Lincoln Chest, Cancer Receive AUF Support

Campus YMCA, YWCA To Benefit; Local, National Charities Backed

The Cancer Foundation and Community Chest will share in the benefits derived from this year's All University Fund drive.

The Community Chest supports 27 recognized private welfare organizations with the funds contributed from the Lincoln area. The American Red Cross recently became a part of the Lincoln Community Chest.

BOY AND girl Scouts, YMCA, YWCA and Salvation Army are a few of the more well-known beneficiaries of the Community Chest.

Almost all of the money the Community Chest collects stays in Lincoln and benefits Lincoln families.

Much of the money is spent at the University as Community Chest gives the University YMCA and YWCA $8,000 apiece each year. The college unit of Red Cross is a part of the larger organization supported by the Community Chest.

MUCH OF the Chest's financial aid is given for food, shelter, clothing and medical care to needy residents of Lincoln.

Phyllis Colbert, AUF president stressed the local use of the money and said, "The Lincoln Community Chest provides a local touch to AUF's group of charities."

Cancer will be supported by AUF for the eleventh time in 11 years of AUF existence.

Miss Colbert pointed out that cancer is the number two killer in the United States and is, at the present time, incurable. "Progress in research is being made, however," she said.

FIFTEEN per cent of last year's 20 per cent of AUF's funds went to Donald Pace, University director of the Institute of Cell Growth, for a Beckman spectrophotometer to be used for research, and five per cent of the total was sent to the American Cancer Association.

"This year," Miss Colbert said, "the full amount will be given to the national association and will amount to 20 per cent of the funds we raise this year."

THE AMERICAN Cancer Society's activities include 14 tumor clinics throughout Nebraska, research in oral cancer, a $10,000 grant to the University College of Medicine and education of the people as to the symptoms and effects of the disease.

German Exchange Student Tells Experiences In U.S.

By ROGER HENKLE Staff Writer

Two years in America spent in high school, college and selling insurance during the summer has made Claus von Schumann, German exchange student, lose "the feeling of being a foreigner."

Von Schumann felt his experiences were an example of the way in which a foreign student may become well acquainted with this country.

THREE YEARS ago, von Schumann, spent a year at Lincoln High school under the auspices of the American Field Service. After a year in Germany, working in a public relations department of a large steel company, he returned to Nebraska, where he plans to finish his schooling.

Last summer, an unusual opportunity befell von Schumann when he sold insurance. During the year he travelled nearly 10,000 miles and met over a thousand families throughout the state.

He was able to talk to many people and become well-acquainted with Americans. Most of them he said are friendly and co-operative.

VON SCHUMANN originally lived in Silesia, in Eastern Germany, until the Russians took it over. His home is now in Hanover. At Nebraska, where he has completed two years' work in one year, he is taking economics, history and political science in preparation for international law.

He is required by the American Field Service to maintain an average above seven. After post-graduate work in an eastern school, he will return to Germany to go into either international law, the steel business or the foreign service.

Von Schumann is a junior and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

Arms Plan Accepted

The nine-power conference on freeing and rearming Germany Thursday approved a compromise plan for establishing and controlling a European arms pool, according to a German spokesman.

The plan would divide responsibility for safeguarding German rearmament between a new seven-nation European alliance and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The spokesman said the plan presented by Belgium Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak was approved by German Chancellor Adenauer and French Premier Mendes-France and was also acceptable to the other delegates.

Guided Missile In Production

A new long-range guided missile is being added to the Army's arsenal, along with an increase in the number of its combat-equipped divisions and the buying of more tanks.

The new guided missile, called Redstone, has gone into limited production. Presumably it, like others of its type, will be capable of carrying an atomic warhead.

Quick expansion of five training divisions into combat divisions has been announced as part of a program to add to the Army's organizational numbers without increasing its total manpower.

Atomic Nautilus Launched

The USS Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered submarine, was commissioned Thursday at Groton, Conn. The commissioning inaugurated what Adm. Jerauld Wright called America's "new navy."

Wright, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, said the submarine was the beginning of an eventual all atomic-powered fleet. Such a fleet would give the United States naval superiority needed to combat the "growing Communist menace to the freedom of the world," Adm. Wright said.

Cabinet Cold War

A "cold war" has broken out in the Cabinet between Secretary of Labor Mitchell and Secretary of Commerce Weeks over labor relations matters, Mitchell acknowledged in a news conference.

Mitchell said he "would be disturbed if Commerce Department opinions on labor relations matters gained ascendancy." He indicated a feeling that so far the Labor Department has had more success than his department on getting its labor relations views adopted by the administration.

Segregation Ruling Given

No constitutional provision or federal law prohibits "reasonable segregation" of white and Negro passengers traveling in interstate commerce, according to an Interstate Commerce Commission decision.

On the basis of this finding, examiner Isadore Freidson recommended the ICC dismiss a complaint by Miss Sarah Keyes, New York City, who claimed she was subjected to discrimination when a bus driver insisted she change her seat on a North Carolina bus.

Tassels Select Ten Coeds To Fill Existing Vacancies

Homecoming Committee Chairman Announced By Joyce Bennington

Ten new Tassels were selected Monday to fill vacancies.

The vacancies were caused by coeds who dropped because of low average or because they had pledged a sorority and upset the quota balance. There are 28 unaffiliated and 28 affiliated coeds in Tassels.
