Ag Mission

Frolik, Round To Study Turkish University Plan

Dr. E. F. Frolik, chairman of the department of agronomy and George S. Round, head of the public relations department, have left for Ankara, Turkey, to study the feasibility of a contractual arrangement between the University of Turkey at Ankara and the University of Nebraska.

Frolik and Round will investigate the possibility of the University assisting the Turkish government in setting up an agricultural college in Turkey.

THE TRIP is being made for the Foreign Operations Administration as well as the University.

E. W. Janike, extension director at the University, said that Turkey is progressing agriculturally faster than most foreign nations. People there are interested in setting up a college of agriculture similar to the one in Lincoln, he added.

UNDER THE program, certain staff members from the University would instruct students at the Turkish college. Ken Keller of the public relations department said that a possible arrangement might be worked out whereby Turkish instructors would come to Nebraska for training on an exchange basis. He said that the contract would be the first of its kind entered into by the University.

Frolik and Round will return about mid-July.

REP. CARL CURTIS

Carl Curtis To Address Clinic On Public Affairs

Forum To Follow Main Speech

Carl Curtis, Nebraska's representative to Congress from the first congressional district, will speak at a University Public Affairs Clinic Monday 8 to 10 a.m. in the Union. The two-hour clinic is entitled "Meet Your Congressman."

Curtis will discuss current legislation of congress, the forthcoming campaign and other state and national affairs.

FOLLOWING THE main address, a forum made up of Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, head of the department of political science; Hugo Srb, Clerk, Nebraska State Legislature, and Dr. Leo P. Black State Department of Public Instruction, will ask questions about the talk.

Following the clinic, an informal coffee chat will be held at the Union for anyone interested in talking further to Curtis.

Curtis was born in Minden and attended Nebraska Wesleyan University and the University of Nebraska. In 1927 he began his career teaching in the Minden public schools. He was admitted to the Nebraska bar in 1930 and began his law practice in Minden. From 1931 to 1934 he served as county attorney.

CURTIS HAS served as a member of the 76th and 83rd Congress, and is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee. He has sponsored such measures as the law extending the income tax filing date, the bill classifying soil conservation practices as a deductible expense, and has introduced resolutions resulting in plans for the Missouri Development Program.

He is the original sponsor of the Republican flood control and irrigation project and played a leading role in the probe of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Authorities on national and international affairs such as Curtis are being presented so that students and community and educational leaders will have an opportunity to hear of the latest developments being discussed in the halls of Congress and the United Nation.

The second in the series of two clinics on national and international affairs will feature His Excellency Amjad Ali of Pakistan. The program, scheduled for July 12, is entitled "Meet the Minister to the United States from Pakistan."

Indochina Problems Discussed At Trouble Spot Forum Today

Full-Stage Pictures Aid Speakers

Political, geographical and economic aspects of Indochina were discussed at a World Trouble Spot Forum at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Dr. A. C. Breckenridge, chairman of the department of political science; Dr. Leslie Hewes, chairman of the department of geography and Dr. Wallace C. Peterson, instructor in economics, participated in the forum. Following the discussion by these men, a discussion period was held in which members of the audience took part.

THE FORUM, first in a series of three scheduled for this summer, is an extension of a 13-week series of local televised programs, entitled Trouble Spots, which was presented over KFOR last winter.

Jack McBride, assistant director of television, directs the forums. In presenting the forums, McBride makes use of the standard television opening formats using slides and film. With this method the entire stage becomes the television screen and a full-stage screen is used for projecting slides and film. Narration is provided for the opening format and introduction of performers by an off-stage microphone.

Programs are 50 minutes in length with each performer giving a 10-minute background on why the area is a trouble spot. Slides, maps with colored overlays, cartoons and other visual material are used in the presentations by the performers.

The next World Trouble Spot Forum, featuring Western Europe, will be held July 1 at 10 a.m. in Love library auditorium.

Songfellows To Appear With All-State Chorus

The WHO Songfellows, known as one of the country's outstanding male quartettes, will appear as guest artists with the All-State Chorus in a choral concert June 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Union ballroom.

The quartette is comprised of Stuart Steelman, first tenor and arranger; Ken White, second tenor; Harris White, baritone; and Bill Fischer, bass. Bill Austin, pianist and arranger, accompanies the group.

THE SONGFELLOWS are staff artists of radio and television originating from WHO, Des Moines, Ia. They appear on four regular daily shows over WHO with which they have been associated for 1 1/2 years. In addition to radio and television shows, the group records for advertising purposes and has made numerous personal appearances throughout the country.

During the summer of 1952, the Songfellows were featured as guest artists at a Union sponsored performance.

THE CHORAL concert will consist of selections by the Songfellows and the complete All-State chorus. In addition, both groups will combine to present a selection of songs.

The quartette will also conduct an ensemble clinic for All-State high school students and for under-graduate and graduate music students at which they will demonstrate microphone and arranging techniques.

Square Dance Canceled

The All-State, All-University square dance scheduled for Friday at the Union ballroom has been canceled.

Ernie Bebb, Union activities director, said that indications show that the popularity of this type of group entertainment has sufficiently decreased so that the sponsoring of other forms of entertainment would be more worthwhile.

Parents, Teachers

Clinic To Discuss Approaches To School Problems Today

A clinic discussing "Unique Approaches to Critical School Problems," sponsored by Teachers College and the Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, will be held at the Lincoln Hotel and at Love Library Thursday.

A luncheon session will be held at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at the Lincoln Hotel. The afternoon session will begin at 2:30 p.m. in Love Library auditorium.

WILLIAM A. Early, President of the National Education Association and Superintendent of Schools Savannah and Chatham County, Ga., is the featured speaker for both sessions. Early will discuss the problems facing schools and the role of citizens in solving school problems.

He has served as president of the NEA Department of Rural Education and president of the Virginia Education Association.

Galen Saylor, President of the Nebraska Parent-Teacher Association and Chairman of the Department of Secondary Education at the University, is chairman for the morning session.

CALVIN H. Reed, Consultant, Nebraska Parent-Teacher Association, and Assistant Professor of Elementary Education at the University, is chairman of the afternoon session.

Reed stated that the general theme of the clinic is that problems of education can be solved by citizens, teachers and school officials working together. He emphasized the benefits of the clinic to classroom teachers as well as to administrators and citizens. The clinic is open to the public.

Guest Artists

The WHO Songfellows will appear with the All-state Chorus in a concert Wednesday in the Union Ballroom. They are: (top, l. to r.) Stuart Steelman, Ken White and Bill Austin, pianist; (bottom, l. to r.) Harris White and Bill Fischer. They appear on four regular daily shows over WHO in Des Moines.

First Album Hour Set For Monday

The first Album Hour will be held in the Music Room of the Union Monday at 4 p.m.

A special high fidelity-stereophonic sound reproduction set, which makes music sound as if it were produced in the room, will be used for the records.

They include: "William Tell Overture" by Rossini; "Schirzo" by Mendelssohn; "Concerto in C Minor" by Rachmaninoff; "Clair de Lune" by Debussy; one of Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsodies, and selected works of Tchaikovsky and Bizet.

The purpose of the Album Hour—Book Review series is to acquaint students with the facilities of the Union. Refreshments will be served at the close of the program.

Degree Applicants

Students who expect to receive advanced degrees or teaching certificates at the close of the summer school must apply for them by June 22, if they have not already done so. Students should apply at Room B-6, Administration Building between the hours of 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.
