Beggs Says 'Extremely Fortunate;' Ex-Coach To Take Command Apr. 15

Bill Orwig, University of Michigan backfield and end coach, is the new Director of Intercollegiate Athletics at the University. Dr. Walter K. Beggs, chairman of the Board of Intercollegiate Athletics, announced Tuesday evening...

Unwanted Publicity Causes Chancellor Prospect Loss

J. W. Ashton Withdraws From Race

Because of unwanted publicity the University has lost one of its leading prospects for Chancellorship, John K. Selleck, acting Chancellor, announced Tuesday.

Dr. J. W. Ashton, administrative vice president of Indiana University, asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration for the Nebraska position.

SELLECK SAID Dr. Ashton gave the publicity which followed his meeting in Chicago with Nebraska Regents as the reason for his request.

"This is the most serious result which has come from the refusal of the Lincoln Journal newspaper to permit the Board of Regents to talk in confidence with men the Board is seeking to interest in the University's chancellorship," Selleck said.

"The Board of Regents invited nine educators to meet with it in Chicago last weekend after the Lincoln Journal's editor, Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., refused the University's request for anonymity sought by men with whom the Regents wished to confer in Lincoln about the chancellorship," Selleck said.

"IN CHICAGO," he said, "the Regents and I made an effort to protect the men invited for preliminary discussions. We were told by newsmen there that the Lincoln Journal had requested coverage of our talks. We gave no interviews and authorized no statements.

"We were, of course, disappointed to learn that the Lincoln Journal would publish from keyhole sources an account of a part of the discussion with Dr. Ashton. The Journal has caused a very fine man and highly qualified educator to decide he has no interest in heading the University of Nebraska."

Orwig, 46, whose yearly salary will be $12,600, will take over the position April 15. A. J. Lewandowski, athletic business manager, has been serving as acting athletic director pending the employment of a successor for George "Potsy" Clark, who resigned effective Jan. 31.

Orwig's salary will be paid by athletic funds.

IN MAKING the announcement, Dr. Beggs said: "We are extremely fortunate to secure the services of Orwig, whose ability in the education and athletic fields is respected throughout the country.

"Orwig received high praise from Big Ten athletic directors whom the Nebraska Athletic Board contacted in determining the advisability of hiring him."

Dr. Beggs said that Orwig's appointment received the full approval of the Board of Regents.

ACTING Chancellor John K. Selleck said: "I believe that the University will benefit greatly from having a man of Orwig's caliber. He is a young man and I know will be able to grow with the athletic program here. He has a proven record in both the education and coaching fields, and also valuable experience at Michigan University in public relations with alumni and in aiding with that University's grant-in-aid program."

Orwig will come to Nebraska April 2, when he will attend a meeting of the Nebraska Co-Operative School Study Council in Grand Island. He also will attend the Nebraska Association of School Administrators' convention in Grand Island April 3.

ORWIG has been assistant coach at the University of Michigan since 1948. Before that he was head football and basketball coach at the University of Toledo for two years. While at Toledo University, his football teams won 15 games, lost four and tied two.

In 1945, he was overseas athletic consultant for the Army of Occupation in Europe.

From 1936 to 1945, Orwig was a member of the faculty at Liberty High School in Toledo, serving as football and basketball coach, history instructor and assistant dean of boys.

His Toledo high school football teams won 74 games, lost 25 and tied four. They won three Ohio high school championships in football, in 1941, 1942 and 1944.

WHILE WORKING toward a Bachelor of Science degree in Education at the University of Michigan, Orwig was a member of the varsity football and basketball teams from 1927 and 1929. He was named to the All-Conference basketball team during his senior year and received honorable mention on the All-American football selections.

From 1938 to 1948, he was a member of the West Conference officiating staff in both football and basketball. He officiated the NCAA Basketball Tournament in 1946 and 1947.

From 1930 to 1931, Orwig attended the Graduate School at Michigan. He attended high school in Toledo.

IN 1943, he was selected as one of the ten outstanding young men of the City of Toledo. He is a member of Elks; American Football Coaches Association; Phi Epsilon Kappa, national honorary physical education fraternity, and Sigma Delta Psi, national honorary athletic fraternity.

It is designed to disclose weaknesses and improve efficiency of civil defense organizations at all levels and will involve all 48 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, Alaska and the 10 provinces of Canada.

For the purposes of the test, it will be assumed that the United States and Alaska will be attacked by aircraft carrying atomic weapons. Plans are in the making for quick movement of essential government agencies to safe areas in the event of an enemy attack on Washington by the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Guest Speakers At NUCWA Meeting Discuss European Points Of Interest

Natives, Tourist Give Travel Tips To Students; Describe France, Germany, Italy, Scandinavia

"To bring out points of interest to those students planning summer trips to Europe and to anyone who is concerned with international relations" was the expressed purpose of the NUCWA meeting Tuesday.

Five students who were either foreign students from the countries being discussed or who had taken tours of the various European countries, talked about points of interest and the cultural backgrounds of their respective countries.

SPEAKERS WERE Bridget Watson and Nita Helmstader, France; Hans Steffan and Harry Wray, Germany; Diego Segre, Italy, and Trygg Engen, the Scandinavian countries.

Miss Watson was born in Paris and spent most of her childhood in the South of France.

"Paris," she said, "is usually the most interesting part of France to the tourist. Tourists always think of Paris in terms of night life, but they usually miss the small cafes along the Left Bank. More tourists should visit there because they offer a view of the real Paris."

MISS HELMSTADER, who visited France on a European tour last year added some comments from the tourist's point of view. One of the things which she said amazed her were the scanty bathing suits seen on the Riveria.

On the language problem she admitted that she did have some difficulty but that most people in France were very friendly and helpful.

Hans Steffan presented the group with a suggested itinerary of places and cities to visit in his native Germany. Using Hamburg as a starting point he proceeded on a hypothetical journey south to Hanover where he used to live.

He particularly recommended the youth hostels where members can spend the night for 10 cents. In a humorous vein, he commented that it is very easy to hitch-hike in Germany—just carry an American flag.

Diego Segre presented several facts about the government of his native country, Italy. At present, he said, the government is rather unstable. It is democratic in form, however, having a representative bicameral legislature.

THE SCANDINAVIAN countries were discussed by Trygg Engen, from Norway. He recommended spending most of a tourist's time in the largest cities, Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen. These, he said, are the cultural centers and offer the most for the tourist.
