University Buys Church Property

One of the old landmarks on the University campus area, Emmanuel Methodist church at 15th and U Sts, will soon disappear to make way for University growth.

The church edifice, constructed about 40 years ago, is now on University property, purchased for $22,600. Under terms of the sale the church has the right to remove any part of the building between now and the first of April.

JOHN K. Selleck, acting Chancellor, said the acquisition of the church property by the University is the next to the last move the University faces before it will own all of the lots and buildings in the area bounded by 14th St. on the west, Vine St. on the north, 15th St. on the east, and R St. on the south. Four lots, all property of one owner, remain to be acquired.

Men's Dormitories To Cut Off Campus Residence Numbers

The new men's dormitory building, shown above, will cut off campus housing in half, according to Acting Chancellor Selleck. The new buildings have been completely closed so that work will continue throughout the winter.

The new dormitories are also expected to provide living space and a training table for members of Cornhusker athletic teams. Residence in the dormitories will not be mandatory for new students, Selleck noted and present University students will be given first choice when applications for living space in the dormitory are accepted.

YMCA Mass Meeting Scheduled For Today

Gass To Give Account Of UN Trip

An all-membership meeting of the University YMCA will be held at 7 p.m. Friday in the YI Lounge in Temporary L.

The meeting is an attempt to re-establish a periodic all-membership meeting, following the Y's revitalization in our membership drive, Wilson Strand, president, said.

The drive began Nov. 15 and lasted until Dec. 1. YMCA's total membership went over the 300 mark.

Purposes of the meeting, said Strand, are: to get acquainted, to hear about the recent United Nations trip, to meet new candidates for officers and to select committees for next semester.

The theme of the meeting is "Nations United," and featured will be an account of the U.N. trip by Clinton B. Gass of Nebraska.

NU Given $2,000 For Swine Study

Receipt of a $2,000 trust fund from Merck and Company of Rahway, N. J., to help finance research in swine ration by the University department of animal husbandry, was announced today by the University Foundation.

Under terms of the grant the fund will support further investigations about the effect of amine acid supplements in swine feed. The amino acids are the building blocks of protein and the study will be aimed at gaining information on the basic requirements of pigs for three of the amino acids.

Retention Of Selleck Discussed

Regents Appoint 11 To Faculty

Suggestions that Acting Chancellor John K. Selleck be retained as chancellor until he reaches retirement age in two years, were discussed at the last meeting of the Board of Regents.

No decision was made at the Saturday meeting, according to Regent Robert Devoe. Another meeting is scheduled for January 9, at which time the chancellorship will probably be discussed.

ELEVEN NEW staff appointments were approved by the board. New appointees and their positions are: William D. Lutes, assistant agricultural engineer; Dr. Robert M. Cochran, part time instructor in anatomy; Edward Wiselblood, assistant librarian, College of Law; George W. Swartz, instructor in English; Dr. Robert Ehrlich, associate in internal medicine; Dr. Ray O. Gillies Jr., instructor in otorhinolaryngology.

Dr. George W. Loomis, instructor in internal medicine; Robert M. Mills, instructor, department of mechanical engineering; and, Dr. Dwight W. Burney Jr., Dr. John D. Coe, and Dr. John A. Rasmussen, part time assistants in anatomy.

NU Student's Improvement 'Satisfactory'

Larry Blevins, a University freshman in the College of Pharmacy from Ainsworth, was listed as "satisfactorily" improving at a Valentine hospital Tuesday where he was being treated for extensive chest injuries suffered in an automobile accident New Year's Eve.

Blevins was one of three Ainsworth men injured as a car which he was driving went over a steep bank and turned over. It is believed that Blevins, who was returning home after attending a New Year's Eve dance, fell asleep at the wheel and missed a turn in the road.

THE OTHERS in the car, Gene Bailey, who suffered back and internal injuries, and Salem Abraham, who suffered leg lacerations, are servicemen home on a Christmas leave, and are also being treated in a Valentine hospital.

After the accident, Abraham was able to get to the highway where he signalled a car and summoned help.

'All Air ROTC Cadets Commissioned In Time'

Truell Explains New ROTC Policy

"All Air Force ROTC cadets will receive the benefit of a regular commission eventually," Truell said.

That was the opinion of United States Air Force Maj. John B. Truell.

This was in reference to the new Air Force policy to commission only men qualified for flight training and giving a "certificate of completion" to those graduates who do not intend to enter flight school.

"Twenty-six cadets will graduate January 30," Truell said, "and we anticipate that all will be commissioned and ordered to active duty soon after graduation."

AS FOR the June graduates, Truell said, "approximately 85 cadets will graduate. Practically all who are qualified for pilot training and who have applied for such training will be commissioned as second lieutenants and ordered to flying school."

"Of the group that is not medically qualified or who do not apply for flight training, we believe only a limited number will be commissioned immediately, depending upon the needs of the service. The majority of commissions will go to cadets in engineering, or science majors."

When asked how the "certificate of completion" will function, he said, "It's our understanding that those receiving the certificate will be promoted to airman third-class, or the equivalent, after they have been inducted into the military forces."

WILL THEY lose everything promised to them in their original understanding of their deferment agreements? "No. Those who receive certificates have lost nothing. They will eventually receive their commissions. The only thing lost is an immediate commission upon graduation and
