Also elected was an executive council consisting of Marv Stromer, Paul Scheele and Charles Anderson.

Name tags are being issued to all cadets and instructors this week. The purpose of the tags, according to Captain Robert Law, assistant professor of military science and tactics, is to increase esprit de corps among the cadets and instructors. Captain Law pointed out that the name-tag system is used at many Army schools to create a feeling of familiarity among the students.

Qualifications for Minute Man awards will be held Thursday, March 25. The awards, made annually to outstanding freshman cadets are made on the basis of the "ten commandments of good citizenship." The commandments include the use of such qualities as dependability, cooperation, leadership, patriotism, discipline courtesy to the United States flag, defense of the Constitution, inspiration, duty and hope.

A GROUP of AFROTC seniors and instructors will fly to Cocoa Beach, Florida, during spring vacation to inspect a guided missile center there.

The 19 students who will fly south in two military planes will be accompanied by instructors and several state representatives.

The group will inspect the installation of the missile center and do some deep-sea fishing during the week-end stay from April 10 to 13, according to Captain Edward S. Nyland, assistant professor of air science and tactics.

Students' Key To Knowledge—Reading; 'It's In The Books' For NU Learners

Puzzled Pupils Advised To Take Junior Division Class

By GRACE HARVEY Copy Editor

Have you realized that reading is one of the best mediums of getting knowledge? No matter what type of knowledge you are looking for, it's in the books!

Most of our studying involves reading; but much of our reading does not concern what we are studying. Textbooks can be interesting, however, and they are one of the best media of increasing knowledge.

BUT WHAT of the poor student who does not understand what he is reading? He can be heard saying, "That professor must be off his rocker! Did you hear how much reading he has assigned us for Friday?"

Then the puzzled student—if he is one of those rare individuals who studies—sits down and meticulously tries to digest the reading assignment. He usually manages to plow through about one-third of it before he must go to class, study another subject or go out with the boys... or girls, as the case may be.

Out with the crowd, he invariably finds some "smarty" who has read two or three chapters in the time it took him to cover eight pages. And miraculously the smarty understands what he has read. Our typical student begins to see the light—his reading is too slow, too poky, too time consuming.

Health Day H. A. Rusk To Address Students

Dr. Howard A. Rusk, authority on rehabilitation, will address an all-University convocation on "Back to Living" Friday at 11 a.m. in the Union Ballroom.

The convocation is a part of the sixth annual All College Health Day program, sponsored by the University Health Services, University convocation committee and department of physiology.

AN ASSOCIATE editor of The New York Times, Dr. Rusk is professor and chairman of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at New York University College of Medicine, and is director of the Institute of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation at New York University Bellevue Medical Center.

Dr. Rusk has received awards in recognition of his achievements in the field of rehabilitation. These include honorary degrees from the University of Missouri, Boston University, Westminster College and Hahnemann Medical College.

LISTEN, LITTLE man, why not travel quick like a flash to Junior Division and sign up for the next course in "How to Read Better and Faster."

The final University-sponsored three-week reading improvement class opened Monday. During the course, students will learn that efficient reading does not involve paying infinite attention to details. Rapid readers generally have better over-all comprehension than slow, careful readers.

A typical student's potential rate of understanding is approximately 25 to 50 per cent faster than his habitual, untrained rate. Imagine all the high grades and extra coffee hours possible if your reading comprehension rate increased that much.

The University provides the opportunity. Why not take advantage of it? What can you lose, Mr. Typical NU Student?

Panel Of Specialists To Talk On Child Problems, Guidance

A panel discussion on the topic "Does Your Child Sometimes Puzzle You?" will be held in the Union ballroom Thursday at 8 p.m.

The panel, sponsored by the Lincoln and Lancaster County Child Guidance Center, will consist of four specialists—Dr. R. Hugh Dickinson, psychiatrist; Dr. Kenneth J. Fijan, pediatrician; Dr. Art A. Kramish, psychologist; Mary Jane Young, social case worker, and Mrs. Roscoe Hill, a Lincoln mother.

DR. D. STEWART MacDonald, executive director of the Child Guidance Center, will moderate the panel discussion which is open to the public without charge.

Dorothy Pile, executive secretary of the Nebraska District YWCA, will open the program with a dramatic reading of "My Little Boy."

The panel discussion will be of the question and answer type. There will be opportunity for questions from the audience.

Young Demos

Young Democrats will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 313 of the Union.

The agenda for the meeting, according to vice-president Sandra Daley, will include announcement of the coffee hour with Alan Barth of the Washington Post, and reports by various committees.

Those members who have not signed up for a committee can do so at the meeting. The nominating committee for the April elections will be appointed.

A JOB IS A JOB IS A JOB
WHEN YOU GET IT OR the case of the six-cent patsy

Once there was a Senior who was up against the grim prospect of Graduating. With Social Security 42 years away, he recognized the need of a job to tide him over.

So he burrowed manfully through Classified Sections, under "Help Wanted", in search of the Right Niche. Spotted it, too. A honey. The right field. A Substantial Salary, fine location, pensions and benefits Up To Here. The ad asked for Brief Histories from applicants.

He wrote immediately. Not cockily but convincingly. A masterpiece that took four nights and filled several pages with Deadlines Prose. It left no doubt that here was The Man for the Job. He slipped on a 6-cent stamp, dropped it into the box, and sat back waiting for The Call.

P.S.—he didn't get the job. His epistle wound up 334th in the pile, and they never got down that far. Hired one of the first eight, as a matter of fact—all of whom had had Enough Perspicacity to flash the data by telegram and land On Top of the Heap.

Before you start jockeying for a job, be sure to latch onto your free copy of the Telegrammar, Western Union's ingenious pocket-size guide to telegraph use. (Just write Room 1727, Western Union, 60 Hudson St., New York City.) And remember, whatever the Project, you're smart to use Telegrams to Get the Jump on the Competition. Telegrams get in, get Read, get the Reaction you want. Wonder-workers in all kinds of ventures... whether you're Dickering for a Date, a Hotel Reservation, or Pesos from Pop. Just call Western Union.

IT'S ALL A MATTER OF TASTE

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason... enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better... always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

So, for the enjoyment you get from better taste, and only from better taste, Be Happy—Go Lucky. Get a pack or a carton of better-tasting Luckies today.
