

University Band's Halftime Show Thrills Gridiron-Wearry Spectators

'Never So Proud Of Band; One Of Best Shows Done'

By MARY SHELLDY
Staff Writer

A brilliant half-time performance by the Nebraska band helped revive fans' spirits Saturday despite disappointments of the Missouri game.

Students and band members returning from migration agreed with Director Don Lentz when he said, "We got as good a reception at Missouri as we have anywhere. All of us were very happy at the applause we got."

The band had had only three rehearsals for their complicated routines.

"It was a tough show to do and I'm glad it clicked," Lentz said.

STAN SHUMWAY, president of the band, said, "I've never been so proud of the band in my life. It's one of the best shows we've done."

Shumway stayed in Columbia Saturday night, and many Missouri students commented favorably on the band to him without knowing he was a member.

"The kids in our side of the stadium were open-mouthed—they'd never seen anything like it. It looked even better compared to the Missouri band," reported Nuer Ginny Wilcox.

ANOTHER STUDENT who went to the game, Mary Burdick, said, "The band was really tremendous. It looked like it was well-organized."

Band members Jackie McKie and Roger Brendle said that they were a little worried about the performance before they went on the field.

"The rehearsals were really sloppy," McKie said.

"We didn't know whether it was going to go over or not," added Brendle. "When we rehearsed it Friday, one of the guys turned in the wrong place, ran into another player and fell down."

"THAT WAS the best I've ever seen the band," Allan Anderson said. "The Missouri guys liked it very much."

The band did a precision drill built on basic marching movements and did several special formations. The most complicated routine was one using familiar dance tunes while band members performed dance steps as they played.

Band Members Arrive

Though in confused order when arriving, University band members later presented one of their most outstanding half-time programs at the Nebraska-Missouri football game Saturday. The band presented an unusual program with members playing and dancing well-known tunes.

NU Musicians To Present Recital Today

Eleven graduate students of the University School of Music will present a recital Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Social Sciences Auditorium.

The program and musicians are:

Mrs. June M. Moore, cello, "Sonata in G minor," by Handel, with Shirley Hurtz, accompanist.

Evelyn Samuels, soprano, "Come Unto Him," by Handel.

Donald Goodrich, tenor, "Air from Comus," by Arne.

Velma Snook, soprano, "Care Selve," by Handel.

Martin Crandall, William Krause, and Paul Parker, clarinet trio, "Largo-Allegro," by Loelliot.

William Krause, clarinet, and Janice Fullerton, piano, "Sonata for Clarinet and Piano," by G. D. Mason.

Janice Fullerton, piano, "Sonata in E Flat," by Beethoven.

Joan Sydlowski, violin, "Scherzo Tarantelle," by Wieniawski.

Lincoln Symphony To Feature Kopp

The first concert of the Lincoln Symphony Concert Series will be presented Tuesday, Nov. 3 at 8:30 p.m. in the Stuart Theater.

Leo Kopp, guest conductor from Chicago, will direct the symphony in the presentation of "Bartered Bride Overture" by Smetana; "Symphony No. 2" by Borowski; "Symphonie Concertante" by Hadyn with violin, cello, oboe and bassoon solos, and "Till Eulenspiegel" by Richard Strauss.

Season concert tickets are on sale at the School of Music for $5.

Sen. Monroney Hits McCarthy On Tactics

Sees Democrats In Power

"Democrats everywhere think it possible for the Democratic Party to win a majority in House and maybe the Senate in next year's elections," said Sen. Mike Monroney, Democratic Senator from Oklahoma, in an interview Friday.

Sen. Monroney was in Lincoln to attend the state convention of the Nebraska Young Democrats at the Lincoln Hotel. He has been traveling about the country visiting Democratic organizations, and came to Lincoln from a stay in California.

HE THOUGHT that McCarthy has been jumping into situations where it is not his place to be. "The FBI since 1947 has not missed one conviction of subversives," said Monroney. "If we're going to get someone to investigate, get someone who can do something. McCarthy is not the one."

Sen. Monroney also stated that McCarthy is hurting U. S. relations abroad.

Adelphi Pledges 15 NU Women

Fifteen University women have been pledged by Adelphi, independent women's organization.

Pledges receiving their pins in ceremonies held Tuesday include: Claire Baade, Gloria Byers, Connie Casper, Pat Check, Marcia Dennis, Mary Sue Herbek, Doreen Krueger, Enid Pearson.

Nancy Perkins, Margery Polkell, Veronica Rowley, Roxie Simmons, Carol Swartz, Yvonne Tevebaugh and Bette Weber.

Norwegian Student Takes Psychology; Has 'Easy Time Adjusting' To U.S.

Engen Marries American; Speaks Five Languages

By MARCIA MICKELSEN
Staff Writer

"I've had a very easy time adjusting," were the words of Trygg Engen, graduate student from Oslo, Norway.

Engen has been in the United States since September of 1948. He received his B.A. degree at Central College in Michigan and then went to the University of Detroit, where he received his M.A. degree. While in Michigan, Engen met and married an American girl.

HE DECIDED to come to the United States after being persuaded by his older sister who married an exchange student and came to the United States. Engen is not, as many foreign students have been, an exchange student, but is here as a private student.

He is in the United States on a foreign student's visa which will expire when he receives his Ph. D. degree. Then Engen expects to return to Norway with his wife. Later on, Engen would be able to apply for regular immigration papers and thus be able to return to the United States.

COMING FROM Norway, he planned to take up language study and to perhaps take up journalism. However, his earlier ambitions were sidetracked when he took courses in psychology. Now Engen is working with experimental psychology, hoping to complete work on his Ph.D. degree sometime in August.

Engen was introduced to English in the 6th grade, but also studied German, Latin, French and his native language in school. Norwegian children attend grammar school for six years, and then they go on to secondary schools which are known as gymnasiums.

Engen said that the gymnasiums are equivalent to our high schools, combined with junior colleges. After a student completes work at a gymnasium, he is generally ready to begin graduate training. However, the gymnasiums are attended from approximately six to eight years.

HE SAID that educational training is much more general in Norway, and students go to classes from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Oslo, he said, is a very beautiful place, located down in a valley, and right at a fjord. Greater Oslo is a prosperous city of approximately 500,000 people. Engen said that the standard of living is higher here at the present, but that the Scandinavian countries are not too far behind.

He noted that more people own cars here, but that there are no really outstanding differences which he noticed between the United States and Norway.

ENGEN SAID that there is one holiday in Norway which is quite unique from any here—that of celebrating on the longest day of the year. It is celebrated with fireworks.

Norway has the equivalent to our Fourth of July—a celebration on May 17 for recognition of Norway's independence.

'Evolution' Seminar

Clarence J. Frankforter, associate professor of chemistry, will moderate a seminar Wednesday in the Union Faculty Lounge at 4 p.m. "Altruism—A factor in Evolution" is the topic to be discussed.
