is a dinner meeting in honor of the students. Guest speaker will be Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. delegate to the UN.

As in comparison with the cost of the trip in the past, $70 should cover all expenses, including bus fare, room, board, and registration fee. The registration fee, which is $7.50 includes the cost of the seminar dinner.

Twelve Wesleyan students and six University students have registered for the tour. Space is available for 41 students to make the trip.

Members of the YMCA and YWCA will be given first chance to go if more than the quota of students registers.

Students wishing to register may either call Jan Osborn, director of the University YWCA, at extension 4114 or sign up at the YWCA office in Ellen Smith Hall.

Panel members, who will represent their own vocations, are: Hugo F. Srb, clerk of the Nebraska state legislature; Dr. C. Vin White, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Lincoln; Dr. E. N. Anderson, professor of history at the University, and Ellsworth DuTeau, Lincoln businessman. Moderator of the discussion will be Nancy Gardiner.

Srb, a past state senator, has been clerk of the state Legislature since its first session in 1937. In addition, he is vice president of the American Legislative Officers Association and is a member of the Executive Committee of the National Legislative Services agencies.

Srb "favors a strengthening of the United Nations efforts." He added, "I believe that some form of enforcement of the policies that they believe in must be worked out."

DR. WHITE expressed the belief that, "One thing the UN has demonstrated is that it is possible for people of different philosophies to cooperate through the years. We have learned that we can get together on great issues that affect world conditions and arrive at conclusions that are more or less satisfactory to everybody involved."

Dr. Anderson said that he would enlarge upon the following four points in his discussion:

1. The United Nations is in the tradition of our ideals of solution of problems in its use of the town meeting method of discussion.

2. IF WE DID not have the UN, the American people would demand that its equivalent be established.

3. The UN is a vast improvement over the League of Nations in that it has much more influence along social and economic lines. In addition, it is bent upon building these lines into a foundation of peace and not depending upon politics.

4. The Security Council is the weakest part of the whole organization. However, the General Assembly is not adequately organized to handle its job either.

DUTEAU PLANS to stress "that a world community is here whether we accept the idea or not. We have to deal realistically with a world which has become in effect one great community. As far as human relations are concerned, the problem of peace will always be difficult as long as men of ill will are sitting in on the conferences which tend to indicate world opinion and good will."

DuTeau said that the United Nations as it evolved from the League of Nations reminded him of what Abraham Lincoln said during the Civil War, "We shall nobly save or meanly lose the last great hope on earth." DuTeau regards the UN as a great hope to be saved and not one to be meanly lost.

Kosmet Klub Choses Six Skits For Revue

Andrews To Emcee Fraternity Entries; Program Features Jazz, Puppets, Sailors

Sigma Nu, Phi Kappa Psi, Zeta Beta Tau, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Upsilon will present the six skits for the Kosmet Klub Fall Revue, Oct. 30.

Sigma Nu's entry, "Captain Cook Discovers Sigma Nu," concerns Captain Cook and his journey to the village of Nigma Su on a Pacific island. A native dance highlights the show. The skitmaster is Dick Curtis.

The Phi Kappa Psi Skit, "Jazz Jeopardy," is centered about the kingdom of Diptomaine where the king in his search for marmalade discovers jazz. Mike Shugrue is the skitmaster.

ZETA BETA TAU's "Pistachio the Puppet" tells the tale of a puppet who is turned into a real boy and is tempted to join a fraternity at Nebraska. The skitmaster is Marvin Steinberg.

"The Fleet's In," Beta Theta Pi's entry, centers around the return of Commodore Perry to Japan after 10 years' absence. Rockford Yapp is the Beta skitmaster.

A history of the French revolution will be presented by Phi Gamma Delta. It concerns the origination of be-bop. The skit is highlighted by dancing of old French reels and improvised bebop. The skitmaster is Charley Ferguson.

Delta Upsilon presents "Like Cleopatra Did." The skit is about a Nebraska coed who tells her beau that she would like to be Cleopatra. The skit reveals her conception of Cleopatra. The Delta Upsilon skitmasters are Bob Lock and Bill Nichols.

PHI DELTA Theta will present this year's curtain act. Master of ceremonies will be Dave Andrews, former student at the University now with KFOP and KFOP-TV.

The new Kosmet Klub policy permitting all organized men's groups to enter skits for judging proved unsuccessful. Eighteen skits were judged, all fraternities.

Judges for the Fall Revue were Bob Young, president; Mac Bailey, vice-president; Marshall Kushner, secretary; Tom Miller, business manager; Walt Wright, historian; Marvin Stromer and Bill Devries, junior members of Kosmet Klub; Helen Bladen, instructor of modern dance, and Wes Jensby, a graduate assistant in theater.

Kosmet Klub judges unanimously lauded the fraternity skit entries and praised the Annual Fall Revue as the best in recent years.

Frank Hallgren, Associate Dean of Student Affairs, felt "the skits were far superior in comparison to last years at this stage. They were unusually good."

MARV STROMER, Kosmet junior, seemed to think that originality had definitely replaced slapstick. "The entries last Wednesday and Thursday even in tryout stage would have compared favorably with last years' final production," he said.

Robert Young, Kosmet Klub president, said, "It is the finest group of skits I've seen since I've been in school. The fellows have really gone to work to provide some real entertainment. The skits showed hard work and much imagination."

MARSHALL KUSHNER, KK secretary, thought that "originality and uniqueness prevailed and the slap-stick was cut down greatly."

Russia Accepts US Plan For Panmunjom Meeting

By WILLIE DESCH Staff Writer

The United States' invitation to start planning the Korean peace conference at Panmunjom next Monday has been accepted by Communist China. However, the Reds maintained the right to settle there who will take part in the full-scale talks.

The Communists insisted that the conference be similar to a round-table discussion by permitting non-belligerent nations to take part in the meeting.

Plans are also in the making for a Big Five and North Korean peace conference. The conference would include Red China, rather than Nationalist China.

Repatriation Troubles

Two Communist delegations stormed at a Korean repatriation commission meeting Monday because the Indian troops refused to permit defiant Korean war prisoners to listen to Red persuasion teams.

Because of the walkout of the Polish, Czech and the Reds, the commission activity may be halted for a while.

'Hobo' Disturbers Booked By Band

Approximately 12 University students were booked by Lincoln police for their actions Saturday morning during the Band Day parade.

The students, carrying wash-tubs and other noise-making objects, broke into the parading high school bands and bothered them and the crowd. C. J. Frankforter, professor of chemistry, watching from the reviewer's stand, said.

The "hobo" band entered the parade at 12th and O streets and marched with the high school bands for a half block; then marched along the sidewalk. Frankforter said that he felt such an act should have been worked out between University officials and the Student Council rather than with the Lincoln police.

Miss Hurricane

Janet Bailey, a member of Alpha Phi, was selected "The Girl Most Likely to Stop a Hurricane," from 19 candidates at a rally Friday night preceding the Miami game.

The theme of Miss Bailey's costume was "I dreamed I stopped a hurricane in my Glassford."

Tito's Troops Prepared

The Yugoslavian troops are prepared to march if the Italian forces move into Zone A. The invitation sent to Yugoslavia and Italy asking them to meet with the United States, Britain and France and discuss the Trieste question has not received a reply.

President Tito and other speakers have said that they feel such a meeting would be of no use if Britain and the United States held to their decision to pull out of Zone A of Trieste and turn it over to Italian administration.
