Cerebral Palsy Workshop Students Study Park School Class Methods

By BARBARA CLARK
Assistant Editor

Summer Sessions students enrolled in the cerebral palsy workshop are gaining valuable experience and understanding of the problems involved in working with handicapped children. Each of the ten students enrolled received $100 scholarships for the University course. They receive six hours of credit for their participation in the eight-week course.

The summer workshop, made possible by a $7,900 grant from the United Cerebral Palsy Association, is held in the Park School of the Lincoln School system. Rooms, equipment and personnel which are employed during the regular year have been utilized for the workshop.

APPROXIMATELY 16 physically handicapped children attend the school. Most of the children were members of the school during the past year or are to be in classes next year. They are grouped into older and younger classes either on the primary or elementary level. Included in the classes are children with cerebral palsy, brain injury, muscular dystrophy or post polio.

Visiting instructors, Mrs. Maude Buckingham and Miss Marguerite Wilson, are in charge of the academic work. In addition to instructing the children in such subjects as mathematics, reading and writing, the visiting instructors help the University students plan activities for the children.

CLASS WORK and the various therapies are arranged so that each child can have his needs serviced with as little as possible conflict in his program. The children attend classes in the mornings and also participate in special sessions with therapists.

Union To Play Hi-Fi Records Of Mantovani

The last Union Album Hour of the summer sessions, "An Hour with Mantovani," will be presented Monday at 4 p.m. in the Union Music Room.

"Mantovani and His Cascading Strings," recording for London Records, was the first orchestra featured on high fidelity record reproduction which London Records calls ffr (full frequency record reproduction).

THE PROGRAM includes: "Poems;" "Charmaine," Mantovani's theme song; "It Happened in Monterey;" "At Dawning" and other selections.

As a special feature, an album entitled "Mantovani Christmas" from the collection of Ernie Bebb, Union activities director, will be played. The album is a unique interpretation of familiar Christmas carols. Bebb stated that the album is being presented with the thought that many people might want to add these unusual carol arrangements to their own record collections.

Blood Serum Still Needed For Research

The University's Institute for Cellular Research needs blood for research in human cancer cells recently undertaken by the Institute. The research is under the auspices of Dr. Donald M. Pace.

The cancer cells are being cultured and their rate of growth studied by the Institute. The strain, usually called the HeLa strain, is the same that is used for testing polio anti-bodies.

The Institute needs human blood serum to sustain the cells. If the environment is suitable, the cells can be cultured and maintained for an indefinite period of time.

So far, five have donated blood. Those interested in donating are asked to phone the department of physiology, Ext. 3212. Arrangements will then be made to have a medical technician at Student Health Center draw the blood.
