

Freshman Survey Course Needed
To Counteract Specialization Of Interest—See Editorial Page 2

The Nebraskan

Volume 54, No. 68

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

Intramural Columnist Releases
1954 Cage Statistics; Reveals
Top Scorers, Points—See Page 3

Tuesday, March 23, 1954

Ashton Queried By NU Regents

Board Sees Indiana Educator As Chancellor Search Continues

Dr. John William Ashton, administrative vice president of Indiana University, was interviewed for the University chancellorship by the Board of Regents.

The Chicago Daily News reported that Acting Chancellor John K. Selleck and five members of the University Board of Regents were conducting "secret" meetings in the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago Saturday.

SELLECK TOLD the United Press that no announcement will be made "until this spring or summer" of the man selected for the job, and promised the announcement will be made at Lincoln. He said that the Regents were interviewing what he described as a "mighty large number of candidates" for the chancellorship.

The Regents meeting coincided with a convention of the American Society for the Public Administrators, which includes doctors, lawyers, teachers and a number of prominent educators from all parts of the country.

Selleck could not be reached for comment Monday. Bruce Nicoll, administrative assistant to the chancellor, refused to make any statement concerning the situation.

DR. ASHTON, 53, received a bachelor's degree from Bates College in Lewiston, Maine, in 1922 and a doctor's degree from the University of Chicago in 1928.

He has held instructorships and professorships in English at Yankton (S.D.) College, Iowa State University, University of Kansas and Shriverham American University in County Berks, England.

HE WAS an International Research Fellow at Huntington Library in 1932-33 and was later liaison fellow of the American Anthropological Association. In 1946 he became professor of English and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Indiana University.

He is a member of the American Folklore Society, Modern Language Association, National Council of Teachers of English, National Education Association, Society for the Advancement of Education, Hoosier Folklore Society, Phi Beta Kappa and Delta Sigma Rho.

He was editor of "Trends in Graduate Work" published in 1931 and of "Types of English Drama" in 1940.

Block, Bridle Judging Set For Saturday

The annual Block and Bridle judging contest for University students will be held Saturday.

Cattle, sheep and hogs will be judged in the morning. The decisions will be revealed in the afternoon.

Students with more judging experience than Animal Husbandry I will be in the junior division, and those with no experience or A.H. I only, will be in the senior division.

Individual awards and team awards will be given to winners. Teams will consist of five students or the five top individuals for the organized groups.

Students interested in participating in the contest should sign up in Animal Husbandry Hall and indicate whether they want to judge on teams or as individuals.

The winning booth consisted of shooting a free throw with a basketball to get a ticket for adventure. Passage was given on a boat to the Orient, Hawaii, Alaska, Scotland, Spain or Palm Beach. Dance numbers were presented on the boat, "The Hall of Love," by Love Hall coeds in bathing suits, sailor uniforms, scottish costumes and grass skirts.

Love Hall's booth, "Loomis Legacies," consisted of throwing hoops over coed legs. Prizes offered were pink and blue garments.

Tickets for the carnival were sold for five cents each. These tickets were used for the booths, to buy flowers, as admission to the movie and to buy refreshments. Approximately $75 was made which will be used to send delegates to the Estes Conference this June.

Chlorcy Ode announced the

Grant Received For Virus Study

The bacteriology department of the College of Medicine has received a research grant of $4,800 for work on filterable viruses.

The gift, given by the Gland-o-Lac Co., manufacturer of biologicals for the poultry industry, will be used to further diagnostic work to be conducted under the direction of Dr. Millard F. Gunderson, professor of pathology and bacteriology.

Dr. Gerret Bevelander, professor of histology at New York University, College of Dentistry, will give four lectures this week under the sponsorship of the University Research Council and the department of pediatrics.

"Calcification in Mollusca" is the topic for Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Bessey Hall Auditorium and at 3:45 p.m. in Room 301, Andrews Hall. The subject will be "Calcification, Development, Structure, Functional Adaptations of Bones."

Bevelander will lecture on "The Effect of Operative Procedures on Pulp Tissue of Teeth" Thursday at 3 p.m. in Room 301, Andrews Hall.

"Calcification in Mollusca" is the topic for Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Bessey Hall Auditorium and at 3:45 p.m. in Room 301, Andrews Hall. The subject will be "Calcification, Development, Structure, Functional Adaptations of Bones."

Bevelander will lecture on "The Effect of Operative Procedures on Pulp Tissue of Teeth" Thursday at 3 p.m. in Room 301, Andrews Hall.

Women interested in being Coed Counselors "Big Sisters" next year may apply between March 25 and 31 in Ellen Smith Hall or the Ag Union.

"Big Sisters" will be chosen by Board Members of Coed Counselors. There will be no interviews.

Coed Counselors will be the new Coed Counselors for the new year. Interviews will be held April 4 at 3 p.m. in the Union.

Taghi Keemani, University Iranian student, (1), presents the national Iranian Flag to Dr. George W. Rosenlof, dean of admissions, at the Iranian New Year celebration, which is celebrated in Iran the first day of spring and which lasts for 13 days.

Gerry Ansari, party an-

Winning Estes Booth

Chlorcy Ode, president of Ag YWCA, (fourth from l.) presents the cup to Estes Carnival booth winner, Love Memorial Hall. Members who participated in the booth, "Young Man's Fancies Look to Adventure," are (l. to r.) Marion Janda, Ellen Jacobsen, Ruth Clarke, Twila Riley, Joyce Splittergerber, Bonnie Linda, Marilyn Metzger and Betty Hrabik. Seated are Loretta Hecht and Donna Scarlett.

All persons who intend to try out should be there on time, according to Gary Hild, Yell King.

Candidates for Yell King are Gary Hild and Danny Fogel, assistant Yell King, and holdover members, Bob Kirkendall, Don Orr and Norm Veitner.

Marilyn Eaton, Joan Pollard and Lou Sanchez are the other candidates for holdover members.

Two Women regulars, three male regulars, and two alternate men will be selected as new squad members.

Judges for the tryouts will be Eldon Park, president of Incentives; Cal Kuska, president of Corn Cobs; Rocky Yapp, president of Student Council; Joyce Bennington, president of Tassels; Jan Steffen, president of Mortar Board; A. J. Lewandowski, athletic director; Jake Geier, gymnastics coach; Donald Lentz, band director, and Gary Hild, Yell King.

NU Theater Reservations Now Available

Reservations may be made for the last University Theater production of the year, "The Man Who Came To Dinner," by Kaufman and Hart, which will be presented March 31 through April 3 and April 7 through April 10.

Theater-goers are urged to make reservations for the Wednesday and Thursday performances. Since the seating in the Arena Theater is limited, people are usually turned away on Friday and Saturday evenings.

Holders of season tickets are also required to make reservations. They can be made by calling the business office, Temple Building, 2-7631, Ext. 3263.

We have a fine cast for this show and we predict a fine evening's entertainment. This comedy has been a hit whenever and wherever presented," Dallas Williams, director said.

Hank Gibson and Marian Uhe are cast as the leads for the play.

Pharmaceutical Tour Taken By Twenty-Four Students

Tours of the Upjohn and Parke-Davis pharmaceutical companies highlighted the recent five-day trip for 24 University pharmacy students.

The group left Monday night by train and spent half a day in Chicago before proceeding to Kalamazoo, Mich., where they visited the Upjohn plant. There the students saw the manufacturing, processing, packing and shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.

A cash award of $300 and a recognition key will be given the winners of each of the three classes in each group. The grand prize winner, chosen from these six winners, will be awarded an engraved trophy.

All photos must be turned in to the Union Activities Office by noon, April 21, accompanied by an application blank. Persons shouldn't submit more than one photo in each class.

Leonard Barker, chairman of the special activities committee, announced that all photos become the property of the committee and none can be returned.

The amateur group will include all undergraduate and graduate students and faculty members who have had neither professional photographic experience nor completed any regular University photography course in advance of Photography 175.

The professional group will include all students and faculty members who have had some professional experience and who have completed a regular course in advance of Photography 175.

Three classes of photos may be entered: Class A, campus scenes; Class B, portraits, and Class C, miscellaneous, such as still life, animals and landscapes.

All photos must be 8 by 10 glossy prints and must be mounted on cream-colored photo mats boards, 16 by 20 inches.