

Ivy Day Racing Form

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the traditional Ivy Day "racing form." It is found each year in The Nebraskan as a prediction of which junior students will be masked or fagged for Mortar Board and Innocents on Ivy Day. The "horse" in the form is the candidate; the "stable" is the house with which he is associated; the "trainer" is the student who has helped the candidate; the "odds" predict the chances, and the "comment" describes the possibilities of history of the candidate. This list was compiled without the help of any member of the Mortar Board or Innocent Society.
