

Dorms To Supply Rooms, Training Table For Athletes

Space Available By April, May

The new men's dormitory could be a great help for an improved athletic program and to athletes next year.

Athletes will be housed and have their training table under one roof—in the men's dorm. Until this year, many athletes were living off campus and eating their meals in the Union cafeteria.

"The athletic department is not asking for a separate place or floor for the athletes. They must request what space they want when we open things up," acting Chancellor John K. Selleck said.

There is a small dining room and kitchen where training table facilities would be available. However, Selleck said that there would be an extra cost on training table meals.

MANY UNIVERSITIES over the country and some, including Oklahoma, in the Big Seven Conference have found that a good dormitory for housing and feeding athletes has been a major part of improved athletic programs.

Ag Meeting To Feature O. W. Green

O. W. Green, head of the regional soil conservation district in Lincoln, will speak at Ag College Jan. 14. The meeting will be held in Room 244, Agronomy Building at 7:30 p.m.

Green also handles personnel work of other USDA offices besides soil conservation.

THIS MEETING, jointly sponsored by the Block and Bridge, Agronomy and Ag Economics Clubs, is one of the several that will be held during the year. Each meeting will be sponsored by the departmental clubs on Ag College.

Speakers will be chosen for each meeting and topics will be varied to hold the interest of all students attending. Subjects concerning various timely industrial operations will be discussed, Dr. Ephraim Hixson, faculty director, said.

University Art Galleries To Show Colored Slides

The University Art Galleries will present Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in Morrill Hall a show of colored slides, as an additional means of making pictures of artistic interest.

Slides made by the Art Department faculty and student body will be shown. The slides record impressions, atmospheres, textures and movements. Some are accidental and others are carefully studied and composed.
