it happened at nu

Day after day, the halls of Burnett are jammed as students madly scramble back and forth to and from mid-morning classes.

No one can foretell what would happen if, "God forbid it," a fire should break out in the genteel building.

Yet every Monday, the routine seems to change. Last Monday was no exception. The halls are never crowded and they never will be.

Those 'blue Mondays' must be potent characters.

Nebraska Law Review Elects Hunter Editor

Publications View Court Decisions

Ronald Hunter, a junior in the College of Law, has been elected editor of the "Nebraska Law Review" by the Nebraska Law Review Monday.

The "Nebraska Law Review" is a student publication published in conjunction with the Nebraska Bar Association and the College of Law. The publication contains comments on recent decisions of various courts over the country and comments on suggestions for the changing of law.

THE "NEBRASKA" LAW Review is sold to Nebraska lawyers and to some out-of-state lawyers. It is an authority on recent decisions in the field of Nebraska law and is often used in arguing before the Supreme Court of Nebraska and sometimes the Supreme Court of the United States.

In preparing articles for the "Nebraska" Law Review the writers spend a great deal of time. The article is approved by two faculty members and at least four student editors before it is printed.

The "Nebraska" Law Review is published four times a year, November, January, March and May. Don Davis is the retiring editor.

HUNTER WAS a member of the Nebraska Moot Court championship team winning the National Moot Court Competition held in New York in early January. Hunter received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Wayne in 1951 and his Bachelor of Science of Law from the University in 1953.

NU Offers 2 Courses On Study

Second Session Begins Monday

The reading Improvement and How-To-Study courses will begin their second session of the semester Monday.

One session of the Reading Improvement course will consist of classes on Mondays and Wednesdays from 3-4 p.m. and another session, on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4-5 p.m. The course itself will last for three weeks, but at least six more weeks of work on the reading accelerator are required.

THE HOW-To-Study course will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays beginning March 8 at 4-5 p.m. and on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11-12 a.m. This course will last three weeks.

Registration will be held in the Junior Division and Counseling Service, Temporary A, any time prior to the first class of each session. Individual instruction will be offered for those with conflicting classes.

THE READING Improvement course will offer instruction for the improvement of reading speed and concentration. Mrs. Anne Hein, psychometrist at the Junior Division and Counseling Service, said that the reading course was beneficial to those who now read rapidly but who want to read faster. She said that almost every student who has used the reading accelerator has doubled his reading speed.

The How-To-Study course instructs the student how to plan his time, how to take notes, how to study for tests and how to use the SQ3R method of study.

THE JUNIOR Division and Counseling Service is sponsoring the study courses. Both of the courses are non-credit and require no registration fees.

Bentley In Serious Condition

WASHINGTON—Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) remained in critical condition in a Washington hospital after being seriously wounded in an outburst of gunshots fired in Congress Monday. Bentley's physician gave him a 50-50 chance to recover in spite of emergency surgery and four blood transfusions. The 35-year-old lawmaker who was hit in the liver and lungs was placed in an oxygen tent.

Other lawmakers wounded in the gun battle were reported to be doing well.

Thirty guards were added to the Capitol and business was resumed by Congress. The House convened at noon Tuesday with about 200 members in their seats.

The four Puerto Ricans which are being held for the shooting are from New York City. The ringleader, Lolita Lebron said that the attack was intended to dramatize the demand by Puerto Rican nationalists for independence for the island.

The government will begin presenting evidence against the four to a federal grand jury Wednesday, said U.S. Attorney Leo Rover. They are charged with assault with intent to kill against each of the five congressmen. The charge would be changed to murder if Bentley dies. The punishment in that case would be death in the electric chair.

Hall Vs. McCarthy

WASHINGTON—Chairman Leonard Hall of the Republican National Committee is in disagreement with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) when he attacks persons "fighting Communism just as he is." The comment made by Hall was not related to any specific situation, however, he did say he did not like the way things developed last week in the controversy between McCarthy and the Army.

Hall had just completed a conference with President Eisenhower when he made his comments on the situation. Hall did not give Eisenhower's reaction although he said he had discussed the situation with the chief executive.

Hall said that he believed a cure for the situation might be in changing the rules of committee procedure. In order to get a start in that direction, a move has been initiated by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and various bills on the point have been introduced.

Brugger To Discuss Far East At Cosmopolitan Club Meet

Miss Florence Brugger, chief social worker at Lincoln Veterans' Hospital, will discuss and show slides on the Far Eastern countries of India, Thailand, China and Japan at a Cosmopolitan Club meeting in Union Room 313 Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

MISS BRUGGER spent six years in Hawaii before World War II, as chief social worker for the Bureau of Mental Hygiene of the Board of Health. Afterwards she joined the Red Cross, spending over six years in the Middle East, Philippine Islands and Japan as supervisor of Hospital Service for Red Cross in those areas.

From 1948 to 1950 she served as chief of Social Work, Education and Training, Public Health and Welfare, GHQ, and SCAP in Japan. In 1950 she returned to New York School of Social Work for graduate study.

Palladian Society To Meet Friday

Dr. Donald J. Moore, chairman of the physics department, will discuss "Cosmic Rays" at a meeting of the Palladian Society Friday at 8:30 p.m. in Temporary J, 15th and Vine.

After the discussion, the group will study the works of Beethoven, the third artist in a music series titled "Introduction to Composers."

Anyone interested may attend.
