After he regained consciousness, Ford returned to his fraternity house and was taken out to General Hospital where he was treated for a bruised hand, which was hurt in an attempt to defend himself.

Pakistan Requests US Aid

KARACHI, PAKISTAN—Pakistan has requested United States military aid within the scope of U.S. mutual security legislation. Prime Minister Mohammed Ali said, Pakistan asked for aid in order to increase their defensive strength and economic stability which is designed to foster international peace and security within the framework of the United Nations charter. Pakistan is aware of the requirements of the United States mutual security legislation and feels that they are in agreement with them, the Prime Minister said.

India is opposed to U.S. military aid for Pakistan. Prime Minister Nehru said that instead of adding to the security of the region, the military aid would add to the tension of the region and feelings of insecurity in Asia. "It is a wrong step," Nehru said.

A-Bombs To China

LONDON—"China get A-bombs from Russia" is the front page headline of the current issue of The People, a non-political weekly which claims that Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov gave this information to American Secretary of State Dulles during private conversation in Berlin. A British newspaper had informed the U.S. that Communist China has been given a stock of atom bombs. The newspaper said that Molotov's purpose was to prove that China has every right to participate in the talks on the Eisenhower plan for using atomic power for peaceful purposes. The article continued to say that Western military experts are believed to be impressed because this gift by Russia may be evidence that the Soviet's stockpile of atomic bombs has grown to sizable proportions.

Big Four Report

WASHINGTON—Eight senators and seven House members met with Secretary of State Dulles in an attempt to convince the nation that he obtained the best possible results from the Big Four meeting in Berlin. Dulles made a report to the group on his conference decision to take part in an Asian peace conference in Geneva with Communist Chinese and Russian delegates.

The Geneva conference with Red China does not imply American recognition of Peiping, said Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.). Most of the conference members refused comment on the meeting.

Officials Talk With Iowa, Texas Educators During Informal Meetings Held Saturday, Sunday

Name-Withholding Policy Endorsed By NU Regents

Reasons For Establishment Of New Program Involving Chancellorship Interviews Explained In Board Statement

The University Board of Regents unanimously adopted a policy of withholding names of men under consideration for chancellorship during preliminary discussion.

The statement was adopted in executive session Sunday with all members present except J. L. Welsh of Omaha.

THE ACTION was taken as a result of a story in The Lincoln Journal giving the name of a candidate who was interviewed for the chancellorship March 10, after the University had requested that the name not be published.

The University then released the names of two men who were interviewed Saturday, stating that the University felt compelled to make the names public immediately.

The statement of the Regents is:

"IT IS the considered opinion of the Board of Regents that the best interests of the University are not and will not be served by announcing at the time of preliminary discussions the names of men under consideration for the chancellorship.

The Board, therefore, will not authorize any further release of such names until, in its opinion, such release will not be against the best interests of the University.

THIS DECISION was reached with full appreciation of the public character of the Board of Regents and in no way alters the Board's own belief that its final actions are matters of public record, deserving the widest possible dissemination by the press, radio, and television.

THE DECISION was deemed necessary to settle a question raised by The Lincoln Journal. The basic question was, Does the responsibility of the Board of Regents has to keep the public informed of its actions, both preliminary and final, outweigh the Board's right to solve problems in a manner it deems in the best interests of the University?

THE LINCOLN Journal raised this question when it refused to abide by a request for anonymity the Board made on behalf of one of the men invited to Nebraska for preliminary talks about the chancellorship.

The question, the Board felt, was of sufficient importance to merit a formal decision. It was a question involving the concept of authority and responsibility under which the Boards of Regents have operated traditionally in Nebraska.

IN CONSIDERING this question, the Board of Regents accepted the following assumptions as true:

1. Election to the Board of Regents carries with it a delegation of authority from the people of Nebraska to conduct the affairs of the University.

2. In seeking and accepting election to the Board of Regents its members prove their willingness to accept full responsibility for their official actions.

best interests of the institution.

At the same time, the Board recognized the contention of The Lincoln Journal as (1) It is the absolute right of the press to report publicly both preliminary and final actions of the Board of Regents, and (2) The exercise of such right ultimately works to the best interests of the University.

Applied to the current problem of selecting a chancellor for the University of Nebraska, The Lincoln Journal's contention would demand immediate release of the names of all persons the Board plans to consult before reaching a decision.

SUCH A general announcement, the Board has ample reason to believe, would cause some men whose names are on the list to withdraw from consideration. All of the men on the list hold responsible positions and several of them have already said announcement of their names during the preliminary talks is embarrassing.

None of these men is actively seeking the chancellorship. They are educational leaders who have been recommended for consideration by a special faculty committee of the University. The Board feels that common courtesy, orderly procedure, and the best interests of the University would be abused by refusal to respect their wishes for anonymity during the preliminary phases of a search for a chancellor.

BECAUSE OF this feeling, the Board cannot agree with the philosophy advanced by The Lincoln Journal which would establish as the first prerequisite for the University's chancellor a willingness to have his name made public during the period of preliminary talks.

IT IS the opinion of the Board that its first duty is to perform as it deems best the task for which it was elected; namely, to serve the best interests of the University within the framework provided by Nebraska law.
