

Keenan, Jesse Receive Awards

Committee Chairmen, Secretaries Announced At Annual Union Picnic

Roy Keenan and Shirley Jesse were announced as winners of two Union awards at the annual Awards Picnic Tuesday. New chairmen were announced.

Keenan was presented with the Outstanding Freshman Award. Miss Jesse was given the Distinguished Service Award.

Keenan is past secretary of the dance committee, a Pepster and secretary of Alpha Tau Omega.

NU Names McKinney To Faculty

Regents Make Appointments

The University and Kansas State College at Manhattan have exchanged directors of their home economics departments.

Dr. Florence E. McKinney, chairman of the department of household economics at Kansas State has been named to head the home economics department of the University.

At the same time, Dr. Doretta Schlaphoff, present head of the University home economics department, has resigned her post to accept McKinney's position at the Kansas institution.

IN ADDITION to the home economics switch, the Board of Regents also voted to form separate departments of pathology and microbiology at the College of Medicine in Omaha. The departments were combined in a department of pathology and bacteriology.

Dr. Millard F. Gunderson was made chairman of the new department of microbiology. Dean J. P. Tollman will continue as chairman of the department of pathology.

The regents decided to meet again May 15 to consider bids on construction of a new Teachers High School building. Bids will be opened May 13.

The regents also made these appointments:

PHILIP S. JAMES, now at the University of Pennsylvania, to be instructor of economics.

James C. Wolford, now with General Electric, to be instructor of engineering mechanics.

Charles Driscoll, now at Seton Hall University in New York, to be visiting associate professor of law for one year.

Dr. Arne Magnus, now at the University of Kansas, to be instructor of mathematics and astronomy to succeed Dr. Richard Moore who is resigning.

Roy Crowes Holly, M.D., now at the University of Minnesota, to be professor of obstetrics and gynecology at the College of Medicine.

Dr. Herbert L. Jackson, now studying in Switzerland, to be assistant professor of physics.

Philosophy Club To Hear Dr. Storer Wednesday

Philosophy Club will hold its final meeting of the year Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Union Faculty Lounge.

Dr. Thomas Storer, professor of philosophy, will present a paper on "Genesis of Form in Art." He presented this paper at a meeting of the Nebraska Art Association earlier in the year.

Investigation To Continue

WASHINGTON—The Senate investigations of the McCarthy-Army controversy will not be ended at the present time. Senators voted down rival Republican and Democratic proposals aimed at shortening the public hearings. The vote on each was 4-3 and the man who swung the votes was Chairman Mundt (R-SD). Mundt separated from his Republican colleagues to knock out a plan by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) which called for the hearings to be suspended after testimony by Secretary of the Army Stevens and Sen. McCarthy. The subcommittee debated for a complete day before ending up with the Dirksen plan wrecked on a stand by Secretary of the Army Stevens that it would not be fair to the Army.

U.S. Favors New Alliance

WASHINGTON—The United States would like to initiate a Southeast Asian alliance which would pledge member nations to fight if openly challenged by Communist aggression, said Secretary of State Dulles. Dulles also said that he hoped such an alliance would cover all of Indo-China although the loss of some or all of that country would not necessarily bring the loss of all Southeast Asia. It is hoped that this alliance will protect Southeast Asia from falling over if Indo-China falls.

Asian Defense Pact Hit

GENEVA—The Western-opposed Asian defense pact has been accused of being an American scheme designed to preserve and perpetuate colonialism by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Molotov said he is in favor of the proposals by Red China's Premier Chou En-lai that the Asian countries settle their own problems. He declared again that Red China is at the Geneva conference as one of the big powers and that it has the same status as the Big Four. However the West has rejected this stand.

Partitioning Of Alaska?

WASHINGTON—If statehood-seeking Alaskans won't settle for partitioning of Alaska "they probably will get nothing," said Chairman Miller (R-Neb) of the House Interior Committee. He made this statement at a meeting with more than 50 Alaskans who arrived in the U. S. to try and urge on Alaskan statehood. Miller also said that he had not given up hope on the Hawaii-Alaska bill which was passed by the Senate earlier. He said he believed that the bill would pass the House if it reached the floor. Under the partition plan, only the populated areas of Alaska would be brought in as a state.

Registration

Rules For Early Enrollment Given; Seniors Set To Pull Cards Monday

Rules for registration Monday through Wednesday have been announced by the director of registration and records, Floyd W. Hoover.

All students not in Junior Division are expected to bring their work sheets with them when they report to the assignment committee. Work sheets of Junior Division students will be available to them in the Military and Science Building.

STUDENTS in the college of Agriculture, College of Arts and Science and Teachers College will not need the signature of the appropriate dean on their work sheets unless they want to register for more than 18 hours or less than 12 hours in the regular session or more than nine hours in the summer session. Any student who wants to register for more or less than the standard load must have the approval of the dean of his college.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. Monday with students having 90 or more hours on record as of February 1, 1954. The hours will be dropped at the rate of approximately five each hour, so students with 55 hours may expect to register at about 4 p.m. By Wednesday, registration will probably begin with 15 hours and all students will be expected to complete their registration that day.

DUs Win Second In Ivy Day Sing

An unfortunate error was discovered in the announcement of winners in the Interfraternity Sing Saturday.

Ratings at the top of the judges' score sheet revealed that Delta Upsilon fraternity placed second in the Sing instead of Alpha Tau Omega, as originally announced.

Official winners were: Phi Chi singing "Zekiel Saw De Wheel," first place; Delta Upsilon, singing "God's Son Has Set Me Free," second place; and a tie between Phi Gamma Delta, singing "Little Innocent Lamb," and Delta Tau Delta, singing "Use Your Imagination," third place.

First Council Meeting Planned For Wednesday

Three New Members Announced

The newly elected Student Council will hold its first meeting Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Union Room 313.

Election of two secretaries and a treasurer will be held. Jack Rogers, president, said that he would take applications for committee assignments from the members at the meeting.

Three new Student Council organizational representatives were announced Monday by Bob Peterson, Student Council member.

THE NEW members are representatives of Panhellenic, Coed Counselor Board and Corn Cobs. Three organizations have not yet elected their representatives. Yet to be named are representatives from the Cosmopolitan Club, YWCA and YMCA.

Marjory Antes was named Panhellenic representative. Cynthia Henderson will represent the Coed Counselor Board and Marx Petersen was elected by Corn Cobs to fill the Student Council post.

Miss Antes is an Ag College sophomore from Lincoln. She is a member of Kappa Delta, Pan-

Ag Square Dance

A final All-University Square Dance will be held in the Ag Union Gym from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. Friday. Special music will be provided.

New Ag Meats Laboratory To Provide Research Facilities; Dedication Friday

Modern Building Best In Nation, Loeffel Asserts

Friday the NU Meats Laboratory will be officially dedicated. Thirty-five years ago, William J. Loeffel took the job as an animal husbandry instructor at the University on the promise that they would provide him with a new meats lab.

Since 1919, Loeffel has become chairman of the animal husbandry department. In the same space of time Nebraska livestock industry has grown until it provides more than half the state agricultural income. The processing of meat products has expanded until it comprises 42 per cent of the state manufacturing industry.

LOEFFEL DESCRIBES the new meat lab as the best in the nation. "Someday somebody might build a better one," Loeffel added. "But they haven't yet."

The three-story brick and concrete building has been planned to serve from 50 to 100 years. It is modern and easy to clean, easy to maintain, well-lighted and thoroughly equipped for research and teaching. Classes have been held in the building the past semester.

Advanced Army ROTC Physical Exams Planned

Cadets who have applied for admission to the advanced course in Army ROTC are to report to Student Health for preliminary physical examinations.

Applicants for advanced Army ROTC report back to Student Health as a group at 8 p.m. Monday for final physical exams.

front of the Military and Naval Science Building and the Regents' Bookstore.

Each student is expected to bring his own pencil and his copy of the printed schedule of classes, according to Hoover.

Summer session registration by students in the Graduate College or seniors who have been admitted for graduate study following graduation will take place during the advance registration period. Forms may be obtained either in Social Science 111 or Agricultural Hall 206.

Following the advance registration period, registration will not be accepted until after June 4.

Nominations Open For Top Nebraskan

Campus Newspaper Staff To Honor One NU Student, Faculty Member

Nominations for Outstanding Nebraskans will be accepted by The Nebraskan until May 20 at 3 p.m.

The Nebraskan, sponsor of the honor will select one student and one faculty member from nominations which are based on service to the University.

Nominations must be in writing and include a statement of the nominee's qualifications.

W. V. LAMBERT, dean of the College of Agriculture, and Eleanor Knoll, senior in the College of Law, were named Outstanding Nebraskans for the first semester of 1953-54.

Dean Lambert was cited for his efforts to close consideration of criticism of Dr. C. Clyde Mitchell, Ag economics professor, and to adopt a statement of principle in defense of freedom of expression by University professors.

MISS KNOLL was a member of the team which won the National Moot Court final competition in New York. Miss Knoll was commended for her accomplishments, which did more than any other single individual's efforts in publicizing the University, and showing wealthier and possibly better known eastern schools that the Midwest is just as capable of producing outstanding students.

Col. J. Frankforter, associate professor of chemistry, and Ruth Raymond, former editor of The Daily Nebraskan, were named Outstanding Nebraskans for the first semester of 1953-54.

Dr. Rosenlof was cited for "his continual work and interest in students as individuals." The letter nominating him commended him for his contributions to the "spiritual life of the campus."

Miss Krasne was also a member of Associated Women Students, All-University Fund Board, Religious Welfare Council, YWCA, Tassels and Sigma Delta Tau. She was cited for her "steady faithful service to the University."

Niemeyer, Smith Accept Posts On NU Army ROTC Staff

A new adjutant and a training aids specialist will join the University Army ROTC Staff.

James H. Workman, professor of military science and tactics, has announced.

Warrant Officer Junior Grade Clarence Niemeyer of Higginsville, Missouri will replace Chief Warrant Officer Stacey Harris as adjutant. Harris will leave shortly for duty in the Far East.

Niemeyer, a veteran of approximately 25 years Army service, commanded Civilian Conservation Corps Camps at Madison and Franklin, Nebraska from 1938 to 1941.

Sgt. Waldo Smith of North Platte is the new training aids specialist. He comes to the University from duty in Germany where he served as an instructor in the 8th Army Corps.

Beginning his military service with the US Marines, Smith participated in fighting on Tarawa, Saipan and Tinian following his enlistment a few weeks after the Pearl Harbor attack.

INCLUDED in the Friday dedication program will be Dr. H. R. Kraybill of Chicago, director of research and education of the American Meat Institute Foundation and R. C. Pollock of Chicago, general manager of National Livestock Meat Board.

C. Y. Thompson, university regent, will dedicate the building. Charles Warner, Lt. Governor; John Selleck, acting chancellor, and W. V. Lambert, dean of the College of Agriculture will speak.

The laboratory will be opened for public inspection from 2 until 9 p.m. Educational exhibits in various parts of the building will explain the operations and phases of the meat industry. Attending the ceremony will be officials of state livestock organizations and representatives of stockyards, packers, commission firms, food retailers and frozen food companies.

No Discipline Taken Yet For Riot, Colbert Says

Officials Blame Energy, Weather

Sixteen hours after the Monday night riot crowd had dispersed University officials offered a variety of comments.

J. P. Colbert, dean of student affairs, said "The University knows that the very large percentage of the student body is loyal to the University, wishes to abide by the rules and regulations which have been established to preserve order and protect the rights of everyone.

"The University is well aware that the student body regrets acts of vandalism and personal injuries on the part of students as does the University administration.

"THE UNIVERSITY is well aware of the fact that only a handful of irresponsible persons, students and perhaps a few non-students, were responsible for the defiance of University regulations with respect to entering the Women's Residence Halls and destroying University property. Persons apprehended in acts of violence against state property or property of other persons will of necessity be punished."

Colbert commented that no disciplinary action has been taken yet. He pointed out that the mild spring season and the fact that this was Monday night after house meetings combined to produce a situation encouraging students to let off steam.

Frank Hallgren, associate dean of student affairs, explained that Colbert's statement represented the department. He added that some persons have suggested establishing an official event designed to release students' excess energy.

Hallgren smilingly suggested he has considered reserving an unimproved 10-acre tract in which students could be placed for a few days in the spring.

Chancellor John K. Selleck declined further comment, saying his earlier statement covered the situation completely.

YWCA Filings Close Saturday

Filings for positions in the city YWCA are being accepted in the Y office in Ellen Smith Hall until Saturday.
