Orchesis Spring Program Set For Tonight, Saturday

Show To Feature Mood Dances, Pantomimes

"An Evening of Dance," the 27th annual Orchesis program of modern dance will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m., in Grant Memorial Hall. Several moods will be portrayed by the selection of dances of varying themes. Orchesis will be assisted by Pre-Orchesis and Men's Orchesis in some of the numbers.

AMONG THE special numbers which were selected by the group are dance pantomimes of two of James Thurber's fables, "The Bear Who Could Take It or Leave It Alone" and "The Green Isle." They will be narrated by Chuck Sprague.

A more serious dance will depict the internal turmoil and despair of a tormented individual. Elaine Hess will perform the solo part with six other Orchesis members dancing the part of the night figures which haunt her sleep. Music for this selection is from "The Lyric Suite" by Alban Berg.

BARBARA BRITTON Lacy, president of Orchesis, will dance a solo number recollecting three moods of childhood. She will represent the child at Christmas time, alone and frightened and at the circus.

The entire Orchesis group will participate in a number accompanied by percussion instruments which will include drums, temple blocks and gongs.

Atomic Ashes Hit Japan

TOKYO—Atomic particles, which are a result of a Russian A-bomb test near the Arctic Circle, have been reported falling on Japan. This report was secured from Shigeyoshi Matsumae, an engineer who said he received his information from American military quarters. The United States Far East Command offered no comment on the situation.

Small quantities of radioactive ash fall on Japan about three times every two weeks from Russian explosions in Siberia, the report said. The United States has confirmed that Russia possesses atomic bombs from these ashes. The ashes take three days to reach Japan and take one week to circle the globe.

Westerly winds which prevail throughout the year could cause these ashes to fall, the weather bureau in Japan said.

GOP Agrees To Tax Cut

WASHINGTON—Following the loss of a test in which a $100 million reduction was voted on household appliances, Senate Republican leaders regrouped forces against any further floor cuts in excise taxes.

When the GOP loss became apparent, they agreed to accept the household appliance cut. However, the possibility remains that the appliance tax cut will be knocked out in a conference with the House. The cut proposal is to lower the tax from 10 to 5 per cent.

Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), chairman of the Finance Committee, said that the House would probably stand firm against going below the 10 per cent level on most excises this year.

Council Discusses Elections

Group States Campaign Rules

Following a long discussion Wednesday afternoon, the Student Council passed, by a vote of 22 to 2, a resolution investing the elections committee with the power to investigate and report election violations to the judiciary committee which will rule upon the validity of reported campaign procedures.

The elections committee has announced requirements of publicity used by candidates campaigning for Student Council positions. This included, posters, properly approved and posted; classified ads in The Nebraskan; sound trucks on campus between classes, and sandwich signs. Candidates will be notified as to the various rules.

THE COUNCIL moved and seconded a motion to amend an article of the constitution which states "there shall be no campaigning in the buildings in which the polling places are located, to read—"There shall be no campaigning on election day." However, in accordance with the constitution, this motion will not be voted upon until the next meeting.

A motion to elect class officers this year as it has been done previously and as is stated in the by-laws, was postponed until the next meeting. The fate of the bill will hinge on whether council members think the officers hold positions in an organization or if they are just honorary posts.

The honors convocation committee reported that there would be no banquet held in connection with the convocation this year as students and faculty both agreed that it was an undue burden.

Premature spring weather was too much for the male members of one University Spanish class. As the class was held in a first floor room, the men thought it would be ideal if the discussion were held on the lawn outside. So they threw open the windows and jumped out—one by one.

The disgruntled professor chose to ignore them and call on the feminine portion of the class to recite. Although the men gave up and meekly returned to the classroom, to add insult to injury, they were counted absent!

Rathbone To Star As Psalm Narrator

'King David' Production Set For May 1

The most difficult spring musical program ever undertaken by the University will feature Basil Rathbone, state and screen star, as narrator.

David Foltz, chairman of the department of music, announced that the symphonic psalm, "King David," will be presented May 2.

Music for "King David," a Biblical drama by Rene Morax, was composed by Arthur Honegger in 1921. It has been staged only four times previously in the United States.

THE SYMPHONY psalm consists of 27 pieces. It revolves about five successive stations in the life of King David, who was shepherd, leader, war chief, prophet and king.

Foltz will direct the hour and a half-long production. About 550 University students, including members of the choruses, Singers and Symphonic Orchestra, will appear. A professional soprano, contralto and baritone will be selected as soloists.

RATHBONE FIRST appeared in the theater in "The Taming of the Shrew" in 1911 with the Theater Royal of Ipswich, England. In the United States he has acted in many Shakespearean dramas, including "Othello" and "Romeo and Juliet." He also was seen on the stage in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

He began his screen career in 1925 in "The Masked Bride."

Rathbone starred in the Sherlock Holmes series, "Tower of London" and "Frenchman's Creek." He narrated "Ichabod and Mister Toad."

"King David" will be sponsored by the University Research Council and the department of music.

'Ladies Late Nite' Plan To Extend Friday Hours

Dates To Pay For Extra Minutes

Closing hours for women will be extended to 1:30 p.m. Friday according to the "Ladies Late Nite" plan sponsored by Mortar Board.

Money raised through the plan will be used to help finance the Mortar Board Foreign Student Tour.

A Mortar Board member will be at each coed house and dormitory with a representative from that house to charge coeds one cent for each minute after the regular closing hour of 12:30 p.m. Men will be able to stay in the sorority houses until 5 minutes before 1:30 p.m.

Dates are to have the correct change. Coeds who do not pay for late minutes after 12:30 p.m. will be subject to regular AWS late-minute regulations.

Marjorie Johnston, dean of women, campus housemothers, and the AWS Board approved the plan.

The tour, planned for thirty foreign students, will be held April 12 and 13. Students will visit Hastings, Grand Island, Holdrege and Minden. They will tour a radio station, baking company, hosiery factory, dehydrating plant, publishing company, dairy farm, and country creamery.

Sororities are urged by Mortar Board to plan slumber parties that night so the Lincoln girls will be included in "Ladies Late Nite."
