Dr. Langeveld To Visit NU Monday, Tuesday

Dr. Martin J. Langeveld, internationally known educationist and head of the department of education at the University of Utrecht, Holland, will speak to University educational groups Monday and Tuesday.

Monday noon he will speak at the cerebral palsy workshop luncheon in the Union, followed by an address on "The Child's Experience of His Body" at a seminar of the department of education and related departments who are interested, from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Union Faculty Lounge.

HE WILL give a public lecture Monday at 8 p.m. in Love Library Auditorium on "The Impact of an Educational System on the Development of the Child."

Tuesday noon at the Union he will address a luncheon meeting of Phi Delta Kappa, men's teaching honorary, on the topic "European Educational System, Background and Difficulties."

DR. LANGEVELD'S specialty is child growth and development, although he has studied and written on a wide variety of educational questions. He conducts a private child guidance clinic and has served as adviser to the Queen of Holland with respect to the education of the princesses.

Active in the promotion of better international relations in the field of education, Langeveld participated in the UNESCO Seminar on the Training and Education of Teachers in 1948.

More recently he has been invited to lecture and take part in conferences in England, France and Germany. He is working with Dr. Walther Merz, director of the UNESCO Institute for Education in Hamburg, Germany, on a plan to found an International Journal of Education.

Doll To Speak At Palsy Meet Wednesday

One of the nation's leading authorities on problems of mental deficiency and cerebral palsy in children, Edgar A. Doll, will be on campus Wednesday, July 21, to speak at the cerebral palsy workshop luncheon and seminar.

The luncheon will be at noon in the Union, followed by the seminar in the Union Faculty Lounge.

Doll is at present director of research at the Vineland Training School in New Jersey and is a consultant for the United Cerebral Palsy Association and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

HE WAS one of the first men able to show that many cerebral palsy children have high mental ability and to enable the children to make use of the ability.

He was formerly professor of abnormal psychology at Ohio State University and worked in the Devereux Schools for handicapped children in Pennsylvania and California.

Those interested in hearing Doll speak are invited to attend but are asked to make reservations at the department of educational psychology, Ext. 3222.

'Your Investments' Panel To Discuss Professions

"Your Profession is an Investment in the Future" will be the topic of a panel discussion in the Union series, "Your Investment: Finances, Family and Future," to be held at the Union Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Dr. Wesley C. Meierhenry, coordinator, teacher placement division, will serve as moderator. Dr. Walter K. Beggs, professor in school administration, will discuss the "psychic incomes" of professions.

Folk Opera

Rehearsing a scene from the University summer chorus opera, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," are the leads (from l. to r.) Amer Lincoln, Leonard Blinde, John Poutre and Marian Brinkman. The opera will be presented tonight at 7:30 p.m. and Friday at 8:30 p.m. at Howell Memorial Theatre.

'Devil, Daniel Webster'

Summer Chorus To Present Folk Opera Thursday, Friday

A folk opera, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," will be presented Friday at 8:30 p.m. at the new Howell Memorial Theatre by the University summer chorus, directed by Earl Jenkins, music instructor.

The dress rehearsal Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. will also be open to the public, Jenkins announced, since requests for free tickets far exceeded the amount available.

ALL TICKETS for the Friday night performance will be honored until 8:15 p.m. At that time any available seats will be given to non-ticket holders.

The two-act opera by Douglas Moore and Benet stars John Poutre as Jabez Stone, Marian Brinkman as Mary Stone, Leonard Blinde as Daniel Webster and Amer Lincoln as Scratch.

THE STORY is built around the troubles of a New Hampshire farmer in the 1840's whose wedding is threatened by the discovery that he has sold his soul to the devil. Daniel Webster steps in to defend the farmer and bring a happy ending to the unhappy tale.

The supporting cast includes Donald Goodrich, Delores Blondi, Robert Wallace, Edward Wells, John Schwartz, John Moran, Gerald Lawson, Jack Wells and Gene Knepper.

MEMBERS OF the choreography team are Jane Freitag, Janice Fullerton, Vivian Robb, Nancy Norman, John Moran, Stanley Shumway, Norbert Schuerman and Edwards Tegmeier.

In addition to Jenkins, the production staff includes Karl Sittler, stage director; Margaret Fox, choreographer; Shirley Hertz, accompanist, and Charles Peterson and Mary Sigler, technical supervisors.

Blood Serum Needed By NU For Cell Study

Blood donations are needed by the University's Institute for Cellular Research under the auspices of the director, Dr. Donald M. Pace, for research recently undertaken by the Institute in human cancer cells.

The cancer cells are being cultured and studied by the Institute. The strain, usually called the HeLa strain, is the same that is used for testing polio antibodies.

HUMAN blood serum is needed to sustain the cells, which can be cultured and maintained for study in the laboratory for an indefinite period of time provided the environment is suitable.

Those interested in donating blood are asked to phone the department of physiology, Ext. 3212. Arrangements can then be made with the University Health Center to have a medical technician draw the blood.

Sports Shots

A bowling picture and a table tennis picture, "Set 'em Up" and "Table Tennis," will be presented at the Sports Shots program Thursday from 11:45 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the Union Main Lounge.

The film series is sponsored by the Union and the physical education department.

NU Asked To Aid Turk University

Dr. E. F. Frolik, chairman of the agronomy department, and George S. Round, director of public relations, recently returned from a three week visit to Turkey, report that the University has been asked to assist the Turkish government and the U. S. Foreign Operations Administration in establishing a new Ataturk University in eastern Turkey.

Frolik and Round said that Turkey desires not only to establish a new agricultural college but also three other colleges in veterinary science, arts and engineering in scattered portions of eastern Turkey. Turkey's President Bayer is among the supporters of the higher education project and Parliament has already appropriated funds for construction of buildings at four proposed sites.

FROLIK AND Round met with top Turkish officials and the Ataturk University executive committee as well as the Faculties of Agriculture and Veterinary Science at Ankara University during their stay in Ankara. They found enthusiasm and great support for the foundation after the Land-Grant College System in this country. The Turks desire to get away from the classical type of higher education now offered at the three universities in Turkey.

The report of Frolik and Round would call for a trip to the United States by top Turkish officials in order to acquaint them further with the Land-Grant College system. Also, the University would organize a study group to go to Turkey for a six week to two month intensive study of proposed plans and to then suggest modifications of present plans.

THE THIRD proposed phase would consist of an exchange of professors between Ankara University and the University of Nebraska to train staff members for the agricultural faculty of Ataturk University.

The report is being submitted to Dean Lambert and Chancellor Hardin for consideration and probably then will be submitted to the Board of Regents for action.

Ratner Plans Bridge Lesson Tournament

A bridge tournament climaxing the summer bridge lessons sponsored by the Union will be held Wednesday, July 21, in Union Room 315 from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Robert A. Ratner, assistant professor of mechanical engineering and instructor of the lessons, said that any University student or instructor can be in the tournament if he did not participate in lessons.

THE TOURNAMENT will be based on "tournament-play" bridge, in which the same hands are played by each couple. Those interested in the tournament are encouraged to come with their own partner, Ratner said.

Two prizes will be awarded: One for the highest north-south score and one for the highest east-west score.

Those interested may obtain further information at the Union Activities office.

Lester, Wayman, Walton, Parris Named For 'Glass Menagerie' Cast

The cast for "The Glass Menagerie" has been announced by John Tolch, director of the University Theatre's summer play. The cast includes Amanda, Betty Lester; Laura, Mary Wayman; Tom, Bill Walton; and the gentleman caller, Jack Parris.

Betty Lester received her Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree from Columbia University in New York City where she was a member of the Columbia Theatre Associates. She appeared in several off-Broadway shows there. She attended the University for two years where she appeared in the University production of "Idiot's Delight." She is now attending the University summer sessions working toward a teacher's certificate.

MARY WAYMAN appeared in the leading role in the 1953 University Theatre production, "Light Up the Sky." She has had major roles in "Street Scene" and "Idiot's Delight" and has appeared in several other University plays. In 1952 she received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University where she was a member of Nebraska Masquers. She is attending the University summer sessions working toward a Bachelor of Science Degree in education.

Bill Walton, a June graduate of the University, is a member of Nebraska Masquers and Purple Masque, dramatic honorary. He has appeared in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "The Hasty Heart" and several other University productions. He also served as the director of "Room Service," presented by the University during the past year. This summer he is connected with the Hayloft Theatre in Lincoln. Walton will return to the University in the fall for graduate work in speech and dramatic art.

JACK PARRIS, junior in Teachers College majoring in speech, has been seen in University productions, "The Little Foxes," "The Hasty Heart," "Phoenix Too Frequent" and several laboratory plays. Parris also appeared in "Light Up the Sky," University Theatre 1953 summer production. He is a member of Nebraska Masquers and has spent the past two summers working at Hayloft Theatre. Parris is attending summer sessions at the University.

The Tennessee Williams production will be presented July 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. at the Howell Theatre.
